Or, as it were, the pageants of the sea,—
Do overpeer the petty traffickers. Ib. 9
- 30 Nature hath fram'd strange fellows in her time:
Some that will evermore peep through their eyes
And laugh like parrots at a bagpiper;
And other of such vinegar aspect
That they'll not show their teeth in way of smile,
Though Nestor swear the jest be laughable. Ib. 31
- 31 I hold the world but as the world, Gratiano;
A stage where every man must play a part,
And mine a sad one. Ib. 77
- 32 Why should a man, whose blood is warm within,
Sit like his grandsire cut in alabaster? Ib. 83
- 33 There are a sort of men whose visages
Do cream and mantle like a standing pond. Ib. 88
- 34 As who should say, 'I am Sir Oracle,
And when I ope my lips let no dog bark!'
O, my Antonio, I do know of these,
That therefore only are reputed wise,
For saying nothing. Ib. 93
- 35 Tish not, with this melancholy bait,
For this fool gudgeon, this opinion. Ib. 101
- 36 Silence is only commendable
In a neat's tongue dried and a maid not vendible.
Ib. 111

SHAKESPEARE

- 1 Gratiano speaks an infinite deal of nothing, more than any man in all Venice. His reasons are as two grains of wheat, hid in two bushels of chaff: you shall seek all day ere you find them; and, when you have them, they are not worth the search.
The Merchant of Venice, I. i. 114
- 2 My purse, my person, my extremest means
Lie all unlock'd to your occasions. Ib. [139]
- 3 Sometimes from her eyes
I did receive fair speechless messages. Ib. [164]
- 4 By my troth, Nerissa, my little body is awarey of this great world. Ib. ii. 1
- 5 They are as sick that surfeit with too much, as they that starve with nothing. Ib. [5]
- 6 Superfluity comes sooner by white hairs, but competency lives longer. Ib. [9]
- 7 If to do were as easy as to know what were good to do, chapels had been churches, and poor men's cottages princes' palaces. Ib. [13]
- 8 It is a good divine that follows his own instructions; I can easier teach twenty what were good to be done, than be one of the twenty to follow mine own teaching. Ib. [15]
- 9 He doth nothing but talk of his horse. Ib. [43]
- 10 God made him, and therefore let him pass for a man. Ib. [59]
- 11 If I should marry him, I should marry twenty husbands. Ib. [66]
- 12 I think he bought his doublet in Italy, his round hose in France, his bonnet in Germany, and his behaviour everywhere. Ib. [78]
- 13 I will do anything, Nerissa, ere I will be married to a sponge. Ib. [105]
- 14 I dote on his very absence. Ib. [118]
- 15 Ships are but boards, sailors but men; there be land-rats and water-rats, land-thieves and water-thieves. Ib. iii. [22]
- 16 I will buy with you, sell with you, talk with you, walk with you, and so following; but I will not eat with you, drink with you, nor pray with you. What news on the Rialto? Ib. [36]
- 17 How like a fawning publican he looks!
I hate him for he is a Christian;
But more for that in low simplicity
He lends out money gratis, and brings down
The rate of usance here with us in Venice.
If I can catch him once upon the hip,
I will feed fat the ancient grudge I bear him.
He hates our sacred nation, and he rails,
Even there where merchants most do congregate,
On me, my bargains, and my well-won thrift. Ib. [42]
- 18 The devil can cite Scripture for his purpose. Ib. [99]
- 19 A goodly apple rotten at the heart.
O, what a goodly outside falsehood hath! Ib. [102]
- 20 Signior Antonio, many a time and oft
In the Rialto you have rated me. Ib. [107]
- 21 For sufferance is the badge of all our tribe. Ib. [111]
- 22 'Hath a dog money? Is it possible
A cur can lend three thousand ducats?' or Shall I bend low, and in a bondman's key,
With bated breath, and whispering humbleness,
Say this:—
'Fair sir, you spet on me on Wednesday last;
You spurn'd me such a day; another time
You call'd me dog; and for these courtesies
I'll lend you thus much moneys?'
The Merchant of Venice, I. iii. [122]
- 23 For when did friendship take
A breed for barren metal of his friend? Ib. [134]
- 24 O father Abram! what these Christians are,
Whose own hard dealing teaches them suspect
The thoughts of others! Ib. [161]
- 25 I like not fair terms and a villain's mind. Ib. [180]
- 26 Mislike me not for my complexion,
The shadow'd livery of the burnished sun. Ib. ii. i. 1
- 27 An honest man's son,—or rather an honest woman's son;—for, indeed, my father did something smack, something grow to, he had a kind of taste;—well, my conscience says, 'Launcelot, budge not.' 'Budge,' says the fiend. 'Budge not,' says my conscience. 'Conscience,' say I, 'you counsel well;' 'fiend,' say I, 'you counsel well.' Ib. ii. [16]
- 28 O heavens! this is my true-begotten father. Ib. [36]
- 29 An honest exceeding poor man. Ib. [54]
- 30 The very staff of my age, my very prop. Ib. [71]
- 31 It is a wise father that knows his own child. Ib. [83]
- 32 Truth will come to light; murder cannot be hid long. Ib. [86]
- 33 Lord worshipped might he be! What a beard hast thou got! Ib. [101]
- 34 There is some ill a-brewing towards my rest,
For I did dream of money-bags to-night. Ib. v. 17
- 35 Then it was not for nothing that my nose fell a-bleeding on Black Monday. Ib. [24]
- 36 And the vile squealing of the wry-neck'd fife. Ib. [30]
- 37 But love is blind, and lovers cannot see
The pretty follies that themselves commit. Ib. vi. 36
- 38 What! must I hold a candle to my shames? Ib. 41
- 39 Men that hazard all
Do it in hope of fair advantages:
A golden mind stoops not to shows of dross. Ib. vii. 18
- 40 Pause there, Morocco. Ib. 24
- 41 Young in limbs, in judgment old. Ib. 71
- 42 My daughter! O my ducats! O my daughter!
Fled with a Christian! O my Christian ducats!
Ib. viii. 15
- 43 The fool multitude, that choose by show. Ib. ix. 26
- 44 Like the martlet,
Builds in the weather on the outward wall,
Even in the force and road of casualty.
I will not choose what many men desire,
Because I will not jump with common spirits
And rank me with the barbarous multitude. Ib. 28

- 1 Let none presume
To wear an undeserved dignity
O! that estates, degrees, and offices
Were not deriv'd corruptly, and that clear honour
Were purchased by the merit of the wearer!
The Merchant of Venice, II i 39
- 2 The portrait of a blinking idiot
Ib 54
- 3 The fire seven times tried this
Seven times tried that judgment is
That did never choose amiss
Some there be that shadows kiss,
Such have but a shadow's bliss
Ib 63
- 4 Thus hath the candle sing'd the moth
O, these deliberate fools!
Ib 79
- 5 The ancient saying is no heresy
'Hanging and wiving goes by destiny'
Ib 82
- 6 The Goodwins, I think they call the place, a very dangerous flat and fatal where the carcasses of many a tall ship lie buried as they say, if my gossip Report be an honest woman of her word
Ib III i [4]
- 7 Let him look to his bond
Ib [51, 52, 54]
- 8 Hath not a Jew eyes? hath not a Jew hands, organs, dimensions, senses, affections, passions? fed with the same food, hurt with the same weapons, subject to the same diseases, healed by the same means, warmed and cooled by the same winter and summer, as a Christian is? If you prick us, do we not bleed? if you tickle us, do we not laugh?
if you poison us, do we not die? and if you wrong
us, shall we not revenge?
Ib [63]
- 9 The villany you teach me I will execute, and it shall go hard but I will better the instruction
Ib [76]
- 10 Thou stick'st a dagger in me
Ib [118]
- 11 TUBAL
One of them showed me a ring that he had of your daughter for a monkey
SHYLOCK
I would not have given it for a wilderness of monkeys
Ib [126]
- 12 He makes a swan like end
Fading in music
Ib II 44
- 13 Tell me where is fancy bred,
Or in the heart or in the head?
How begot how nourished?
Reply,
It is engender'd in the eyes,
With gazing fed, and fancy dies
In the cradle where it lies
Let us all ring fancy's knell
I'll begin it,—Ding, dong, bell
Ib 63
- 14 So may the outward shows be least themselves
The world is still deceived with ornament
In law, what plea so tainted and corrupt
But being season'd with a gracious voice,
Obscures the show of evil? In religion,
What damned error, but some sober brow
Will bless it and approve it with a text,
Hiding the grossness with fair ornament?
Ib 73
- 15 Ornament is but the guiled shore
To a most dangerous sea, the beauteous scarf
Veiling an Indian beauty, in a word
The seeming truth which cunning times put on
To entrap the wisest
The Merchant of Venice, III ii 97
- 16 Thou pale and common drudge
'Tween man and man
Ib 103
- 17 Rash embrace'd despair,
And shuddering fear, and green-eyed jealousy
Ib 109
- 18 What demi-god
Hath come so near creation?
Ib 113
- 19 An unlesson'd girl, unschool'd, unpractis'd,
Happy in this, she is not yet so old
But she may learn, happier than this,
She is not bred so dull but she can learn
Ib 160
- 20 I wish you all the joy that you can wish
Ib 191
- 21 My eyes, my lord, can look as swift as yours
You saw the mistress, I beheld the maid
Ib 195
- 22 Here are a few of the unpleasantest words
That ever blotted paper!
Ib 252
- 23 I will have my bond
Ib III 17
- 24 This comes too near the praising of myself
Ib IV 22
- 25 How every fool can play upon the word!
Ib V [45]
- 26 Wilt thou show thee the whole wealth of thy wit in an instant? I pray thee, understand a plain man in his plain meaning
Ib [62]
- 27 I'll not answer that
But say it is my humour
Ib IV 2 42
- 28 A harmless necessary cat
Ib 55
- 29 I am not bound to please thee with my answer
Ib 65
- 30 What judgment shall I dread, doing no wrong?
Ib 89
- 31 I am a tainted wether of the flock,
Meetest for death the weakest kind of fruit
Drops earliest to the ground
Ib 114
- 32 I never knew so young a body with so old a head
Ib [163]
- 33 PORTIA
Then must the Jew be merciful
SHYLOCK
On what compulsion must I? tell me that.
PORTIA
The quality of mercy is not strain'd,
It droppeth as the gentle rain from heaven
Upon the place beneath: it is twice bless'd,
It bleaseth him that gives and him that takes
'Tis mightiest in the mightiest: it becomes
The throned monarch better than his crown,
His sceptre shows the force of temporal power,
The attribute to awe and majesty,
Wherein doth sit the dread and fear of kings,
But mercy is above this sceptred sway,
It is enthroned in the hearts of kings,
It is an attribute to God himself,
And earthly power doth then show likest God's
When mercy seasons justice: Therefore, Jew,
Though justice be thy plea, consider this,
That in the course of justice none of us
Should see salvation: we do pray for mercy,
And that same prayer doth teach us all to render
The deeds of mercy.
Ib [182]

SHAKESPEARE

- 1 My deeds upon my head! I crave the law.
The Merchant of Venice, iv. i. [206]
- 2 Wrest once the law to your authority:
To do a great right, do a little wrong. Ib. [215]
- 3 'Twill be recorded for a precedent,
And many an error by the same example
Will rush into the state. Ib. [220]
- 4 A Daniel come to judgment! yea, a Daniel!
O wise young judge, how I do honour thee!
Ib. [223]
- 5 An oath, an oath, I have an oath in heaven:
Shall I lay perjury upon my soul?
No, not for Venice. Ib. [228]
- 6 I charge you by the law,
Whereof you are a well-deserving pillar,
Proceed to judgment. Ib. [238]
- 7 Is it so nominated in the bond?
Ib. [260]
- 8 'Tis not in the bond. Ib. [263]
- 9 For herein Fortune shows herself more kind
Than is her custom: it is still her use
To let the wretched man outlive his wealth,
To view with hollow eye and wrinkled brow
An age of poverty. Ib. [268]
- 10 The court awards it, and the law doth give it.
Ib. [301]
- 11 Thyself shalt see the act;
For, as thou urgest justice, be assur'd
Thou shalt have justice, more than thou desir'st.
Ib. [315]
- 12 A second Daniel, a Daniel, Jew!
Now, infidel, I have thee on the hip. Ib. [334]
- 13 I thank thee, Jew, for teaching me that word.
Ib. [342]
- 14 You take my house when you do take the prop
That doth sustain my house; you take my life
When you do take the means whereby I live. Ib. [376]
- 15 He is well paid that is well satisfied. Ib. [416]
- 16 You taught me first to beg, and now methinks
You teach me how a beggar should be answer'd.
Ib. [440]
- 17 LORENZO:
In such a night
Troilus methinks mounted the Trojan walls,
And sigh'd his soul toward the Grecian tents,
Where Cressid lay that night.
JESSICA:
In such a night
Did Thisbe fearfully o'ertrip the dew,
And saw the lion's shadow ere himself,
And ran dismay'd away.
LORENZO:
In such a night
Stood Dido with a willow in her hand
Upon the wild sea-banks, and waft her love
To come again to Carthage.
JESSICA:
In such a night
Medea gather'd the enchanted herbs
That did renew old Æson. Ib. v. i. 3
- 18 How sweet the moonlight sleeps upon this bank!
Here will we sit, and let the sounds of music
Creep in our ears: soft stillness and the night
Become the touches of sweet harmony.
Sit, Jessica: look, how the floor of heaven
- Is thick inlaid with patines of bright gold:
There's not the smallest orb which thou behold'st
But in his motion like an angel sings,
Still quiring to the young-eyed cherubins;
Such harmony is in immortal souls;
But, whilst this muddy vesture of decay
Doth grossly close it in, we cannot hear it.
The Merchant of Venice, v. i. 54
- 19 I am never merry when I hear sweet music. Ib. 69
- 20 Therefore the poet
Did feign that Orpheus drew trees, stones, and floods;
Since nought so stockish, hard, and full of rage,
But music for the time doth change his nature.
The man that hath no music in himself,
Nor is not mov'd with concord of sweet sounds,
Is fit for treasons, stratagems, and spoils;
The motions of his spirit are dull as night,
And his affections dark as Erebus:
Let no such man be trusted. Ib. 79
- 21 PORTIA:
How far that little candle throws his beams!
So shines a good deed in a naughty world.
NERISSA:
When the moon shone, we did not see the candle.
PORTIA:
So doth the greater glory dim the less:
A substitute shines brightly as a king
Until a king be by, and then his state
Empties itself, as doth an inland brook
Into the main of waters. Ib. 90
- 22 The crow doth sing as sweetly as the lark
When neither is attended, and I think
The nightingale, if she should sing by day,
When every goose is cackling, would be thought
No better a musician than the wren.
How many things by season season'd are
To their right praise and true perfection!
Peace, ho! the moon sleeps with Endymion,
And would not be awak'd! Ib. 102
- 23 This night methinks is but the daylight sick. Ib. 124
- 24 For a light wife doth make a heavy husband. Ib. 130
- 25 These blessed candles of the night. Ib. 220

- 29 Drink down all unkindness. Ib. [203]
- 30 I had rather than forty shillings I had my Book of Songs and Sonnets here. Ib. [205]
- 31 I will make an end of my dinner; there's pippins and seese to come. Ib. ii. [12]
- 32 'Convey,' the wise it call. 'Steal!' foh! a fico for the phrase! Ib. iii. [30]
- 33 Here will be an old abusing of God's patience, and the king's English. Ib. iv. [5]
- 34 We burn daylight. Ib. ii. i. [54]
- 35 There's the humour of it. Ib. [139]
- 36 Faith, thou hast some crotchets in thy head now.
Ib. [158]
- 37 Why, then the world's mine oyster,
Which I with sword will open. Ib. ii. 2

- 1 Marry, this is the short and the long of it
The Merry Wives of Windsor, II ii [62]
- 2 Like a fair house built upon another man's ground
Ib [229]
- 3 Ah, sweet Anne Page!
Ib III i [40]
- 4 I cannot tell what the dickens his name is
Ib II [20]
- 5 He capers, he dances, he has eyes of youth, he writes verses, he speaks holiday, he smells April and May
Ib [71]
- 6 O, what a world of vile ill-favour'd faults
Looks handsome in three hundred pounds a year!
Ib II. [32]
- 7 If it be my luck, so, if not, happy man be his dole!
Ib [67]
- 8 If I be served such another trick, I'll have my brains ta'en out, and buttered, and give them to a dog for a new year's gift
Ib V. [7]

Ib II [24]
- 14 This is the third time, I hope good luck lies in odd numbers. There is divinity in odd numbers, either in nativity, chance or death
Ib V i 2
- 15 Fairies, black, grey, green, and white,
You moonshine revellers, and shades of night
Ib V [43]
- 16 To live a barren sister all your life,
Chanting faint hymns to the cold fruitless moon
A Midsummer Night's Dream, I i 72
- 17 But earthlier happy is the rose distill'd,
Than that which withering on the virgin thorn
Grows, lives, and dies, in single virginity
Ib 76
- 18 Ay me! for aught that ever I could read,
Could ever hear by tale or history,
The course of true love never did run smooth
Ib [132]
- 19 O hell! to choose love by another's eye
Ib [140]
- 20 If there were a sympathy in choice,
War, death, or sickness did lay siege to it,
Making it momentary as a sound,
Swift as a shadow, short as any dream,
Brief as the lightning in the collied night,
That, in a spleen, unfolds both heaven and earth,
And ere a man hath power to say, 'Behold!'
The jaws of darkness do devour it up
So quick bright things come to confusion
Ib [141]
- 21 Your tongue's sweet air
More tuneable than lark to shepherd's ear,
When wheat is green, when hawthorn buds appear
Ib [183]
- 22 Love looks not with the eyes but with the mind,
And therefore is wing'd Cupid painted blind
Ib [234]
- 23 The most lamentable comedy, and most cruel death of Pyramus and Thisby
Ib II [11]
- 24 Masters, spread yourselves
Ib [16]
- 25 A part to tear a cat in, to make all split
A Midsummer Night's Dream, I. II. [32]

Ib [43]
- 27 I'll speak in a monstrous little voice.
Ib [55]
- 28 I am slow of study
Ib [70]
- 29 I will roar, that I will do any man's heart good to hear me.
Ib [73]
- 30 I will aggravate my voice so that I will roar you as gently as any sucking dove; I will roar you as 'twere any nightingale
Ib [84]
- 31 A proper man, as one shall see in a summer's day
Ib [89]
- 32 Hold, or cut bow-strings
Ib [115]
- 33 Over hill, over dale,
Thorough bush, thorough brier,
Over park, over pale,
Thorough flood, thorough fire
Ib II. i 2
- 34 The cowslips tall her pensioners be;
In their gold coats spots you see,
'Those be rubies, fairy favours,
In those freckles live their savours
Ib 10
- 35 I must go seek some dew-drops here,
And hang a pearl in every cowslip's ear.
Ib 14
- 36 The middle summer's spring
Ib 82
- 37 Therefore the moon, the governess of floods,
Pale in her anger, washes all the air,
'That rheumatic diseases do abound
And thorough this distemperature we see
The seasons alter hoary headed frosts
I all in the fresh lap of the crimson rose.
Ib 123
- 38 Since once I sat upon a promontory,
And heard a mermaid on a dolphin's back
Uttering such dulcet and harmonious breath,
That the rude sea grew civil at her song,
And certain stars shot madly from their spheres,
To hear the sea-maid's music
Ib 149
- 39 But I might see young Cupid's fiery shaft
Quench'd in the chaste beams of the wat'ry moon,
And the imperial votaress passed on,
In maiden meditation, fancy-free
Yet mark'd I where the bolt of Cupid fell
It fell upon a little western flower,
Before milk-white, now purple with love's wound,
And maidens call it, Love-in-idleness
Ib 161
- 40 I'll put a girdle round about the earth
In forty minutes
Ib 175
- 41 I know a bank whereon the wild thyme blows,
Where oxlips and the nodding violet grows
Quite over-canopied with luscious woodbine,
With sweet musk roses, and with eglantine
There sleeps Titania some time of the night,
Lull'd in these flowers with dances and delight,
And there the snake throws her enamell'd skin,
Weed wide enough to wrap a fairy in
Ib 249
- 42 Some to kill cankers in the musk-rose buds,
Some war with ere mice for their leathern wings,
To make my small elves coats
Ib II 3
- 43 The clamorous owl, that nightly hoots, and wonders
At our quaint spirits
Ib 6
- 44 You spotted snakes with double tongue,
Thorny hedge hogs, be not seen,
Newts, and blind-worms, do not wrong,
Come not near our fairy queen
Ib 9

- 1 Weaving spiders come not here;
Hence, you long-legg'd spinners, hence!
Beetles black, approach not near;
Worm nor snail, do no offence.
A Midsummer Night's Dream, II. ii. 20
- 2 This green plot shall be our stage, this hawthornbrake our tiring-house. Ib. III. i. [3]
- 3 God shield us!—a lion among ladies, is a most dreadful thing; for there is not a more fearful wild-fowl than your lion living. Ib. [32]
- 4 What hempen home-spuns have we swaggering here,
So near the cradle of the fairy queen? Ib. [82]
- 5 Bless thee, Bottom! bless thee! thou art translated.
Ib. [124]
- 6 The throstle with his note so true,
The wren with little quill. Ib. [133]
- 7 As wild geese that the creeping fowler eye,
Or russet-pated choughs, many in sort,
Rising and cawing at the gun's report,
Sever themselves, and madly sweep the sky.
Ib. II. 20
- 8 Lord, what fools these mortals be! Ib. 115
- 9 So we grew together,
Like to a double cherry, seeming parted,
But yet an union in partition,
Two lovely berries moulded on one stem. Ib. 208
- 10 For night's swift dragons cut the clouds full fast,
And yonder shines Aurora's harbinger;
At whose approach, ghosts, wandering here and there,
Troop home to churchyards. Ib. 379
- 11 Cupid is a knavish lad,
Thus to make poor females mad. Ib. 440
- 12 Jack shall have Jill;
Nought shall go ill;
The man shall have his mare again,
And all shall be well. Ib. 461
- 13 I must to the barber's, mounsieur, for methinks I am marvellous hairy about the face. Ib. IV. i. [25]
- 14 I have a reasonable good ear in music: let us have the tongs and the bones. Ib. [32]
- 15 Methinks I have a great desire to a bottle of hay:
good hay, sweet hay, hath no fellow. Ib. [37]
- 16 But, I pray you, let none of your people stir me: I have an exposition of sleep come upon me. Ib. [43]
- 17 But as the fierce vexation of a dream. Ib. [75]
- 18 My Oberon! what visions have I seen!
Methought I was enamour'd of an ass. Ib. [82]
- 19 Then, my queen, in silence sad,
Trip we after the night's shade;
We the globe can compass soon,
Swifter than the wandering moon. Ib. [101]
- 20 HIPPOLYTA:
I was with Hercules and Cadmus once,
When in a wood of Crete they bay'd the bear
With hounds of Sparta: never did I hear . . .
So musical a discord, such sweet thunder.
THESEUS:
My hounds are bred out of the Spartan kind,
So flew'd, so sanded; and their heads are hung
With ears that sweep away the morning dew;
Crook-knee'd, and dew-lapp'd like Thessalian bulls;
Slow in pursuit, but match'd in mouth like bells.
Ib. [118]
- 21 Saint Valentine is past:
Begin these wood-birds but to couple now?
A Midsummer Night's Dream, IV. i. [145]
- 22 I have had a dream, past the wit of man to say what dream it was. Ib. [211]
- 23 The eye of man hath not heard, the ear of man hath not seen, man's hand is not able to taste, his tongue to conceive, nor his heart to report, what my dream was. Ib. [218]
- 24 The lunatic, the lover, and the poet,
Are of imagination all compact:
One sees more devils than vast hell can hold,
That is, the madman; the lover, all as frantic,
Sees Helen's beauty in a brow of Egypt:
The poet's eye, in a fine frenzy rolling,
Doth glance from heaven to earth, from earth to heaven;
And, as imagination bodies forth
The forms of things unknown, the poet's pen
Turns them to shapes, and gives to airy nothing
A local habitation and a name.
Such tricks hath strong imagination,
That, if it would but apprehend some joy,
It comprehends some bringer of that joy;
Or in the night, imagining some fear,
How easy is a bush suppos'd a bear! Ib. V. i. 7
- 25 What revels are in hand? Is there no play,
To ease the anguish of a torturing hour? Ib. 36
- 26 Very tragical mirth. Ib. [57]
- 27 For never anything can be amiss,
When simpleness and duty tender it. Ib. [82]
- 28 That is the true beginning of our end.
Consider then we come but in despite.
We do not come as minding to content you,
Our true intent is. All for your delight,
We are not here. Ib. [111]
- 29 Whereat, with blade, with bloody blameful blade,
He bravely broach'd his boiling bloody breast. Ib. [148]
- 30 The best in this kind are but shadows, and the worst are no worse, if imagination amend them. Ib. [215]
- 31 A very gentle beast, and of a good conscience. Ib. [233]
- 32 Well roared, Lion. Ib. [272]
- 33 This passion, and the death of a dear friend, would go near to make a man look sad. Ib. [295]
- 34 The iron tongue of midnight hath told twelve;
Lovers, to bed; 'tis almost fairy time. Ib. [372]
- 35 Now the hungry lion roars,
And the wolf howls the moon;
Whilst the heavy ploughman snores,
All with weary task fordone. Ib. II. 1
- 36 Not a mouse
Shall disturb this hallow'd house:
I am sent with broom before,
To sweep the dust behind the door. Ib. 17
- 37 A victory is twice itself when the achiever brings home full numbers.
Much Ado About Nothing, I. i. [8]
- 38 He hath indeed better bettered expectation than you must expect of me to tell you how. Ib. [15]
- 39 He is a very valiant trencher-man. Ib. [52]

- 1 I see, lady, the gentleman is not in your books
Much Ado About Nothing, I : 1 [79]
- 2 BEATRICE
I wonder that you will still be talking, Signior
Benedick nobody marks you
BENEDICK
What! my dear Lady Disdain, are you yet living?
Ib [121]
- 3 Shall I never see a bachelor of three-score again?
Ib [209]
- 4 BENEDICK.
I will live a bachelor.
DON PEDRO
I shall see thee, ere I die, look pale with love.
BENEDICK
With anger, with sickness, or with hunger, my lord, not with love Ib [256]
- 5 In time the savage bull doth bear the yoke Ib [271]
- 6 Benedick the married man Ib [278]
- 7 What need the bridge much broader than the flood?
Ib [326]
- 8 Would it not grieve a woman to be over-mastered with a piece of valiant dust? to make an account of her life to a clod of wayward mud? Ib II : 1 [64]
- 9 Wooing, wedding, and repenting, is as a Scotch jig, a measure, and a cinque-pace Ib [77]
- 10 I have a good eye, uncle I can see a church by daylight Ib [86]
- 11 Speak low, if you speak love Ib [104]
- 12 Friendship is constant in all other things
Save in the office and affairs of love Ib [184]
- 13 She speaks poniards, and every word stabs if her breath were as terrible as her terminations, there were no living near her, she would infect to the north star Ib [257]
- 14 Silence is the perfectest herald of joy I were but little happy, if I could say how much Ib [319]
- 15 Speak, cousin, or, if you cannot, stop his mouth with a kiss Ib [322]
- 16 There was a star danced, and under that was I born
Ib [351]
- 17 Lie ten nights awake, carving the fashion of a new
doublet Ib III : 1 [18]
- 18 Note this before my notes,
There's not a note of mine that's worth the noting
Ib [57]
- 19 Is it not strange that sheep's guts should hale souls out of men's bodies? Ib [62]
- 20 Sigh no more, ladies, sigh no more,
Men were deceivers ever,
One foot in sea, and one on shore,
To one thing constant never
Then sigh no more,
But let them go,
And be you blithe and bonny,
Converting all your sounds of woe
Into Hey nonny, nonny
Sing no more ditties, sing no mo
Of dumps so dull and heavy,
The fraud of men was ever so,
Since summer first was leavy. Ib [65]
- 21 Sits the wind in that corner? Much Ado, II III [108]
- 22 Doth not the appetite sler? A man loves the meat in his youth that he cannot endure in his age
Ib [258]
- 23 Paper bullets of the brain Ib [261]
- 24 The world must be peopled When I said I would die a bachelor, I did not think I should live till I were married Ib [262]
- 25 Disdain and scorn ride sparkling in her eyes
Ib III : 1 [51]
- 26 One doth not know
How much an ill word may empoison liking Ib 85
- 27 Contempt, farewell and maiden pride, adieu!
No glory lives behind the back of such
And, Benedick, love on, I will requite thee,
Taming my wild heart to thy loving hand Ib 109
- 28 He hath a heart as sound as a bell, and his tongue is the clapper, for what his heart thinks his tongue speaks Ib II [12]
- 29 BENEDICK
I have the toothache
- DON PEDRO
What! sigh for the toothache? Ib [21]
- 30 Well, every one can master a grief but he that has it
Ib [25]
- 31 A' brushes his hat a mornings, what should that bode? Ib [41]
- 32 The barber's man hath been seen with him, and the old ornament of his cheek hath already stuffed tennis-balls Ib [45]
- 33 Are you good men and true? Ib III : 1
- 34 To be a well-favoured man is the gift of fortune, but to write and read comes by nature. Ib [14]
- 35 Well, for your favour, sir, why, give God thanks and make no boast of it, and for your writing and reading, let that appear when there is no need of such vanity You are thought here to be the most senseless and fit man for the constable of the watch
Ib [19]
- 36 You shall comprehend all vagrom men Ib [25]
- 37 SECOND WATCH
How, if a' will not stand?
DOGBERRY
Why, then, take no note of him, but let him go, and presently call the rest of the watch together, and thank God you are rid of a knave Ib [28]
- 38 For the watch to babble and to talk is most tolerable and not to be endured. Ib [36]
- 39 If they make you not then the better answer, you may say they are not the men you took them for
Ib [49]
- 40 The most peaceable way for you, if you do take a thief, is, to let him show himself what he is and steal out of your company Ib [61]
- 41 I know that Deformed Ib [132]
- 42 I thank God, I am as honest as any man living, that is an old man and no honestier than I Ib V [15]
- 43 Comparisons are odorous Ib [18]

- 1 If I were as tedious as a king, I could find in my heart to bestow it all of your worship.
Much Ado About Nothing, III. v. [23]
- 2 A good old man, sir; he will be talking: as they say,
'when the age is in, the wit is out.' Ib. [36]
- 3 Well, God's a good man. Ib. [39]
- 4 O! what men dare do! what men may do! what men daily do, not knowing what they do! Ib. IV. i. [19]
- 5 For it so falls out
That what we have we prize not to the worth
Whiles we enjoy it, but being lack'd and lost,
Why, then we rack the value, then we find
The virtue that possession would not show us
Whiles it was ours. Ib. [219]
- 6 The idea of her life shall sweetly creep
Into his study of imagination,
And every lovely organ of her life
Shall come apparell'd in more precious habit,
More moving-delicate, and full of life
Into the eye and prospect of his soul. Ib. [226]
- 7 Write down that they hope they serve God: and write God first; for God defend but God should go before such villains! Masters, it is proved already that you are little better than false knaves, and it will go near to be thought so shortly. Ib. II. [21]
- 8 Yea, marry, that's the efiest way. Ib. [39]
- 9 Flat burglary as ever was committed. Ib. [54]
- 10 O that he were here to write me down an ass! but, masters, remember that I am an ass; though it be not written down, yet forget not that I am an ass.
Ib. [80]
- 11 A fellow that hath had losses; and one that hath two gowns, and everything handsome about him. Ib. [90]
- 12 Patch grief with proverbs. Ib. V. i. 17
- 13 For there was never yet philosopher
That could endure the toothache patiently. Ib. 35
- 14 In a false quarrel there is no true valour. Ib. [121]
- 15 What though care killed a cat, thou hast mettle enough in thee to kill care. Ib. [135]
- 16 No, I was not born under a riming planet.
Ib. II. [40]
- 17 The trumpet of his own virtues. Ib. [91]
- 18 Done to death by slanderous tongues. Ib. III. 3
- 19 The wolves have prey'd; and look, the gentle day,
Before the wheels of Phæbus, round about
Dapples the drowsy east with spots of grey. Ib. 25
- 20 Horribly stuff'd with epithets of war.
Othello, I. i. 14
- 21 A fellow almost damn'd in a fair wife. Ib. 21
- 22 The bookish theoric. Ib. 24
- 23 This counter-caster. Ib. 31
- 24 'Tis the curse of the service,
Preferment goes by letter and affection,
Not by the old gradation, where each second
Stood heir to the first. Ib. 35
- 25 I follow him to serve my turn upon him;
We cannot all be masters, nor all masters
Cannot be truly follow'd. Ib. 42
- 26 Wears out his time, much like his master's ass,
For nought but provender, and when he's old,
cashier'd;
Whip me such honest knaves. Othello, I. i. 47
- 27 In following him, I follow but myself. Ib. 58
- 28 But I will wear my heart upon my sleeve
For daws to peck at: I am not what I am. Ib. 64
- 29 An old black ram
Is tuppung your white ewe. Ib. 88
- 30 'Zounds! sir, you are one of those that will not serve
God if the devil bid you. Ib. 108
- 31 Your daughter and the Moor are now making the beast with two backs. Ib. [117]
- 32 The gross clasps of a lascivious Moor. Ib. [127]
- 33 An extravagant and wheeling stranger
Of here and every where. Ib. [137]
- 34 I do hate him as I do hell-pains. Ib. [155]
- 35 I must show out a flag and sign of love,
Which is indeed but sign. Ib. [157]
- 36 Though in the trade of war I have slain men,
Yet do I hold it very stuff o' the conscience
To do no contriv'd murder: I lack iniquity
Sometimes to do me service. Ib. II. 1
- 37 I fetch my life and being
From men of royal siege. Ib. 21
- 38 I would not my unhoused free condition
Put into circumscription and confine
For the sea's worth. Ib. 26
- 39 My parts, my title, and my perfect soul
Shall manifest me rightly. Ib. 31
- 40 Keep up your bright swords, for the dew will rust them. Ib. 59
- 41 The wealthy curled darlings of our nation. Ib. 68
- 42 The sooty bosom
Of such a thing as thou. Ib. 70
- 43 My particular grief
Is of so flood-gate and o'erbearing nature
That it engulfs and swallows other sorrows
And it is still itself. Ib. III. 55
- 44 The bloody book of law
You shall yourself read in the bitter letter
After your own sense. Ib. 67
- 45 Most potent, grave, and reverend signiors,
My very noble and approv'd good masters,
That I have ta'en away this old man's daughter,
It is most true; true, I have married her:
The very head and front of my offending
Hath this extent, no more. Rude am I in my speech,
And little bless'd with the soft phrase of peace;
For since these arms of mine had seven years' pith,
Till now some nine moons wasted, they have us'd
Their dearest action in the tented field;
And little of this great world can I speak,
More than pertains to feats of broil and battle;
And therefore little shall I grace my cause
In speaking for myself. Yet, by your gracious patience,
I will a round unvarnish'd tale deliver
Of my whole course of love; what drugs, what charms,
What conjuration, and what mighty magic,
For such proceeding I am charg'd withal,
I won his daughter. Ib. 76

- 1 A maiden never bold;
Of spirit so still and quiet, that her motion
Blush'd at herself Othello, 1. iii 94
- 2 Her father lov'd me, oft invited me,
Still question'd me the story of my life
From year to year, the battles, sieges, fortunes
That I have pass'd
I ran it through, even from my boyish days
To the very moment that he bade me tell it,
Wherein I spake of most disastrous chances,
Of moving accidents by flood and field
Of hair-breadth 'scapes i' the imminent deadly breach,
Of being taken by the insolent foe
And sold to slavery, of my redemption thence
And portance in my travels history,
Wherein of antres vast and deserts idle,
Rough quarries, rocks and hills whose heads touch
heaven,
It was my hint to speak, such was the process,
And of the Cannibals that each other eat,
The Anthropophagi, and men whose heads
Do grow beneath their shoulders This to hear
Would Desdemona seriously incline Ib. 128
- 3 And often did beguile her of her tears,
When I did speak of some distressful stroke
That my youth suffer'd My story being done,
She gave me for my pains a world of sighs
She swore, in faith, 'twas strange, 'twas passing strange,
'Twas pitiful, 'twas wondrous pitiful
She wish'd she had not heard it, yet she wish'd
That heaven had made her such a man, she thank'd me,
And bade me, if I had a friend that lov'd her,
I should but teach him how to tell my story,
And that would woo her Upon this hint I spake
She lov'd me for the dangers I had pass'd,
And I lov'd her that she did pity them
This only is the witchcraft I have us'd Ib. 156
- 4 I do perceive here a divided duty. Ib. 181
- 5 To mourn a mischief that is past and gone
Is the next way to draw new mischief on Ib. 204
- 6 The robb'd that smiles steals something from the thief Ib. 208
- 7 But words are words, I never yet did hear
That the bruise'd heart was pierced through the ear Ib. 218
- 8 The tyrant custom, most grave senators,
Hath made the flinty and steel couch of war
My thrice driven bed of down Ib. [230]
- 9 My heart's subdu'd
Even to the very quality of my lord Ib. [252]
- 10 I saw Othello's visage in his mind Ib. [254]
- 11 A moth of peace Ib. [258]
- 12 DRABANTIO
She has deceiv'd her father, and may thee
OTHELLO
My life upon her faith! Ib. [295]
- 13 I will incontinently drown myself Ib. [307]
- 14 It is silliness to live when to live is torment, and then have we a prescription to die when death is our physician Ib. [310]
- 15 Virtue! a fig! 'tis in ourselves that we are thus, or thus.
Our bodies are our gardens, to the which our wills are gardeners Othello, 1. iii [323]
- 16 Put money in thy purse Ib. [345]
- 17 The food that to him now is as luscious as locusts, shall be to him shortly as bitter as colquhuda. Ib. [354]
- 18 There are many events in the womb of time which will be delivered Ib. [377]
- 19 Thus do I ever make my fool my purse. Ib. [389]
- 20 He holds me well;
The better shall my purpose work on him Ib. [396]
- 21 Framed to make women false Ib. [404]
- 22 The Moor is of a free and open nature,
That thinks men honest that but seem to be so Ib. [405]
- 23 I have 't, it is engender'd, hell and night
Must bring this monstrous birth to the world's light. Ib. [409]
- 24 Our great captain's captain Ib. 11 : 74
- 25 You are pictures out of doors,
Bells in your parlours, wild cats in your kitchens,
Saints in your injuries, devils being offended,
Flowers in your housewifery, and housewives in your beds Ib. 109
- 26 Do not put me in 't,
For I am nothing if not critical Ib. 118
- 27 I am not merry, but I do beguile
The thing I am by seeming otherwise Ib. 122
- 28 IAGO
She never yet was foolish that was fair,
I or even her folly help'd her to an heir.
DESDEMONA
These are old fond paradoxes to make fools laugh 't
the alehouse Ib. 136
- 29 IAGO
She that was ever fair and never proud,
Had tongue at will and yet was never loud,
Never lack'd gold and yet went never gay,
Fled from her wish and yet said 'Now I may,'
She that being anger'd, her revenge being nigh,
Bade her wrong stay and her displeasure fly,
She that in wisdom never was so frail
To change the cod's head for the salmon's tail,
She that could think and ne'er disclose her mind,
See suitors following and not look behind,
She was a wight, if ever such wight were,—
DESDEMONA
To do what?
IAGO
To suckle fools and chronicle small beer.
DESDEMONA
O most lame and impotent conclusion! Ib. 148
- 30 With as little a web as this will I ensnare as great a fly
as Cassio Ib. [169]
- 31 OTHELLO
If it were now to die,
'Twere now to be most happy, for I fear
My soul hath her content so absolute
That not another comfort like to this Succeeds in unknown fate

DESDEMONA:

- The heavens forbid
But that our loves and comforts should increase
Even as our days do grow! Othello, II. i. [192]
- 1 A slipper and subtle knave, a finder-out of occasions.
Ib. [247]
- 2 A pestilent complete knave! and the woman hath found him already. Ib. [253]
- 3 This poor trash of Venice. Ib. [315]
- 4 Make the Moor thank me, love me, and reward me
For making him egregiously an ass. Ib. [320]
- 5 Let's teach ourselves that honourable stop,
Not to outsport discretion. Ib. iii. 2
- 6 She is sport for Jove. Ib. [17]
- 7 I have very poor and unhappy brains for drinking:
I could well wish courtesy would invent some other custom of entertainment. Ib. [34]
- 8 My boat sails freely, both with wind and stream.
Ib. [66]
- 9 And let me the canakin clink:
A soldier's a man;
A life's but a span;
Why then let a soldier drink. Ib. [73]
- 10 England, where indeed they are most potent in potting. Ib. [79]
- 11 King Stephen was a worthy peer,
His breeches cost him but a crown;
He held them sixpence all too dear,
With that he call'd the tailor lown. Ib. [93]
- 12 'Tis pride that pulls the country down. Ib. [99]
- 13 Well, God's above all; and there be souls must be saved, and there be souls must not be saved.
Ib. [106]
- 14 The lieutenant is to be saved before the ancient.
Ib. [115]
- 15 He is a soldier fit to stand by Cæsar
And give direction. Ib. [128]
- 16 Silence that dreadful bell! it frights the isle
From her propriety. Ib. [177]
- 17 But men are men; the best sometimes forget. Ib. [243]
- 18 Thy honesty and love doth mince this matter.
Ib. [249]
- 19 Cassio, I love thee;
But never more be officer of mine. Ib. [250]
- 20 Reputation, reputation, reputation! O! I have lost my reputation. I have lost the immortal part of myself, and what remains is bestial. My reputation, Iago, my reputation! Ib. [264]
- 21 O thou invisible spirit of wine! if thou hast no name to be known by, let us call thee devil! Ib. [285]
- 22 O God! that men should put an enemy in their mouths to steal away their brains; that we should,
with joy, pleasance, revel, and applause, transform ourselves into beasts. Ib. [293]
- 23 CASSIO:
Every inordinate cup is unblessed, and the ingredient is a devil.
- IAGO:
Come, come; good wine is a good familiar creature if it be well used; exclaim no more against it.
Ib. [312]

- 24 How poor are they that have not patience!
What wound did ever heal but by degrees?
Othello, II. iii. [379]
- 25 O! thereby hangs a tail. Ib. III. i. [8]
- 26 Talk him out of patience. Ib. iii. 23
- 27 Excellent wretch! Perdition catch my soul
But I do love thee! and when I love thee not,
Chaos is come again. Ib. 90
- 28 By heaven, he echoes me,
As if there were some monster in his thought
Too hideous to be shown. Ib. 106
- 29 Men should be what they seem;
Or those that be not, would they might seem none!
Ib. 126
- 30 Good name in man and woman, dear my lord,
Is the immediate jewel of their souls;
Who steals my purse steals trash; 'tis something,
nothing;
'Twas mine, 'tis his, and has been slave to thousands;
But he that filches from me my good name
Robs me of that which not enriches him,
And makes me poor indeed. Ib. 155
- 31 O! beware, my lord, of jealousy;
It is the green-ey'd monster which doth mock
The meat it feeds on. Ib. 165
- 32 But, O! what damned minutes tells he o'er
Who dotes, yet doubts; suspects, yet soundly loves!
Ib. 169
- 33 Poor and content is rich, and rich enough. Ib. 172
- 34 Think'st thou I'd make a life of jealousy,
To follow still the changes of the moon
With fresh suspicions? No; to be once in doubt
Is once to be resolved. Ib. 177
- 35 In Venice they do let heaven see the pranks
They dare not show their husbands; their best conscience
Is not to leave 't undone, but keep 't unknown.
Ib. 202
- 36 I humbly do beseech you of your pardon
For too much loving you. Ib. 212
- 37 This fellow's of exceeding honesty. Ib. 258
- 38 If I do prove her haggard,
Though that her jesses were my dear heart-strings,
I'd whistle her off and let her down the wind,
To prey at fortune. Ib. 260
- 39 For I am declin'd
Into the vale of years. Ib. 265
- 40 O curse of marriage!
That we can call these delicate creatures ours,
And not their appetites. I had rather be a toad,
And live upon the vapour of a dungeon,
Than keep a corner in the thing I love
For others' uses. Ib. 268
- 41 If she be false, O! then heaven mocks itself.
I'll not believe it. Ib. 278
- 42 Trifles light as air
Are to the jealous confirmations strong
As proofs of holy writ. Ib. 323
- 43 Not poppy, nor mandragora,
Nor all the drowsy syrups of the world,
Shall ever medicine thee to that sweet sleep
Which thou ow'dst yesterday. Ib. 331

- 1 A vault be gone! thou hast set me on the rack,
I swear 'tis better to be much abus'd
Than but to know 't a little Othello, III iii 336
- 2 He that is robb'd, not wanting what is stol'n,
Let him not know 't and he's not robb'd at all Ib 343
- 3 I had been happy, if the general camp,
Pioneers and all, had tasted her sweet body,
So I had nothing known. O now, for ever
Farewell the tranquil mind, farewell content!
Farewell the plumed troop and the big wars
That make ambition virtue! O, farewell!
I farewell the neighing steed and the shrill trump,
The spirit-stirring drum, the ear-piercing fife,
The royal banner, and all quality,
Pride, pomp, and circumstance of glorious war!
And, O you mortal engines, whose rude throats
The immortal Jove's dread clamours counterfeit, Farewell! Othello's occupation's gone! Ib 346
- 4 Be sure of it, give me the ocular proof Ib 361
- 5 Never pray more: abandon all remorse,
On horrors' head horrors accumulate Ib 370
- 6 O wretched fool!
That liv'st to make thine honesty a vice
O monstrous world! Take note, take note, O world!
To be direct and honest is not safe Ib 376
- 7 By the world,
I think my wife be honest and think she is not,
I think that thou art just and think thou art not Ib 384
- 8 There are a kind of men so loose of soul
That in their sleeps will mutter their affairs Ib 417
- 9 But this denoted a foregone conclusion Ib 429
- 10 Swell bosom, with thy fraught,
For 'tis of aspics' tongues! Ib 450
- 11 O! blood, blood, blood! Ib 452
- 12 Like to the Pontick sea
Whose icy current and compulsive course
Ne'er feels retiring ebb, but keeps due on
To the Propontic and the Hellespont,
Even so my bloody thoughts, with violent pace,
Shall ne'er look back, ne'er ebb to humble love,
Till that a capable and wide revenge
Swallow them up Ib 454
- 13 For here's a young and sweating devil here,
That commonly rebels Ib iv 43
- 14 The hearts of old gave hands,
But our new heraldry is hands not hearts Ib 47
- 15 That handkerchief
Did an Egyptian to my mother give Ib 56
- 16 'Tis true, there's magic in the web of it,
A sibyl, that had number'd in the world
The sun to course two hundred compasses,
In her prophetic fury sew'd the work,
The worms were hallow'd that did breed the silk,
And it was dy'd in mummy which the skillful Conserv'd of maidens' hearts Ib 70
- 17 But jealous souls will not be answer'd so,
They are not ever jealous for the cause,
But jealous for they are jealous Ib 158
- 18 What! keep a week away? seven days and nights?
Light score eight hours? and lovers' absent hours,
More tedious than the dial eight score times?
O, weary reckoning! Othello, III iv 172
- 19 I do attend here on the general,
And think it no addition nor my wish
To have him see me woman'd Ib 191
- 20 O! it comes o'er my memory,
As doth the raven o'er the infected house,
Boding to all Ib iv 1 20
- 21 Many worthy and chaste dames even thus,
All guiltless, meet reproach Ib 47
- 22 To beguile many and be beguiled by one Ib 93
- 23 They laugh that win Ib [123]
- 24 I would have him nine years a killing Ib [186]
- 25 My heart is turned to stone, I strike it, and it hurts
my hand Ib [190]
- 26 O! the world hath not a sweeter creature, she might lie by an emperor's side and command him tasks Ib [192]
- 27 O, she will sing the savageness out of a bear Ib [198]
- 28 But yet the pity of it, Iago! O! Iago, the pity of it
Iago! Ib [205]
- 29 The justice of it pleases Ib [221]
- 30 O well-painted passion! Ib [268]
- 31 Goats and monkeys! Ib [274]
- 32 Whose solid virtue
The shot of accident nor dart of chance Could neither graze nor pierce? Ib [277]
- 33 Your mystery, your mystery, nay, dispatch Ib ii 29
- 34 Had it pleas'd heaven
To try me with affliction, had he rain'd
All kinds of sores, and shames, on my bare head,
Steep'd me in poverty to the very lips
Given to captivity me and my utmost hopes
I should have found in some part of my soul
A drop of patience, but, alas! to make me
The fixed figure for the time of scorn
To point his slow and moving finger at,
Yet could I bear that too, well, very well
But there, where I have garner'd up my heart,
Where either I must live or bear no life,
The fountain from the which my current runs
Or else dries up, to be discarded thence!
Or keep it as a cistern for foul toads
To knot and gender in! Turn thy complexion there,
Patience, thou young and rose-lipp'd cherubin,
Ay, there, look grim as hell! Ib 46
- 35 O thou weed!
Who art so lovely fair and smell'st so sweet
That the sense aches at thee, would thou hadst ne'er been born! Ib 66
- 36 Heaven stops the nose at it and the moon winks Ib 76
- 37 I took you for that cunning whore of Venice
That married with Othello! You, mistress,
That have the office opposite to Saint Peter,
And I eep the gate of hell! Ib 88

- 1 I will be hang'd, if some eternal villain,
Some busy and insinuating rogue,
Some cogging cozening slave, to get some office,
Have not devis'd this slander. Othello, iv. ii. 130
- 2 O heaven! that such companions thou'dst unfold,
And put in every honest hand a whip
To lash the rascals naked through the world,
Even from the east to the west! Ib. 141
- 3 Unkindness may do much;
And his unkindness may defeat my life,
But never taint my love. Ib. 159
- 4 Why, now I see there's mettle in thee, and even from this instant do build on thee a better opinion than ever before. Ib. [207]
- 5 EMILIA:
I would you had never seen him.
DESDEMONA:
So would not I; my love doth so approve him.
Ib. iii. 18
- 6 The poor soul sat sighing by a sycamore tree,
Sing all a green willow;
Her hand on her bosom, her head on her knee,
Sing willow, willow, willow:
The fresh streams ran by her, and murmur'd her moans;
Sing willow, willow, willow:
Her salt tears fell from her, and soften'd the stones;—
Sing willow, willow, willow:
Sing all a green willow must be my garland. Ib. [41]
- 7 DESDEMONA:
Mine eyes do itch;
Doth that bode weeping?
EMILIA:
'Tis neither here nor there. Ib. [59]
- 8 Who would not make her husband a cuckold to make him a monarch? Ib. [76]
- 9 He hath a daily beauty in his life
That makes me ugly. Ib. v. i. 19
- 10 This is the night
That either makes me or fordoes me quite. Ib. 128
- 11 It is the cause, it is the cause, my soul;
Let me not name it to you, you chaste stars!
It is the cause. Yet I'll not shed her blood,
Nor scar that whiter skin of hers than snow,
And smooth as monumental alabaster.
Yet she must die, else she'll betray more men.
Put out the light, and then put out the light:
If I quench thee, thou flaming minister,
I can again thy former light restore,
Should I repent me; but once put out thy light,
Thou cunning'st pattern of excelling nature,
I know not where is that Promethean heat
That can thy light relume. When I have pluck'd the rose,
I cannot give it vital growth again,
It needs must wither: I'll smell it on the tree.
O balmy breath, that dost almost persuade Justice to break her sword! One more, one more.
Be thus when thou art dead, and I will kill thee,
And love thee after. One more, and this the last:
So sweet was ne'er so fatal. I must weep,
But they are cruel tears; this sorrow's heavenly,
It strikes where it doth love. Ib. ii. 1
- 12 If you bethink yourself of any crime
Unreconcil'd as yet to heaven and grace,
Solicit for it straight. Othello, v. ii. 26
- 13 Alas! why gnaw you so your nether lip?
Some bloody passion shakes your very frame;
These are portents, but yet, I hope, I hope
They do not point on me. Ib. 43
- 14 For to deny each article with oath
Cannot remove nor choke the strong conception
That I do groan withal. Ib. 54
- 15 Had all his hairs been lives, my great revenge
Had stomach for them all. Ib. 74
- 16 It is the very error of the moon;
She comes more near the earth than she was wont,
And makes men mad. Ib. 107
- 17 Not Cassio kill'd! then murder's out of tune,
And sweet revenge grows harsh. Ib. 113
- 18 A guiltless death I die. Ib. 120
- 19 Nobody; I myself; farewell. Ib. 122
- 20 OTHELLO:
She's like a liar gone to burning hell;
'Twas I that kill'd her.
EMILIA:
O! the more angel she,
And you the blacker devil. Ib. 127
- 21 Nay, had she been true,
If heaven would make me such another world
Of one entire and perfect chrysolite,
I'd not have sold her for it. Ib. 141
- 22 She was too fond of her most filthy bargain. Ib. 155
- 23 Thou hast not half the power to do me harm
As I have to be hurt. Ib. 160
- 24 You told a lie, an odious damned lie;
Upon my soul, a lie, a wicked lie. Ib. 178
- 25 Curse his better angel from his side,
And fall to reprobation. Ib. 206
- 26 With that recognizance and pledge of love. Ib. 212
- 27 Are there no stones in heaven
But what serve for the thunder? Ib. 232
- 28 Every puny whipster gets my sword. Ib. 242
- 29 I will play the swan,
And die in music. Ib. 245
- 30 Who can control his fate? Ib. 264
- 31 Here is my journey's end, here is my butt,
And very sea-mark of my utmost sail. Ib. 266
- 32 O ill-starr'd wench!
Pale as thy smock! when we shall meet at compt,
This look of thine will hurl my soul from heaven,
And fiends will snatch at it. Cold, cold, my girl!
Even like thy chastity.
O! cursed, cursed slave. Whip me, ye devils,
From the possession of this heavenly sight!
Blow me about in winds! roast me in sulphur!
Wash me in steep-down gulfs of liquid fire!
O Desdemona! Desdemona! dead! Ib. 271
- 33 I look down towards his feet; but that's a fable.
If that thou be'st a devil, I cannot kill thee. Ib. 285
- 34 An honourable murderer, if you will;
For nought did I in hate, but all in honour. Ib. 293

1 OTHELLO

Will you, I pray, demand that demi devil
Why he hath thus ensnar'd my soul and body?

TACO

Demand me nothing what you know, you know
From this time forth I never will speak word

Othello, v 11 300

- 2 I have done the state some service, and they know 't,
No more of that I pray you in your letters,
When you shall these unlucky deeds relate,
Speak of me as I am, nothing extenuate
Nor set down nought in malice then must you speak
Of one that lov'd not wisely but too well,
Of one not easily jealous, but, being wrought,
Perplex'd in the extreme, of one whose hand,
Like the base Indian threw a pearl away
Richer than all his tribe, of one whose subdu'd eyes
Albeit unused to the melting mood
Drop tears as fast as the Arabian trees
Their med'cinable gum Set you down this,
And say besides, that in Aleppo once,
Where a malignant and a turban'd Turk
Beat a Venetian and traduc'd the state
I took by the throat the circumcised dog,
And smote him thus Ib 338

- 3 All that's spoke is marred Ib 356
4 I kiss'd thee ere I kill'd thee. Ib 357
5 See, where she comes apparel'd like the spring

Pericles, i 1 12

- 6 Few love to hear the sins they love to act Ib 92
7 O you gods!
Why do you make us love your goodly gifts,
And snatch them straight away? Ib iii 1 22
8 Old John of Gaunt, time honour'd Lancaster

King Richard II, i 1 1

- 9 Let's purge this choler without letting blood Ib 153
10 The purest treasure mortal times afford
Is spotless reputation, that away,
Men are but gilded loam or painted clay
A jewel in a ten times barr'd up chest
Is a bold spirit in a loyal breast
Mine honour is my life, both grow in one,
Take honour from me, and my life is done Ib 177
11 We were not born to sue, but to command Ib 396
12 Stay, stay, the king hath thrown his warder down Ib iii 118

- 13 This must my comfort be,
That sun that warms you here shall shine on me Ib 144

- 14 The language I have learn'd these forty years,
My native English, now I must forego,
And now my tongue's use is to me no more
Than an unstring'd viol or a harp Ib 159

- 15 I am too old to fawn upon a nurse,
Too far in years to be a pupil now Ib 170

- 16 How long a time lies in one little word!
Four lagging winters and four wanton springs
End in a word, such is the breath of kings Ib 213

- 17 Things sweet to taste prove in digestion sour Ib 236

- 18 Boast of nothing else
But that I was a journeyman to grief? Ib 273

- 20 All places that the eye of heaven visits
Are to a wise man ports and happy havens.
Teach thy necessity to reason thus,
There is no virtue like necessity

King Richard II, i iii 275

- 20 Ol who can hold a fire in his hand
By thinking on the frosty Caucasus?
Or cloy the hungry edge of appetite,
By bare imagination of a feast?
Or wallow naked in December snow
By thinking on fantastic summer's heat?
O, nol the apprehension of the good
Gives but the greater feeling to the worse. Ib 294

- 21 Methinks I am a prophet new inspir'd,
And thus expiring do foretell of him
His rash fierce blaze of riot cannot last,
For violent fires soon burn out themselves,
Small showers last long but sudden storms are short
His fires begets that spurs too fast betimes Ib ii 1 31

- 22 This royal throne of kings, this scepter'd isle,
This earth of majesty, this seat of Mars,
This other Eden, demi-paradise,
This fortress built by Nature for herself
Against infection and the hand of war,
This happy breed of men, this little world,
This precious stone set in the silver sea,
Which serves it in the office of a wall,
Or as a moat defensive to a house,
Against the envy of less happier lands,
This blessed plot, this earth, this realm, this England,
This nurse, this teeming womb of royal kings,
Fear'd by their breed and famous by their birth,
Renowned for their deeds as far from home,
For Christian service and true chivalry,—
As is the sepulchre in stubborn Jewry,
Of the world's ransom, blessed Mary's Son
This land of such dear souls, this dear, dear land Ib 40

- 23 England, bound in with the triumphant sea Ib 61

- 24 That England, that was wont to conquer others
Hath made a shameful conquest of itself Ib 62

- 25 Can sick men play so nicely with their names? Ib 84

- 26 Lay aside life harming heaviness,
And entertain a cheerful disposition Ib ii 3

- 27 Believe me noble lord,
I am a stranger here in Gloucestershire
These high wild hills and rough uneven ways
Draw out our miles and make them wearisome Ib iii 2

- 28 I count myself in nothing else so happy
As in a soul remembering my good friends Ib 46

- 29 Bloody with spurring, fiery-red with haste Ib 58

- 30 Grace me no grace, nor uncle me no uncle Ib 87

- 31 The caterpillars of the commonwealth Ib 166

- 32 Things past redress are now with me past care Ib 171

- 33 Eating the bitter bread of banishment Ib iii 1 21

- 34 I weep for joy
To stand upon my kingdom once again
Dear ear! I do salute thee with my hand
Though rebels wound thee with their horses' hoofs Ib ii 4

- 1 Not all the water in the rough rude sea
Can wash the balm from an anointed king;
The breath of worldly men cannot depose
The deputy elected by the Lord.
For every man that Bolingbroke hath press'd
To lift shrewd steel against our golden crown,
God for his Richard hath in heavenly pay
A glorious angel; then, if angels fight,
Weak men must fall, for heaven still guards the right. King Richard II, III. ii. 54
- 2 O! call back yesterday, bid time return. Ib. 69
- 3 Is not the king's name twenty thousand names?
Arm, arm, my name! A puny subject strikes
At thy great glory. Ib. 85
- 4 The worst is death, and death will have his day. Ib. 103
- 5 Sweet love, I see, changing his property,
Turns to the sourest and most deadly hate. Ib. 135
- 6 Of comfort no man speak:
Let's talk of graves, of worms, and epitaphs;
Make dust our paper, and with rainy eyes
Write sorrow on the bosom of the earth.
Let's choose executors, and talk of wills. Ib. 144
- 7 For God's sake, let us sit upon the ground
And tell sad stories of the death of kings:
How some have been depos'd, some slain in war,
Some haunted by the ghosts they have depos'd,
Some poison'd by their wives, some sleeping kill'd;
All murder'd: for within the hollow crown
That rounds the mortal temples of a king
Keeps Death his court, and there the antick sits,
Scoffing his state and grinning at his pomp;
Allowing him a breath, a little scene,
To monarchize, be fear'd, and kill with looks,
Infusing him with self and vain conceit
As if this flesh which walls about our life
Were brass impregnable; and humour'd thus Comes at the last, and with a little pin
Bores through his castle wall, and farewell king!
Ib. 155
- 8 See, see, King Richard doth himself appear,
As doth the blushing discontented sun
From out the fiery portal of the east. Ib. iii. 62
- 9 O! that I were as great
As is my grief, or lesser than my name,
Or that I could forget what I have been,
Or not remember what I must be now. Ib. 136
- 10 What must the king do now? Must he submit?
The king shall do it: must he be depos'd?
The king shall be contented: must he lose
The name of king? o' God's name, let it go.
I'll give my jewels for a set of beads,
My gorgeous palace for a hermitage,
My gay apparel for an almsman's gown,
My figur'd goblets for a dish of wood,
My sceptre for a palmer's walking staff,
My subjects for a pair of carved saints,
And my large kingdom for a little grave,
A little little grave, an obscure grave;
Or I'll be buried in the king's highway,
Some way of common trade, where subjects' feet
May hourly trample on their sovereign's head;
For on my heart they tread now whilst I live;
And buried once, why not upon my head? Ib. 143
- 11 You make a leg. Ib. 175
- 12 Go, bind thou up yon dangling apricocks,
Which, like unruly children, make their sire
Stoop with oppression of their prodigal weight.
King Richard II, III. iv. 29
- 13 Old Adam's likeness, set to dress this garden. Ib. 73
- 14 Here did she fall a tear; here, in this place,
I'll set a bank of rue, sour herb of grace;
Rue, even for ruth, here shortly shall be seen,
In the remembrance of a weeping queen. Ib. 104
- 15 If I dare eat, or drink, or breathe, or live,
I dare meet Surrey in a wilderness,
And spit upon him, whilst I say he lies,
And lies, and lies. Ib. iv. i. 73
- 16 And there at Venice gave
His body to that pleasant country's earth,
And his pure soul unto his captain Christ,
Under whose colours he had fought so long. Ib. 97
- 17 Peace shall go sleep with Turks and infidels. Ib. 139
- 18 God save the king! Will no man say, amen?
Am I both priest and clerk? Well then, amen. Ib. 172
- 19 Give me the crown. Here, cousin, seize the crown;
Here cousin,
On this side my hand and on that side thine.
Now is this golden crown like a deep well
That owes two buckets filling one another;
The emptier ever dancing in the air,
The other down, unseen, and full of water:
That bucket down and full of tears am I,
Drinking my griefs, whilst you mount up on high. Ib. 181
- 20 You may my glories and my state depose,
But not my griefs; still am I king of those. Ib. 192
- 21 Now mark me how I will undo myself. Ib. 203
- 22 With mine own tears I wash away my balm,
With mine own hands I give away my crown. Ib. 207
- 23 God pardon all oaths that are broke to me!
God keep all vows unbroke are made to thee! Ib. 214
- 24 A mockery king of snow. Ib. 260
- 25 An if my word be sterling yet in England. Ib. 264
- 26 Julius Cæsar's ill-erected tower. Ib. v. i. 2
- 27 I am sworn brother, sweet,
To grim Necessity, and he and I
Will keep a league till death. Ib. 20
- 28 That were some love but little policy. Ib. 84
- 29 As in a theatre, the eyes of men,
After a well-grac'd actor leaves the stage,
Are idly bent on him that enters next,
Thinking his prattle to be tedious. Ib. ii. 23
- 30 Who are the violets now
That strew the green lap of the new come spring?
Ib. 46
- 31 Give me my boots I say. Ib. 77 and 87
- 32 He prays but faintly and would be denied. Ib. iii. 103
- 33 I have been studying how I may compare
This prison where I live unto the world. Ib. v. 1
- 34 How sour sweet music is,
When time is broke, and no proportion kept!
So is it in the music of men's lives. Ib. 42

- 1 Mount, mount, my soul! thy seat is up on high,
Whilst my gross flesh sinks downwards here to die

Ib 336
- 13 O, I have pass'd a miserable night,
So full of ugly sights, of ghastly dreams,
That, as I am a Christian faithful man,
I would not spend another such a night,
Though 'twere to buy a world of happy days
So full of dismal terror was the time!
Ib iv 2
- 14 Lord, Lord! methought what pain it was to drown
What dreadful noise of water in mine ears!
What sights of ugly death within mine eyes!
Methought I saw a thousand fearful wrecks,
A thousand men that fishes gnaw'd upon,
Wedges of gold, great anchors, heaps of pearl,
Inestimable stones, unvalu'd jewels,
All scatter'd in the bottom of the sea
Some lay in dead men's skulls and in those holes
Where eyes did once inhabit there were erept
As twere in scorn of eyes, reflecting gems,
That woo'd the slimy bottom of the deep,
And mock'd the dead bones that lay scatter'd by

- 7 O! then, I see, Queen Mab hath been with you. . . .
She is the fairies' midwife, and she comes
In shape no bigger than an agate-stone
On the forefinger of an alderman,
Drawn with a team of little atomies
Athwart men's noses as they lie asleep:
Her waggon-spokes made of long spinners' legs;
The cover, of the wings of grasshoppers;
The traces, of the smallest spider's web;
The collars, of the moonshine's watery beams;
Her whip, of cricket's bone; the lash, of film;
Her waggoner, a small grey-coated gnat,
Not half so big as a round little worm
Prick'd from the lazy finger of a maid;
Her chariot is an empty hazel-nut,
Made by the joiner squirrel or old grub,
Time out o' mind the fairies' coach-makers.
And in this state she gallops night by night
Through lovers' brains, and then they dream of love;
O'er courtiers' knees, that dream on curtsies straight;
O'er lawyers' fingers, who straight dream on fees;
O'er ladies' lips, who straight on kisses dream;
Which oft the angry Mab with blisters plagues,
Because their breaths with sweetmeats tainted are.
Sometimes she gallops o'er a courtier's nose,
And then dreams he of smelling out a suit;
And sometimes comes she with a tithe-pig's tail,
Tickling a parson's nose as a' lies asleep,
Then dreams he of another benefice;
Sometimes she driveth o'er a soldier's neck,
And then dreams he of cutting foreign throats,
Of breaches, ambuscadoes, Spanish blades,
Of healths five fathom deep; and then anon
Drums in his ear, at which he starts and wakes;
And, being thus frighted, swears a prayer or two,
And sleeps again. This is that very Mab
That plats the manes of horses in the night;
And bakes the elf-locks in foul sluttish hairs,
Which once untangled much misfortune bodes;
This is the hag, when maids lie on their backs,
That presses them and learns them first to bear,
Making them women of good carriage. Ib. 53
- 8 For you and I are past our dancing days. Ib. v. [35]
- 9 O! she doth teach the torches to burn bright.
It seems she hangs upon the cheek of night
Like a rich jewel in an Ethiop's ear;
Beauty too rich for use, for earth too dear. Ib. [48]
- 10 We have a trifling foolish banquet towards. Ib. [126]
- 11 My only love sprung from my only hate!
Romeo and Juliet, 1. v. [142]
- 12 Young Adam Cupid, he that shot so trim
When King Cophetua lov'd the beggar-maid.
Ib. ii. i. 13
- 13 He jests at scars, that never felt a wound.
But, soft! what light through yonder window breaks?
It is the east, and Juliet is the sun. Ib. ii. 1
- 14 See! how she leans her cheek upon her hand:
O! that I were a glove upon that hand,
That I might touch that cheek. Ib. 23
- 15 O Romeo, Romeo! wherefore art thou Romeo?
Ib. 33
- 16 What's in a name? that which we call a rose
By any other name would smell as sweet. Ib. 43
- 17 For stony limits cannot hold love out. Ib. 67
- 18 Thou know'st the mask of night is on my face,
Else would a maiden blush bepaint my cheek. Ib. 85
- 19 Fain would I dwell on form, fain, fain deny
What I have spoke: but farewell compliment! Ib. 88
- 20 At lovers' perjuries,
They say, Jove laughs. O gentle Romeo!
If thou dost love, pronounce it faithfully:
Or if thou think'st I am too quickly won,
I'll frown and be perverse and say thee nay,
So thou wilt woo; but else, not for the world.
In truth, fair Montague, I am too fond. Ib. 92
- 21 I'll prove more true
Than those that have more cunning to be strange.
Ib. 100
- 22 ROMEO:
Lady, by yonder blessed moon I swear
That tips with silver all these fruit-tree tops,— JULIET:
O! swear not by the moon, the inconstant moon,
That monthly changes in her circled orb,
Lest that thy love prove likewise variable. Ib. 107
- 23 Do not swear at all;
Or, if thou wilt, swear by thy gracious self,
Which is the god of my idolatry. Ib. 112
- 24 It is too rash, too unadvis'd, too sudden;
Too like the lightning, which doth cease to be Ere one can say it lightens. Sweet, good-night!
This bud of love, by summer's ripening breath,
May prove a beauteous flower when next we meet.
Ib. 118
- 25 Love goes toward love, as schoolboys from their books;
But love from love, toward school with heavy looks. Ib. 156
- 26 O! for a falconer's voice,
To lure this tassel-gentle back again.
Bondage is hoarse, and may not speak aloud,
Else would I tear the cave where Echo lies. Ib. 158
- 27 It is my soul that calls upon my name:
How silver-sweet sound lovers' tongues by night,
Like softest music to attending ears! Ib. 164
- 28 'Tis almost morning; I would have thee gone;
And yet no further than a wanton's bird,
Who lets it hop a little from her hand,
Like a poor prisoner in his twisted gyves,
And with a silk thread plucks it back again,
So loving-jealous of his liberty. Ib. 176

- 1 JULIET
Yet I should kill thee with much cherishing
Good night, good night! parting is such sweet sorrow
That I shall say good night till it be morrow
ROMEO
Sleep dwell upon thine eyes, peace in thy breast!
Would I were sleep and peace, so sweet to rest!

That unsubstantial Death is amorous
And that the lean abhorred monster keeps
Thee here in dark to be his paramour?
For fear of that I still will stay with thee,
And never from this palace of dim night
Depart again: here, here will I remain
With worms that are thy chambermaids, O! here
Will I set up my everlasting rest
And shake the yoke of inauspicious stars
From this world wearied flesh: Eyes look your last!
Arms take your last embrace! and, lips, O you
The doors of breath, seal with a righteous kiss
A dateless bargain to engrossing death!

And then take hands:
Curtsied when you have, and kiss'd,—
The wild waves whist,—
Foot it featly here and there;
And, sweet sprites, the burden bear.
Hark, hark!
Bow, wow,
The watch-dogs bark:
Bow, wow,
Hark, hark! I hear
The strain of strutting Chanticleer
Cock-a-diddle-dow. Ib. 375
- 29 This music crept by me upon the waters,
Allaying both their fury, and my passion,
With its sweet air. Ib. 389

- 17 Time hath, my lord, a wallet at his back,
Wherein he puts alms for oblivion,
A great-siz'd monster of ingratitudes:
Those scraps are good deeds past; which are devour'd
As fast as they are made, forgot as soon
As done. Ib. III. 145
- 18 Perseverance, dear my lord,
Keeps honour bright: to have done, is to hang Quite out of fashion, like a rusty mail
In monumental mockery.
Troilus and Cressida, III. iii. 150
- 19 For honour travels in a strait so narrow
Where one but goes abreast. Ib. 154
- 20 Time is like a fashionable host
That slightly shakes his parting guest by the hand,
And with his arms outstretch'd, as he would fly,
Grasps in the comer: welcome ever smiles,
And farewell goes out sighing. Ib. 165
- 21 Beauty, wit,
High birth, vigour of bone, desert in service,
Love, friendship, charity, are subjects all
To envious and calumniating time.
One touch of nature makes the whole world kin,
That all with one consent praise new-born gawds. Ib. 171

- 30 If music be the food of love, play on;
Give me excess of it, that, surfeiting,
The appetite may sicken, and so die.
That strain again! it had a dying fall:
O! it came o'er my ear like the sweet sound
That breathes upon a bank of violets,
Stealing and giving odour! Enough! no more:
'Tis not so sweet now as it was before.
O spirit of love! how quick and fresh art thou,
That notwithstanding thy capacity
Receivest as the sea, nought enters there,
Of what validity and pitch soe'er,
But falls into abatement and low price,
Even in a minute: so full of shapes is fancy,
That it alone is high fantastical. Twelfth Night, I. i. 1
- 31 O! when mine eyes did see Olivia first,
Methought she purg'd the air of pestilence.
That instant was I turn'd into a hart,
And my desires, like fell and cruel hounds,
E'er since pursue me. Ib. 19
- 32 The element itself, till seven years' heat,
Shall not behold her face at ample view;
But, like a cloistress, she will veiled walk,
And water once a day her chamber round
With eye-offending brine. Ib. 26

- 2 And what should I do in Illyria?
My brother he is in Elysium. Ib. ii. 2
- 3 O my poor brother! Ib. 6
- 4 He's as tall a man as any's in Illyria. Ib. iii. [21]
- 5 Speaks three or four languages word for word without book. Ib. [28]
- 6 Methinks sometimes I have no more wit than a Christian or an ordinary man has, but I am a great eater of beef, and I believe that does harm to my wit. Ib. [90]
- 7 SIR ANDREW:
I would I had bestowed that time in the tongues that I have in fencing, dancing, and bear-baiting. O! had I but followed the arts!
- SIR TOBY:
Then hadst thou had an excellent head of hair. Ib. [99]
- 8 Wherefore are these things hid? wherefore have these gifts a curtain before 'em? are they like to take dust, like Mistress Mall's picture? why dost thou not go to church in a galliard, and come home in a coranto? My very walk should be a jig. Ib. [135]
- 9 Is it a world to hide virtues in? Ib. [142]
- 10 Diana's lip
Is not more smooth and rubious; thy small pipe
Is as the maiden's organ, shrill and sound;
And all is semblative a woman's part Ib. iv. 31
- 11 Many a good hanging prevents a bad marriage. Ib. v. [20]
- 12 What says Quinapalus? 'Better a witty fool than a foolish wit.' Ib. [37]
- 13 Virtue that transgresses is but patched with sin, and sin that amends is but patched with virtue. Ib. [52]
- 14 Good my mouse of virtue, answer me. Ib. [68]
- 15 O! you are sick of self-love, Malvolio. Ib. [96]
- 16 A plague o' these pickle herring! Ib. [127]
- 17 Not yet old enough for a man, nor young enough for a boy, as a squash is before 'tis a peascod, or a codling when 'tis almost an apple: 'tis with him in standing water, between boy and man. He is very well-favoured, and he speaks very shrewishly: one would think his mother's milk were scarce out of him Ib. [166]
- 18 I would be loath to cast away my speech, for besides that it is excellently well penned, I have taken great pains to con it. Ib. [184]
- 19 I can say little more than I have studied, and that question's out of my part. Ib. [191]
- 20 OLIVIA
'Tis in grain, sir; 'twill endure wind and weather.
VIOLA
'Tis beauty truly blent, whose red and white
Nature's own sweet and cunning hand laid on;
Lady, you are the cruellest she alive
If you will lead these graces to the grave
And leave the world no copy. Ib. [257]
- 21 Item, Two lips, indifferent red; Item, Two grey eye with lids to them; Item, One neck, one chin, and so forth. Twelfth Night, t. v. [26]
- 22 Make me a willow cabin at your gate,
And call upon my soul within the house;
Write loyal cantons of contemned love,
And sing them loud even in the dead of night;
Hailoo your name to the reverberate hills,
And make the babbling gossip of the air
Cry out, 'Olivia'. Ib. [289]
- 23 Farewell, fair cruelty. Ib. [309]
- 24 'What is your parentage?'
'Above my fortune, yet my state is well:
I am a gentleman.' Ib. [310]
- 25 She is drowned already, sir, with salt water, though I seem to drown her remembrance again with more. Ib. ii. 1 [31]
- 26 I am yet so near the manners of my mother, that upon the least occasion more mine eyes will tell tales of me. Ib. [42]
- 27 Not to be a-bed after midnight is to be up betimes
... To be up after midnight and to go to bed then, is early, so that to go to bed after midnight is to go to bed betimes Ib. iii. [1 and 7]
- 28 O mistress mine! where are you roaming?
O! stay and hear, your true love's coming.
'That can sing both high and low,
Trip no further, pretty sweetening;
Journeys end in lovers meeting,
Every wise man's son doth know.
What is love? 'tis not hereafter,
Present mirth hath present laughter;
What's to come is still unsure;
In delay there lies no plenty,
Then come kiss me, sweet and twenty,
Youth's a stuff will not endure. Ib. [42]
- 29 Am not I consanguineous? am I not of her blood?
Tillyvally, lady! Ib. [85]
- 30 He does it with a better grace, but I do it more natural Ib. [91]
- 31 Is there no respect of place, persons, nor time, in you? Ib. [100]
- 32 SIR TOBY:
Dost thou think, because thou art virtuous, there shall be no more cakes and ale?
CLOWN
Yes, by Saint Anne, and ginger shall be hot i' the mouth too. Ib. [124]
- 33 MARIA:
Marry, sir, sometimes he is a kind of puritan.
SIR ANDREW:
O, if I thought that, I'd beat him like a dog! Ib. [153]
- 34 I will drop in his way some obscure epistles of love, wherein by the colour of his beard, the shape of his leg, the manner of his gait, the expressure of his eye, forehead, and complexion, he shall find himself most feelingly personated. Ib. [171]
- 35 My purpose is, indeed, a horse of that colour. Ib. [184]

- 1 Now, good Cesario, but that piece of song,
That old and antique song we heard last night;
Methought it did relieve my passion much,
More than light airs and recollected terms
Of these most brisk and giddy-paced times:
Come, but one verse. Twelfth Night, II. iv. 2
- 2 DUKE:
If ever thou shalt love,
In the sweet pangs of it remember me;
For such as I am all true lovers are:
Unstaid and skittish in all motions else,
Save in the constant image of the creature
That is belov'd. How dost thou like this tune?
VIOLA:
It gives a very echo to the seat
Where love is enthron'd. Ib. 15
- 3 Let still the woman take
An elder than herself, so wears she to him,
So sways she level in her husband's heart:
For, boy, however we do praise ourselves,
Our fancies are more giddy and unfirm,
More longing, wavering, sooner lost and worn,
Than women's are. Ib. 29
- 4 Then let thy love be younger than thyself,
Or thy affection cannot hold the bent. Ib. 36
- 5 Mark it, Cesario; it is old and plain.
The spinsters and the knitters in the sun
And the free maids that weave their thread with bones
Do use to chant it: it is silly sooth,
And dallies with the innocence of love,
Like the old age. Ib. 43
- 6 Come away, come away, death,
And in sad cypress let me be laid;
Fly away, fly away, breath:
I am slain by a fair cruel maid.
My shroud of white, stuck all with yew,
O! prepare it.
My part of death no one so true
Did share it.
Not a flower, not a flower sweet,
On my black coffin let there be strown;
Not a friend, not a friend greet
My poor corse, where my bones shall be thrown.
A thousand thousand sighs to save,
Lay me, O! where
Sad true lover never find my grave,
To weep there. Ib. 51
- 7 Now, the melancholy god protect thee, and the tailor make thy doublet of changeable taffeta, for thy mind is a very opal. Ib. [74]
- 8 Get thee to yond same sovereign cruelty:
Tell her, my love, more noble than the world,
Prizes not quantity of dirty lands. Ib. [82]
- 9 There is no woman's sides
Can bide the beating of so strong a passion
As love doth give my heart; no woman's heart
So big, to hold so much; they lack retention.
Alas! their love may be call'd appetite,
No motion of the liver, but the palate,
That suffer surfeit, cloyment, and revolt;
But mine is all as hungry as the sea,
And can digest so much. Ib. [95]
- 10 DUKE:
And what's her history?
- VIOLA:
A blank, my lord. She never told her love,
But let concealment, like a worm i' the bud,
Feed on her damask cheek: she pin'd in thought;
And with a green and yellow melancholy,
She sat like patience on a monument,
Smiling at grief. Was not this love indeed?
We men may say more, swear more; but, indeed,
Our shows are more than will; for still we prove
Much in our vows, but little in our love.
Twelfth Night, II. iv. [111]
- 11 I am all the daughters of my father's house,
And all the brothers too. Ib. [122]
- 12 How now, my metal of India! Ib. v. [17]
- 13 Here comes the trout that must be caught with tickling. Ib. [25]
- 14 Contemplation makes a rare turkey-cock of him:
how he jets under his advanced plumes! Ib. [35]
- 15 In my branched velvet gown. Ib. [54]
- 16 Now is the woodcock near the gin. Ib. [93]
- 17 I may command where I adore. Ib. [116]
- 18 But be not afraid of greatness: some men are born great, some achieve greatness, and some have greatness thrust upon them. Ib. [158]
- 19 Let thy tongue tang arguments of state; put thyself into the trick of singularity. She thus advises thee that sighs for thee. Remember who commended thy yellow stockings, and wished to see thee ever cross-gartered. Ib. [165]
- 20 Jove and my stars be praised! Here is yet a postscript.
Ib. [189]
- 21 He will come to her in yellow stockings, and 'tis a colour she abhors; and cross-gartered, a fashion
she detests. Ib. [220]
- 22 Now Jove, in his next commodity of hair, send thee
a beard. Ib. III. i. [51]
- 23 This fellow's wise enough to play the fool,
And to do that well craves a kind of wit. Ib. [68]
- 24 Taste your legs, sir; put them to motion. Ib. [88]
- 25 Most excellent accomplished lady, the heavens rain
odours on you! Ib. [96]
- 26 'Twas never merry world
Since lowly feigning was called compliment. Ib. [110]
- 27 O world! how apt the poor are to be proud. Ib. [141]
- 28 O! what a deal of scorn looks beautiful
In the contempt and anger of his lip. Ib. [159]
- 29 Love sought is good, but giv'n unsought is better. Ib. [170]
- 30 They have been grand-jurymen since before Noah was a sailor. Ib. ii. [18]
- 31 You should then have accosted her, and with some excellent jests, fire-new from the mint, you should have banged the youth into dumbness. Ib. [23]
- 32 Where you will hang like an icicle on a Dutchman's beard. Ib. [30]
- 33 I had as lief be a Brownist as a politician. Ib. [35]
- 34 Although the sheet were big enough for the bed of Ware in England. Ib. [52]

- 1 Let there be gall enough in thy ink, though thou write with a goose-pen, no matter.
Twelfth Night, III. ii. [54]
- 2 If he were opened, and you find so much blood in his liver as will clog the foot of a flea, I'll eat the rest of the anatomy. Ib. [68]
- 3 Look, where the youngest wren of nine comes.
Ib. [73]
- 4 More lines than are in the new map with the augmentation of the Indies. Ib. [87]
- 5 In the south suburbs, at the Elephant. Ib. III. 39
- 6 I think we do know the sweet Roman hand.
Ib. IV. [31]
- 7 Why, this is very midsummer madness. Ib. [62]
- 8 What, man! defy the devil: consider, he's an enemy to mankind. Ib. [109]
- 9 Go, hang yourselves all! you are idle shallow things:
I am not of your element. Ib. [138]
- 10 If this were played upon a stage now, I could condemn it as an improbable fiction. Ib. [142]
- 11 More matter for a May morning. Ib. [158]
- 12 Still you keep o' the windy side of the law. Ib. [183]
- 13 Fare thee well; and God have mercy upon one of our souls! He may have mercy upon mine, but my hope is better; and so look to thyself. Ib. [185]
- 14 Nay, let me alone for swearing. Ib. [204]
- 15 He is knight dubbed with unhatched rapier, and on carpet consideration. Ib. [260]
- 16 I am one that had rather go with sir priest than sir knight; I care not who knows so much of my mettle. Ib. [300]
- 17 Out of my lean and low ability
I'll lend you something. Ib. [380]
- 18 I hate ingratitude more in a man
Than lying, vainness, babbling drunkenness,
Or any taint of vice whose strong corruption
Inhabits our frail blood. Ib. [390]
- 19 In nature there's no blemish but the mind;
None can be call'd deform'd but the unkind.
Ib. [403]
- 20 Out, hyperbolical fiend! Ib. IV. II. [29]
- 21 For I am one of those gentle ones that will use the devil himself with courtesy. Ib. [37]
- 22 CLOWN:
What is the opinion of Pythagoras concerning wild fowl?
MALVOLIO:
That the soul of our grandam might haply inhabit a bird.
CLOWN:
What thinkest thou of his opinion?
MALVOLIO:
I think nobly of the soul, and no way approve his opinion. Ib. [55]
- 23 Leave thy vain bubble-babble. Ib. [106]
- 24 We took him for a coward, but he's the very devil
incardinate. Ib. V. i. [185]
- 25 And made the most notorious geck and gull
That e'er invention play'd. Ib. [355]
- 26 And thus the whirligig of time brings in his revenge
Twelfth Night, V. i. [335]
- 27 When that I was and a little tiny boy,
With hey, ho, the wind and the rain;
A foolish thing was but a toy,
For the rain it raineth every day.
But when I came to man's estate,
With hey, ho, the wind and the rain;
'Gainst knaves and thieves men shut their gates,
For the rain it raineth every day.
But when I came, alas! to wive,
With hey, ho, the wind and the rain;
By swaggering could I never thrive,
For the rain it raineth every day.
But when I came unto my beds,
With hey, ho, the wind and the rain;
With toss-pots still had drunken heads,
For the rain it raineth every day.
A great while ago the world begun,
With hey, ho, the wind and the rain;
But that's all one, our play is done,
And we'll strive to please you every day. Ib. [401]
- 28 Home-keeping youth have ever homely wits.
The Two Gentlemen of Verona, I. i. 2
- 29 For he was more than over shoes in love. Ib. 24
- 30 I have no other but a woman's reason:
I think him so, because I think him so. Ib. II. 23
- 31 Fic, fief how wayward is this foolish love
That, like a testy babe, will scratch the nurse
And presently all humbled kiss the rod! Ib. 55
- 32 Poor wounded name! my bosom, as a bed
Shall lodge thee till thy wound be thoroughly heal'd. Ib. III
- 33 O! how this spring of love resembleth
The uncertain glory of an April day. Ib. III. 64
- 34 Or as one nail by strength drives out another,
So the remembrance of my former love
Is by a newer object quite forgotten. Ib. II. IV. 194
- 35 He makes sweet music with th' enamell'd stones,
Giving a gentle kiss to every sedge
He overtaketh in his pilgrimage;
And so by many winding nooks he strays
With walling sport, to the wild ocean. Ib. VII. 28
- 36 Except I be by Silvia in the night,
There is no music in the nightingale;
Unless I look on Silvia in the day,
There is no day for me to look upon. Ib. III. I. 178
- 37 Ay,
Much is the force of heaven-bred poesy. Ib. II. 71
- 38 A man I am cross'd with adversity. Ib. IV. i. 12
- 39 You know that love
Will creep in service where it cannot go. Ib. II. 19
- 40 Who is Sylvia? what is she,
That all our swains commend her?
Holy, fair, and wise is she;
The heaven such grace did lend her,
That she might admire be.
Is she kind as she is fair?
For beauty lives with kindness:
Love doth to her eyes repair,
To help him of his blindness;
And, being help'd, inhabits there.

- Then to Silvia let us sing,
That Silvia is excelling;
She excels each mortal thing
Upon the dull earth dwelling;
To her let us garlands bring.
Two Gentlemen of Verona, iv. ii. 40
- 1 How use doth breed a habit in a man! Ib. v. iv. 1
- 2 O heaven! were man
But constant, he were perfect. Ib. 110
- 3 Two lads that thought there was no more behind
But such a day to-morrow as to-day,
And to be boy eternal. The Winter's Tale, i. ii. 63
- 4 We were as twinn'd lambs that did frisk i' the sun,
And bleat the one at the other: what we chang'd
Was innocence for innocence; we knew not
The doctrine of ill-doing, no, nor dream'd
That any did. Ib. 67
- 5 Three crabbed months had sour'd themselves to death,
Ere I could make thee open thy white hand
And clap thyself my love. Ib. 102
- 6 Paddling palms and pinching fingers. Ib. 116
- 7 Still virginalling
Upon his palm. Ib. 126
- 8 Affection! thy intention stabs the centre:
Thou dost make possible things not so held,
Communicat'st with dreams. Ib. 139
- 9 How like, methought, I then was to this kernel,
This squash, this gentleman. Ib. 160
- 10 A sad tale's best for winter.
I have one of sprites and goblins. Ib. ii. i. 24

- 16 When daffodils begin to peer,
With heigh! the doxy, over the dale,
Why, then comes in the sweet o' the year;
For the red blood reigns in the winter's pale.
The white sheet bleaching on the hedge,
With heigh! the sweet birds, O, how they sing!
Doth set my pugging tooth on edge;
For a quart of ale is a dish for a king.
The lark, that tirra-lirra chants,
With, heigh! with, heigh! the thrush and the jay,
Are summer songs for me and my aunts,
While we lie tumbling in the hay. Ib. iv. ii. 1
- 17 But shall I go mourn for that, my dear? Ib. [15]
- 18 A snapper-up of unconsidered trifles. Ib. [26]

- 20 Prig, for my life, prig; he haunts wakes, fairs, and bear-baitings. Ib. [109]
- 21 Jog on, jog on the foot-path way,
And merrily hent the stile-a:
A merry heart goes all the day,
Your sad tires in a mile-a. Ib. [133]
- 22 For you there's rosemary and rue; these keep Seeming and savour all the winter long.
The Winter's Tale, iv. iii. 74
- 23 The fairest flowers o' the season
Are our carnations and streak'd gillyvors,
Which some call nature's bastards. Ib. 81
- 24 Yet nature is made better by no mean
But nature makes that mean. Ib. 89
- 25 Here's flowers for you;
Hot lavender, mints, savory, marjoram;
The marigold, that goes to bed wi' the sun,
And with him rises weeping. Ib. 103
- 26 O Proserpina!
For the flowers now that frighted thou let'st fall
From Dis's waggon! daffodils,
That come before the swallow dares, and take
The winds of March with beauty; violets dim,
But sweeter than the lids of Juno's eyes
Or Cytherea's breath; pale prime-roses,
That die unmarried, ere they can behold
Bright Phoebus in his strength,—a malady
Most incident to maids; bold oxlips and
The crown imperial; lilies of all kinds,
The flower-de-luce being one. Ib. 116
- 27 PERDITA: Sure this robe of mine
Doth change my disposition.
FLORIZEL: What you do
Still betters what is done. When you speak, sweet,
I'd have you do it ever: when you sing,
I'd have you buy and sell so; so give alms;
Pray so; and, for the ordering your affairs,
To sing them too: when you do dance, I wish you
A wave o' the sea, that you might ever do
Nothing but that; move still, still so,
And own no other function: each your doing,
So singular in each particular,
Crowns what you are doing in the present deed,
That all your acts are queens. Ib. 134
- 28 Good sooth, she is
The queen of curds and cream. Ib. 160

But milk my ewes and weep. Ib. [462]
- 33 Prosperity's the very bond of love,
Whose fresh complexion and whose heart together
Affliction alters. Ib. [586]
- 34 Ha, ha! what a fool Honesty is! and Trust his sworn brother, a very simple gentleman! Ib. [608]
- 35 Though I am not naturally honest, I am so sometimes by chance. Ib. [734]
- 36 That rare Italian master, Julio Romano. Ib. v. ii. [108]
- 37 Thou art a tall fellow of thy hands. Ib. [185]

11 Thou art thy mother's glass and she in thee
Calls back the lovely April of her prime Ib 3

12 Lol in the orient when the gracious light
Lifts up his burning head, each under eye
Doth homage to his new appearing sight Ib 7

13 Music to hear, why hear at thou music sadly?
Sweets with sweets war not, joy delights in joy
Why lov'st thou that which thou receiv'st not gladly,
Or else receiv'st with pleasure thine annoy? Ib 8

14 True concord of well tuned sounds Ib

15 When lofty trees I see barren of leaves,
Which erst from heat did canopy the herd,
And summer's green all girded up in sheaves,
Borne on the bier with white and bristly beard Ib 12

16 If I could write the beauty of your eyes
And in fresh numbers number all your graces,
The age to come would say, 'This poet lies,
Such heavenly touches ne'er touch'd earthly faces' Ib 17

17 And stretched metre of an antique song Ib

18 Shall I compare thee to a summer's day?
Thou art more lovely and more temperate
Rough winds do shake the darling buds of May,
And summer's lease hath all too short a date
Sometimes too hot the eye of heaven shines,
And often is his gold complexion dimm'd,
And every fair from fair sometime declines,
By chance, or nature's changing course untrimm'd,
But thy eternal summer shall not fade,
Nor lose possession of that fair thou ow'st,
Nor shall death brag thou wander'st in his shade,
When in eternal lines to time thou grow'st,
So long as men can breathe, or eyes can see,
So long lives this, and this gives life to thee Ib 18

19 My glass shall not persuade me I am old,
So long as youth and thou are of one date,
But when in thee time's furrows I behold,
Then look I death my days should expiate Ib 22

20 As an imperfect actor on the stage,
Who with his fear is put besides his part Sonnets, 23

21 O! let my books be then the eloquence
And dumb presagers of my speaking breast Ib

22 The painful warrior famoused for fight,
After a thousand victories once foil'd,
Is from the book of honour razed quite,
And all the rest forgot for which he toil'd Ib 25

23 Weary with toil, I haste me to my bed Ib 27

24 When in disgrace with fortune and men's eyes
I all alone beweep my outcast state,
And trouble deaf heaven with my bootless cries
And look upon myself and curse my fate,
Wishing me like to one more rich in hope,
Featur'd like him, like him with friends possess'd,
Desiring this man's art, and that man's scope,
With what I most enjoy contented least,
Yet in these thoughts myself almost despising,
Haply I think on thee,—and then my state,
I like to the lark at break of day arising
From sullen earth, sings hymns at heaven's gate,
For thy sweet love remember'd such wealth brings
That then I scorn to change my state with kings Ib 29

25 When to the sessions of sweet silent thought
I summon up remembrance of things past,
I sigh the lack of many a thing I sought,
And with old woes new wail my dear times' waste
Then can I drown an eye, unush'd to flow,
For precious friends hid in death's dateless night,
And weep afresh love's long since cancell'd woe,
And moan the expense of many a vanish'd sight
Then can I grieve at grievances forgone,
And heavily from woe to woe tell o'er
The sad account of fore-bemoaned moan,
Which I new pay as if not paid before
But if the while I think on thee, dear friend,
All losses are restor'd and sorrows end Ib 30

26 But since he died, and poets better prove,
Thine for their style I'll read, his for his love Ib 32

27 Full many a glorious morning have I seen
Flatter the mountain-tops with sovereign eye,
Kissing with golden face the meadows green,
Gilding pale streams with heavenly alchemy Ib 33

28 But, out! alack! he was but one hour mine,
The region cloud hath mask'd him from me now Ib

29 Suns of the world may stain when heaven's sun
staineth Ib

30 Why didst thou promise such a beauteous day,
And make me travel forth without my cloak? Ib 34

31 Roses have thorns, and silver fountains mud,
Clouds and eclipses stain both moon and sun,
And loathsome canker lives in sweetest bud
All men make faults Ib 35

32 As a decrepit father takes delight
To see his active child do deeds of youth,
So I, made lame by fortune's dearest spite,
Take all my comfort of thy worth and truth Ib 37

33 Against that time when thou shalt strangely pass,
And scarcely greet me with that sun, thine eye,
When love, converted from the thing it was,
Shall reason find of settled gravity Ib 49

- 1 Like stones of worth they thinly placed are,
Or captain jewels in the carconet. Sonnets, 52
- 2 What is your substance, whereof are you made,
That millions of strange shadows on you tend? Ib. 53
- 3 You in Grecian tires are painted new. Ib.
- 4 The spring and foison of the year. Ib.
- 5 O! how much more doth beauty beauteous seem
By that sweet ornament which truth doth give! Ib. 54
- 6 Not marble, nor the gilded monuments
Of princes, shall outlive this powerful rhyme. Ib. 55
- 7 Being your slave, what should I do but tend Upon the hours and times of your desire?
I have no precious time at all to spend,
Nor services to do, till you require.
Nor dare I chide the world-without-end hour
Whilst I, my sovereign, watch the clock for you,
Nor think the bitterness of absence sour
When you have bid your servant once adieu;
Nor dare I question with my jealous thought
Where you may be, or your affairs suppose,
But like a sad slave, stay and think of nought
Save, where you are, how happy you make those.
So true a fool is love that in your will,
Though you do anything, he thinks no ill. Ib. 57
- 8 Like as the waves make towards the pebbled shore,
So do our minutes hasten to their end. Ib. 60
- 9 Time doth transfix the flourish set on youth
And delves the parallels in beauty's brow. Ib.
- 10 Sin of self-love possesseth all mine eye. Ib. 62
- 11 When I have seen by Time's fell hand defac'd
The rich-proud cost of outworn buried age. Ib. 64
- 12 When I have seen the hungry ocean gain Advantage on the kingdom of the shore. Ib.
- 13 Since brass, nor stone, nor earth, nor boundless sea,
But sad mortality o'ersways their power,
How with this rage shall beauty hold a plea,
Whose action is no stronger than a flower? Ib. 65
- 14 Tir'd with all these, for restful death I cry,
As to behold desert a beggar born,
And needy nothing trimm'd in jollity,
And purest faith unhappily forsworn,
And gilded honour shamefully misplac'd,
And maiden virtue rudely strumpeted,
And right perfection wrongfully disgrac'd,
And strength by limping sway disabled,
And art made tongue-tied by authority,
And folly—doctor-like—controlling skill,
And simple truth miscall'd simplicity,
And captive good attending captain ill:
Tir'd with all these, from these I would be gone,
Save that, to die, I leave my love alone. Ib. 66
- 15 No longer mourn for me when I am dead
Than you shall hear the surly sullen bell
Give warning to the world that I am fled
From this vile world, with vilest worms to dwell. Ib. 71
- 16 That time of year thou mayst in me behold
When yellow leaves, or none, or few, do hang
Upon those boughs which shake against the cold,
Bare ruin'd choirs, where late the sweet birds sang.
- In me thou see'st the twilight of such day
As after sunset fadeth in the west;
Which by and by black night doth take away,
Death's second self, that seals up all in rest. Sonnets, 73
- 17 This thou perceiv'st, which makes thy love more
strong,
To love that well which thou must leave ere long. Ib.
- 18 So all my best is dressing old words new. Ib. 76
- 19 Like unletter'd clerk, still cry 'Amen'. Ib. 85
- 20 Was it the proud full sail of his great verse,
Bound for the prize of all too precious you,
That did my ripe thoughts in my brain inhearse,
Making their tomb the womb wherein they grew? Ib. 86
- 21 That affable familiar ghost
Which nightly gulls him with intelligence. Ib.
- 22 Farewell! thou art too dear for my possessing,
And like enough thou know'st thy estimate:
The charter of thy worth gives thee releasing;
My bonds in thee are all determinate.
For how do I hold thee but by thy granting?
And for that riches where is my deserving?
The cause of this fair gift in me is wanting,
And so my patent back again is swerving.
Thyself thou gav'st, thy own worth then not knowing,
Or me, to whom thou gav'st it, else mistaking;
So thy great gift, upon misprision growing,
Comes home again, on better judgment making.
Thus have I had thee, as a dream doth flatter,
In sleep a king, but, waking, no such matter. Ib. 87
- 23 Ah, do not, when my heart hath 'scap'd this sorrow,
Come in the rearward of a conquer'd woe;
Give not a windy night a rainy morrow,
To linger out a purpos'd overthrow. Ib. 90
- 24 They that have power to hurt and will do none,
That do not do the thing they most do show,
Who, moving others, are themselves as stone,
Unmoved, cold, and to temptation slow. Ib. 94
- 25 They are the lords and owners of their faces,
Others but stewards of their excellence.
The summer's flower is to the summer sweet,
Though to itself it only live and die. Ib.
- 26 Lilies that fester smell far worse than weeds. Ib.
- 27 How like a winter hath my absence been
From thee, the pleasure of the fleeting year!
What freezings have I felt, what dark days seen!
What old December's bareness every where! Ib. 97
- 28 From you have I been absent in the spring,
When proud-pied April, dress'd in all his trim,
Hath put a spirit of youth in every thing. Ib. 98
- 29 To me, fair friend, you never can be old,
For as you were when first your eye I ey'd,
Such seems your beauty still. Three winters cold
Have from the forests shook three summers' pride,
Three beauteous springs to yellow autumn turn'd
In process of the seasons have I seen,
Three April perfumes in three hot Junes burn'd,
Since first I saw you fresh, which yet are green.
Ah! yet doth beauty, like a dial-hand,
Steal from his figure, and no pace perceiv'd;
So your sweet hue, which methinks still doth stand,

Hath motion and mine eye may be deceiv'd
For fear of which, hear this, thou age unbred
Ere you were born was beauty's summer dead

Sonnets, 101

- 1 And beauty, making beautiful old rhyme Ib 106
2 Not mine own fears, nor the prophetic soul
Of the wide world dreaming on things to come,
Can yet the lease of my true love control,
Suppos'd as forfeit to a confin'd doom
The mortal moon hath her eclipse endur'd,
And the sad augurs mock their own presage Ib 107
3 And thou in this shalt find thy monument,
When tyrants' crests and tombs of brass are spent Ib
4 O! never say that I was false of heart,
Though absence seem'd my flame to qualify Ib 109
5 Alas! 'tis true I have gone here and there,
And made myself a motley to the view,
Gord mine own thoughts sold cheap what is most
dear,
Made old offences of affections new,
Most true it is that I have look'd on truth
Askance and strangely, but, by all above,
These blenches gave my heart another youth
And worse essays prov'd thee my best of love Ib 110

My nature is subdu'd

- 6 To what it works in like the dyer's hand,
Pity me, then, and wish I were renew'd Ib 111
7 Let me not to the marriage of true minds
Admit impediments. Love is not love
Which alters when it alteration finds,
Or bends with the remover to remove
O no! it is an ever-fixed mark,
That looks on tempests and is never shaken,
It is the star to every wandering bark,
Whose worth's unknown, although his height be taken
Love's not Time's fool, though rosy lips and cheeks
Within his bending sickle's compass come,
Love alters not with his brief hours and weeks,
But bears it out even to the edge of doom
If this be error, and upon me prov'd,
I never wilt nor no man ever lov'd Ib 116
8 What potions have I drunk of Siren tears,
Distill'd from limbeck's fowl as hell within Ib 119
9 O benefit of ill! now I find true
That better is by evil still made better Ib
10 'Tis better to be vile than vile esteem'd,
When not to be receives reproach of being Ib 121
11 The expense of spirit in a waste of shame
Is lust in action:—till action, lust
Is perjur'd, murderous, bloody, full of blame,
Savage, extreme, rude cruel, not to trust Ib 129
12 Mad in pursuit and in possession so,
Had having and in quest to have, extreme,
A bliss in proof—and prov'd a very woe,
Before a joy propos'd behind, a dream
All this the world well knows, yet none knows well
To shun the heaven that leads men to this hell Ib
13 My mistress' eyes are nothing like the sun,
Coral is far more red than her lips' red
If snow be white, why then her breasts are dun,
If hairs be wires, black wires grow on her head Ib 130

- 14 And yet, by heaven, I think my love as rare
As any she belied with false compare Sonnets, 130
15 Whoever hath her wish, thou hast thy Will,
And Will to boot, and Will in over-plus Ib 133
16 When my love swears that she is made of tru h
I do believe her, though I know she lies Ib 135
17 Lo, as a careful housewife runs to catch
One of her feather'd creatures broke away Ib 143
18 Two loves I have of comfort and despair,
Which like two spirits do suggest me still
The better angel is a man right fair,
The worse spirit a woman colour'd ill Ib 144
19 Yet this shall I ne'er know, but live in doubt,
Till my bad angel fire my good one out. Ib
20 Poor soul, the centre of my sinful earth,
[I ool d by] these rebel powers that thee array,
Why dost thou pine withil and suffer dearth,
Painting thy outward walls so costly gay?
Why so large cost, having so short a lease,
Dost thou upon thy fading mansion spend? Ib 146
21 So shalt thou feed on Death, that feeds on men
And Death once dead, there's no more dying then. Ib
22 For I have sworn thee fair, and thought thee bright
Who art as black as hell, as dark as night Ib 147
23 Love is too young to know what conscience is,
Yet who knows not conscience is born of love? Ib 151
24 The first heir of my invention
Venus and Adams, Preface
25 Hunting he lov'd, but love he laugh'd to scorn Ib 1 4
26 Did me discourse, I will enchant thine ear,
Or like a fairy, trap upon the green,
Or, like a nymph with long dishevell'd hair,
Dance on the sands, and yet no footing seen
Love is a spirit all compact of fire,
Not gross to sink, but light, and will aspire Ib 1 145
27 Round-hoof'd, short jointed, fetlocks shag and long
Broad breast, full eye, small head and nostril wide,
High crest, short ears, strait legs and passing
strong,
Thin mane, thick tail, broad buttock, tender hide
Look, what a horse should have he did not lack
Save a proud rider on so proud a back Ib 1 295
28 By this, poor Wat, far off upon a hill
Stands on his hinder legs with listening ear,
To hearken if his foes pursue him still Ib 1 697
29 Good friend for Jesu's sake forbear
To dig the dust enclosed here
Blest be the man that spares these stones,
And curst be he that moves my bones
Shakespeare's Epitaph (chosen by himself for his tomb at Stratford-on-Avon)
30 Item I give unto my wife my second best bed with the furniture Will, 1616

1813-1890

- 1 O Britannia, the pride of the ocean,
The home of the brave and the free,
The shrine of the sailor's devotion,
No land can compare unto thee!
The Red, White, and Blue. First line changed to 'Columbia, the gem of the ocean', when sung by Shaw in America. Attrib. also to Thomas à Becket, 1850

- 2 All great truths begin as blasphemies.
Annajanska (1919), p. 262
- 3 One man that has a mind and knows it, can always beat ten men who havnt and dont.
The Apple Cart (1930), Act I
- 4 What Englishman will give his mind to politics as long as he can afford to keep a motor car? Ib.
- 5 I never resist temptation, because I have found that things that are bad for me do not tempt me.
Ib. Act II
- 6 You can always tell an old soldier by the inside of his holsters and cartridge boxes. The young ones carry pistols and cartridges: the old ones, grub.
Arms and the Man, Act I
- 7 I never apologize. Ib. Act III
- 8 You're not a man, you're a machine. Ib.
- 9 When a stupid man is doing something he is ashamed of, he always declares that it is his duty.
Cæsar and Cleopatra, Act III
- 10 He who has never hoped can never despair.
Ib. Act IV
- 11 A man of great common sense and good taste,—meaning thereby a man without originality or moral courage. Ib. Notes. Julius Cæsar
- 12 We have no more right to consume happiness without producing it than to consume wealth without producing it. Candida, Act I
- 13 Do you think that the things people make fools of themselves about are any less real and true than the things they behave sensibly about? Ib.
- 14 It is easy—terribly easy—to shake a man's faith in himself. To take advantage of that to break a man's spirit is devil's work. Ib.
- 15 I'm only a beer teetotaller, not a champagne tee-

the British War Office. Ib.
- 19 Stimulate the phagocytes.
The Doctor's Dilemma (1906), Act I
- 20 All professions are conspiracies against the laity. Ib.

- 21 I believe in Michael Angelo, Velasquez, and Rembrandt; in the might of design, the mystery of color,
the redemption of all things by Beauty everlasting,
and the message of Art that has made these hands
blessed. The Doctor's Dilemma (1906), Act IV
- 22 With the single exception of Homer, there is no
eminent writer, not even Sir Walter Scott, whom I can despise so entirely as I despise Shakespeare when I measure my mind against his. . . . It would positively be a relief to me to dig him up and throw stones at him.

- 24 It's all that the young can do for the old, to shock
them and keep them up to date.
Fanny's First Play (1911), Induction
- 25 You don't expect me to know what to say about a play when I don't know who the author is, do you?
. . . If it's by a good author, it's a good play, naturally.
That stands to reason. Ib. Epilogue
- 26 What God hath joined together no man shall ever put asunder: God will take care of that.
Getting Married (1911), p. 216
- 27 When you loved me I gave you the whole sun and stars to play with. I gave you eternity in a single moment, strength of the mountains in one clasp of your arms, and the volume of all the seas in one impulse of your soul. Ib. p. 278
- 28 We possessed all the universe together; and you ask me to give you my scanty wages as well. I have given you the greatest of all things; and you ask me to give you little things. I gave you your own soul: you ask me for my body as a plaything. Was it not enough? Was it not enough? Ib.
- 29 I cannot bear men and women.
Heartbreak House (1919), Act II
- 30 Go anywhere in England, where there are natural, wholesome, contented, and really nice English people; and what do you always find? That the stables are the real centre of the household.
Ib. Act III
- 31 The captain is in his bunk, drinking bottled ditch-water; and the crew is gambling in the fore-castle.
She will strike and sink and split. Do you think the laws of God will be suspended in favour of England because you were born in it? Ib.
- 32 Money is indeed the most important thing in the world; and all sound and successful personal and national morality should have this fact for its basis.
The Irrational Knot (1905), Preface, p. xiv
- 33 Though the Life Force supplies us with its own purpose, it has no other brains to work with than those it has painfully and imperfectly evolved in he is—is a trial of which you can have no conception. Ib. ch. 18

- 1 The Pilgrim of Eternity, whose fame
Over his living head like Heaven is bent,
An early but enduring monument,
Came, veiling all the lightnings of his song
In sorrow. Adonais, xxx
- 2 A pard-like Spirit, beautiful and swift—
A Love in desolation masked—a Power
Girt round with weakness,—it can scarce uplift
The weight of the superincumbent hour,
It is a dying lamp, o falling shower,
A breaking billow,—even whilst we speak.
Is it not broken? Ib xxxii
- 3 A herd—abandoned deer struck by the hunter's dart
Ib xxxiii
- 4 Our Adonais has drunk poison—oh!
What deaf and viperous murderer could crown
Life's early cup with such a draught of woe?
Ib xxxiv
- 5 He wakes or sleeps with the enduring dead,
Thou canst not soar where he is sitting now—
Dust to the dust! but the pure spirit shall flow
Back to the burning fountain whence it came,
A portion of the Eternal Ib xxxviii
- 6 He hath awakened from the dream of life—
'Tis we, who lost in stormy visions, keep
With phantoms an unprofitable strife,
And in mad trance, strike with our spirit's knife
Invulnerable nothings Ib xxxix
- 7 He has out-soared the shadow of our night,
Envy and calumny and hate and pain
And thot unrest which men miscall delight,
Can touch him not and torture not again,
From the contagion of the world's slow stain
He is secure, and now can never mourn
A heart grown cold, o head grown grey in vain Ib xl
- 8 He lives, he wakes,—'tis Death is dead, not he Ib xli
- 9 He is made one with Nature: there is heard
His voice in all her music, from the moan
Of thunder, to the song of night's sweet bird Ib xlii
- 10 He is a portion of the loveliness
Which once he made more lovely Ib xliii
- 11 The inheritors of unfulfilled renown
Rose from their thrones, built beyond mortal thought
Far in the Unapparent Ib xlv
- 12 Sublimely mild, a Spirit without spot [Sidney] Ib
- 13 Oblivion as they rose shrank like a thing reproved Ib
- 14 What Adonais is, why fear we to become? Ib li
- 15 The One remains, the many change and pass,
Heaven's light forever shines, Earth's shadows fly,
Life, like a dome of many coloured glass,
Stains the white radiance of Eternity. Ib lii
- 16 The soul of Adonais, like a star,
Beacons from the abode where the Eternal are Ib lv
- 17 The lone Chorasman shore Alastor, l 272
- 18 But thou art fled
Like some frail exhalation Ib l 686
- 19 Pale despair and cold tranquillity,
Nature's vast frame, the web of human things,
Birth and the grave, that are not as they were Alastor, l 718
- 20 Arethusa arose
From her couch of snows
In the Aegean mountains,—
From cloud and from erag,
With many a jag,
Sleeping her bright fountains. Arethusa
- 21 Like friends once parted
Grown single-hearted Ib
- 22 'Do you not hear the Aziola cry?
'Methinks she must be nigh,'
Said Mary as we sat
In dusk, ere stars were lit, or candles brought,
And I, who thought
'This Aziola was some tedious woman,
Asked, 'Who is Aziola?' The Aziola
- 23 Give yourself no unnecessary pain,
My dear Lord Cardinal Here, Mother, tie
My girdle for me, and bind up this hair
In any simple knot, ay, that does well
And yours I see is coming down: How often
I have done this for one another, now
We shall not do it any more: My Lord,
We are quite ready: Well, 'tis very well
The Cardinal, v. v 153
- 24 A widow bird sate mourning for her love
Upon a wintry bough,
The frozen wind crept on above,
The freezing stream below
There was no leaf upon the forest bare,
No flower upon the ground,
And little motion in the air
Except the mill wheel's sound
Charles the First, sc v, l 10
- 25 I bring fresh showers for the thirsting flowers,
From the seas and the streams,
I bear light shade for the leaves when laid
In their noonday dreams The Cloud
- 26 I wield the flail of the lashing hail,
And whiten the green plains under,
And then again I dissolve it in rain,
And laugh as I pass in thunder Ib
- 27 I sift the snow on the mountains below,
And their great pines grow nighast,
And all the night 'tis my pillow white,
While I sleep in the arms of the blast
Sublime on the towers of my sky bowers,
Lightning my pilot sits,
In a cavern under is fettered the thunder,
It struggles and howls at fits Ib
- 28 And I all the while bask in Heaven's blue smile,
Whilst he is dissolving in rains Ib
- 29 That orb'd maiden, with white fire laden,
Whom mortals call the Moon,
Glides glimmering o'er my fleece-lil' floor,
By the midnight breezes strewn;
And wherever the beat of her unseen feet,
Which only the angels hear,
May have broken the roof of my tent's thin roof,
The stars peep behind her and peer,
And I laugh to see them whirl and flee
Like a swarm of golden bees,

- When I widen the rent in my wind-built tent,
Till the calm rivers, lakes, and seas,
Like strips of the sky fallen through me on high,
Are each paved with the moon and these.
The Cloud
- 1 I am the daughter of Earth and Water,
And the nursling of the Sky;
I pass through the pores of the ocean and shores;
I change, but I cannot die.
For after the rain when with never a stain
The pavilion of Heaven is bare,
And the winds and sunbeams with their convex gleams
Build up the blue dome of air,
I silently laugh at my own cenotaph,
And out of the caverns of rain,
Like a child from the womb, like a ghost from the tomb,
I arise and unbuild it again. Ib.
- 2 How wonderful is Death,
Death and his brother Sleep!
One pale as yonder wan and horned moon,
With lips of lurid blue,
The other glowing like the vital morn,
When throned on ocean's wave
It breathes over the world:
Yet both so passing strange and wonderful!
The Daemon of the World, Part 1, l. 1
- 3 My Song, I fear that thou wilt find but few
Who fitly shall conceive thy reasoning,
Of such hard matter dost thou entertain.

- 4 My last delight! tell them that they are dull,
And bid them own that thou art beautiful. Ib.
- 5 Sweet as stops
Of planetary music heard in trance. Ib. l. 85
- 6 The spirit of the worm beneath the sod
In love and worship, blends itself with God. Ib. l. 128
- 7 The fields of Immortality. Ib. l. 133
- 8 Are we not formed, as notes of music are,
For one another, though dissimilar. Ib. l. 142
- 9 I never was attached to that great sect,
Whose doctrine is, that each one should select
Out of the crowd a mistress or a friend,
And all the rest, though fair and wise, commend
To cold oblivion. Ib. l. 149
- 10 Who travel to their home among the dead
By the broad highway of the world, and so
With one chained friend, perhaps a jealous foe,
The dreariest and the longest journey go. Ib. l. 156
- 11 True Love in this differs from gold and clay,
That to divide is not to take away. Ib. l. 160
- 12 A ship is floating in the harbour now,
A wind is hovering o'er the mountain's brow;
There is a path on the sea's azure floor,
No keel has ever ploughed that path before. Ib. l. 408
- 13 An isle under Ionian skies,
Beautiful as a wreck of Paradise. Ib. l. 422
- 14 Day and night, aloof, from the high towers
And terraces, the Earth and Ocean seem
To sleep in one another's arms, and dream
Of waves, flowers, clouds, woods, rocks, and all that we Read in their smiles, and call reality. Ib. l. 508
- 15 I pant, I sink, I tremble, I expire!
Epipsychidion, l. 591
- 16 Chameleons feed on light and air:
Poets' food is love and fame. An Exhortation
- 17 And bloody Faith the foulest birth of time.
Feelings of a Republican
- 18 Time's printless torrent grew
A scroll of crystal, blazoning the name
Of Adonais! Fragment on Keats
- 19 My head is wild with weeping.
Fragment: My head is wild
- 20 My spirit like a charmed bark doth swim
Upon the liquid waves of thy sweet singing.
Fragment: To One Singing
- 21 Good-night? ah! no; the hour is ill
Which severs those it should unite;
Let us remain together still,
Then it will be good night. Good Night
- 22 To hearts which near each other move
From evening close to morning light,
The night is good; because, my love,
They never say good-night. Ib.
- 23 Life may change, but it may fly not;
Hope may vanish, but can die not;
Truth be veiled, but still it burneth;
Love repulsed,—but it returneth! Hellas, l. 34
- 24 Let there be light! said Liberty,
And like sunrise from the sea,
Athens arose! Ib. l. 682
- 25 The world's great age begins anew,
The golden years return,
The earth doth like a snake renew
Her winter weeds outworn;
Heaven smiles, and faiths and empires gleam,
Like wrecks of a dissolving dream.
A brighter Hellas rears its mountains
From waves serener far;
A new Peneus rolls his fountains
Against the morning star.
Where fairer Tempes bloom, there sleep
Young Cyclads on a sunnier deep.
A loftier Argo cleaves the main,
Fraught with a later prize;
Another Orpheus sings again,
And loves, and weeps, and dies.
A new Ulysses leaves once more
Calypso for his native shore. Ib. l. 1060
- 26 Riddles of death Thebes never knew. Ib. l. 1083
- 27 Another Athens shall arise,
And to remoter time
Bequeath, like sunset to the skies,
The splendour of its prime;
And leave, if nought so bright may live,
All earth can take or Heaven can give.
Saturn and Love their long repose
Shall burst, more bright and good
Than all who fell, than One who rose,
Than many unsubdued:
Not gold, not blood, their altar dowers,
But votive tears and symbol flowers.

- 1 Within the surface of Time's fleeting river
Its wrinkled image lies, as then it lay
Immovably unquiet, and for ever
It trembles, but it cannot pass away!
Ode to Liberty, l 76
- 2 I stood within the City disinterr'd,
And heard the autumnal leaves like light footfalls
Of spirits passing through the streets, and heard
The Mountain's slumbrous voice at intervals
Thrill through those roofless halls
Ode to Naples l 1
- 3 Long lost, late won, and yet but half-regained
Ib l 58
- 4 O wild West Wind, thou breath of Autumn's being,
Thou, from whose unseen presence the leaves dead
Are driven, like ghosts from an enchanter fleeing,
Yellow, and black, and pale and hectic red,
Pestilence-stricken multitudes O thou,
Who chariotest to their dark wintry bed
The winged seeds, where they lie cold and low,
Each like a corpse within its grave, until Thine azure sister of the spring shall blow
Her clarion o'er the dreaming earth, and fill (Driving sweet buds like flocks to feed in air)
With living hues and odours plain and hill
Wild Spirit, which art moving everywhere,
Destroyer and preserver, hear, oh, hear!
Ode to the West Wind, l 1
- 5 Shook from the tangled boughs of Heaven and Ocean,
Angels of rain and lightning Ib l 17
- 6 Like the bright hair uplifted from the head
Of some fierce Maenad Ib l 20
- 7 Thou dirge
Of the dying year, to which this closing night
Will be the dome of a vast sepulchre. Ib l 23
- 8 Thou who didst waken from his summer dreams
The blue Mediterranean, where he lay,
Lulled by the coil of his crystalline streams
Beside a pumice isle in Baiae's bay,
And saw in sleep old palaces and towers
Quivering within the wave's intenser day,
All overgrown with azure moss and flowers
So sweet, the sense faints picturing them Ib l 29
- 9 Far below
The sea blooms and the oozy woods which wear
The sapless foliage of the ocean, know
Thy voice and suddenly grow gray with fear,
And tremble and despoil themselves Ib l 38
- 10 If I were a dead leaf thou mightest bear,
If I were a swift cloud to fly with thee,
A wave to pant beneath thy power, and share
The impulse of thy strength, only less free
Than thou, O uncontrollable! If even
I were as in my boyhood, and could be
The comrade of thy wanderings over Heaven,
As then, when to outstrip thy swiftest speed
Scarce seemed a vision, I would ne'er have striven
As thus with thee in prayer in my sore need,
Oh, lift me as a wave, a leaf, a cloud!
I fall upon the thorns of life! I bleed! Ib l 43
- 11 Make me thy lyre, even as the forest is
What if my leaves are falling like its own?
The tumult of thy mighty harmonies
Will take from both a deep, autumnal tone,
Sweet though in sadness Be thou, Spirit fierce,
My spirit! Be thou me, impetuous one!
Drive my dead thoughts over the universe
Like withered leaves to quicken a new birth!
And, by the incantation of this verse,
Scatter, as from an unextinguished hearth
Ashes and sparks, my words among mankind!
Be through my lips to unawakened earth
The trumpet of a prophecy! O, Wind,
If Winter comes, can Spring be far behind?
Ode to the West Wind, 37

- 2 On a poet's lips I slept
Dreaming like a love-adept
In the sound his breathing kept;
Nor seeks nor finds he mortal blisses,
But feeds on the ærial kisses
Of shapes that haunt thought's wildernesses.
He will watch from dawn to gloom
The lake-reflected sun illumine
The yellow bees in the ivy-bloom,
Nor heed, nor see, what things they be;
But from these create he can
Forms more real than living man,
Nurslings of immortality! Ib. 737
- 3 That sense, which when the winds of Spring
In rarest visitation, or the voice
Of one beloved heard in youth alone,
Fills the faint eyes with falling tears which dim
The radiant looks of unbewailing flowers,
And leaves this peopled earth a solitude
When it returns no more. Ib. II. iv. 12

With their love the breath between them;
And thy smiles before they dwindle
Make the cold air fire; then screen them
In those looks, where whoso gazes
Faints, entangled in their mazes.
Child of Light! thy limbs are burning
Through the vest which seems to hide them;
As the radiant lines of morning
Through the clouds ere they divide them;
And this atmosphere divinest

Sceptreless, free, uncircumscribed, but man
Equal, unclassed, tribeless, and nationless,
Exempt from awe, worship, degree, the king

Passionless?—no, yet free from guilt or pain,
Which were, for his will made or suffered them,
Nor yet exempt, though ruling them like slaves,
From chance, and death, and mutability,

Bare Winter suddenly was changed to Spring,
And gentle odours led my steps astray,
Mixed with a sound of water's murmuring
Along a shelving bank of turf, which lay
Under a copse, and hardly dared to fling
Its green arms round the bosom of the stream,
But kissed it and then fled, as thou mightst in dream. The Question
- 21 There grew pied wind-flowers and violets,
Daisies, those pearly Arcturi of the earth,
The constellated flower that never sets. Ib.
- 22 And in the warm hedge grew lush eglantine,
Green cowbind and the moonlight-coloured may,
And cherry-blossoms, and white cups, whose wine
Was the bright dew, yet drained not by the day;
And wild roses, and ivy serpentine,
With its dark buds and leaves, wandering astray;
And flowers azure, black, and streaked with gold,
Fairer than any wakened eyes behold. Ib.

- 1 Hail to thee, blithe Spirit!
Bird thou never wert,
That from Heaven, or near it,
Pourest thy full heart
In profuse strains of unpremeditated art
To a Skylark
- 2 And singing still dost soar, and soaring ever singest
1b
- 3 Like an unbodied joy whose race is just begun
1b
- 4 Thou art unseen, but yet I hear thy shrill delight
1b
- 5 Keen as are the arrows
Of that silver sphere,
Whose intense lamp narrows
In the white dawn clear
Until we hardly see,—we feel that it is there
1b
- 6 Like a Poet hidden
In the light of thought,
Singing hymns unbidden,
Till the world is wrought
To sympathy with hopes and fears it heeded not Like a high-born maiden
In a palace tower,
Soothing her love-laden
Soul in secret hour
With music sweet as love, which overflows her bower
1b
- 7 Chorus Hymeneal,
Or triumphal chant,
Matched with thine would be all
But an empty vaunt,
A thing wherein we feel there is some hidden want.
1b
- 8 What objects are the fountains
Of thy happy strain?
What fields, or waves, or mountains?
What shapes of sky or plain?
What love of thine own kind? what ignorance of pain?
1b
- 9 With thy clear keen joyance
Languor cannot be
Shadow of annoyance
Never came near thee
Thou lovest—but ne'er knew love's sad satiety
Waking or asleep,
Thou of death must deem
Things more true and deep
Than we mortals dream,
Or how could thy notes flow in such a crystal stream?
We look before and after,
We pine for what is not,
Our sincerest laughter
With some pain is fraught,
Our sweetest songs are those that tell of saddest thought
1b
- 10 Better than all measures
Of delightful sound,
Better than all treasures
That in books are found,
Thy skill to poet were, thou scorner of the ground!
Teach me half the gladness
That thy brain must know,
Such harmonious madness
From my lips would flow
The world should listen then—as I am listening now

- 14 Everything almost
Which is Nature's, and may be Untainted by man's misery.
1b
- 15 I love tranquil solitude,
And such society
As is quiet, wise, and good,
Between thee and me
What difference? but thou dost possess
The things I seek, not love them less
1b
- 16 I love Love—though he has wings,
And like light can flee,
But above all other things,
Spirit, I love thee—
Thou art love and life! Oh, come,
Make once more my heart thy home.

- 1 Music, when soft voices die,
Vibrates in the memory—
Odours, when sweet violets sicken,
Live within the sense they quicken.
Rose leaves, when the rose is dead,
Are heaped for the beloved's bed;
And so thy thoughts, when thou art gone,
Love itself shall slumber on.

With which I worship thine.

Or because—or because—after all we do think so,
Or because we were told so, and think we must think so,

- Or because we once thought so, and think we still think so,
Or because having thought so, we think we will think so. Memoir (1906), end of ch. II

But came the waves and washed it away:
Again I wrote it with a second hand,
But came the tide, and made my pains his prey.
Vain man, said she, that dost in vain assay,
A mortal thing so to immortalize,
For I myself shall like to this decay,
And eke my name be wiped out likewise.
Not so, quoth I, let baser things devise
To die in dust, but you shall live by fame:
My verse your virtues rare shall eternize,
And in the heavens write your glorious name,
Where when as death shall all the world subdue,
Our love shall live, and later life renew Ib. lxxv

- 14 In winter I get up at night
And dress by yellow candle-light.
In summer, quite the other way,—
I have to go to bed by day.
I have to go to bed and see
The birds still hopping on the tree,
Or hear the grown-up people's feet
Still going past me in the street.
And does it not seem hard to you,
When all the sky is clear and blue,
And I should like so much to play,
To have to go to bed by day?

- 16 If I have faltered more or less
 In my great task of happiness,
 If I have moved among my race
 And shown no glorious morning face;
 If beams from happy human eyes
 Have moved me not, if morning skies,
 Books, and my food, and summer rain
 Knocked on my sullen heart in vain —
 Lord, thy most pointed pleasure take
 And stab my spirit broad awake;
 Or, Lord, if too obdurate I,
 Choose thou, before that spirit die,
 A piercing pain, a killing sin,
 And to my dead heart run them in!

- 21 I can not eat but little meat,
 My stomach is not good:
 But sure I think, that I can drink
 With him that wears a hood.
 Though I go bare, take ye no care,
 I am nothing acold:

I stuff my skin, so full within,
Of jolly good ale and old,
Back and side go bare, go bare,
Both foot and hand go cold:
But belly God send thee good ale enough,
Whether it be new or old.

- 8 Froude informs the Scottish youth
That parsons do not care for truth.
The Reverend Canon Kingsley cries
History is a pack of lies.
What cause for judgments so malign?
A brief reflection solves the mystery—
Froude believes Kingsley a divine,
And Kingsley goes to Froude for history.

- 29 Maiden, and mistress of the months and stars
Now folded in the flowerless fields of heaven.
Atalanta in Calydon. Collected Poetical Works (1924), vol. ii, p. 247, l. 1
- 30 When the hounds of spring are on winter's traces,
The mother of months in meadow or plain
Fills the shadows and windy places
With lisp of leaves and ripple of rain;
And the brown bright nightingale amorous
Is half assuaged for Itylus,
For the Thracian ships and the foreign faces,
The tongueless vigil and all the pain.
Come with bows bent and with emptying of quivers,
Maiden most perfect, lady of light,
With a noise of winds and many rivers,
With a clamour of waters, and with might;
Bind on thy sandals, O thou most fleet,
Over the splendour and speed of thy feet;
For the faint east quickens, the wan west shivers,
Round the feet of the day and the feet of the night.

Where shall we find her, how shall we sing to her,
Fold our hands round her knees, and cling?
O that man's heart were as fire and could spring to her,
Fire, or the strength of the streams that spring!
For the stars and the winds are unto her
As raiment, as songs of the harp player,
For the risen stars and the fallen cling to her,
And the southwest wind and west-wind sing
For winter's rains and runs are over,
And all the season of snows and sins,
The days dividing lover and lover,
The light that loses, the night that wins,
And time remembered is grief forgotten,
And frosts are slain and flowers begotten,
And in green underwood and cover
Blossom by blossom the spring begins
Atalanta in Calydon, Chorus, p 249

1 And the hoofed heel of a satyr crushes
The chestnut-husk at the chestnut root Ib p 250

2 And Pan by noon and Bacchus by night,
Fleetest of foot than the fleet foot kid,
Follows with dancing and fills with delight
The Maenad and the Bassarid,
And soft as lips that laugh and hide
The laughing leaves of the tree divide,
And screen from seeing and leave in sight
The god pursuing, the maiden hid Ib

3 The ivy falls with the Bacchanal's hair
Over her eyebrows hiding her eyes,
The wild vine slipping down leaves bare
Her bright breast shortening into sighs Ib

4 The wolf that follows, the fawn that flies Ib

5 Before the beginning of years
There came to the making of man
Time with a gift of tears,
Grief with a glass that ran
Pleasure with pain for leaven,
Summer with flowers that fell,
Remembrance fallen from heaven,
And Madness risen from hell,
Strength without hands to smite,
Love that endures for a breath,
Night, the shadow of light,
And Life, the shadow of death Ib p 258

6 For a day and a night and a morrow,
That his strength might endure for a span
With travail and heavy sorrow,
The holy spirit of man Ib p 259

7 Eyesight and speech they wrought
For the veil of the soul therein,
A time for labour and thought,
A time to serve and to sin,
They gave him light in his ways,
And love, and a space for delight,
And beauty, and length of days,
And night, and sleep in the night
His speech is a burning fire,
With his lips he travaileth,
In his heart is a blind desire,
In his eyes foreknowledge of death,
He weaves and is clothed with decision,
Sows and he shall not reap,
His life is a watch or a vision
Between a sleep and a sleep Ib

8 We have seen thee, O love, thou art fair, thou art goodly, O Love
Atalanta in Calydon, Chorus, p 273

11 Shall I strew on thee rose or rue or laurel,
Brother, on this that was the veil of thee?
Or quiet sea flower moulded by the sea,
Or simplest growth of meadow-sweet or sorrel?
Ave atque Vale, 1

12 Now all strange hours and all strange loves are over,
Dreams and desires and sombre songs and sweet,
Hast thou found place at the great knees and feet
Of some pale Titan woman like a lover,
Such as thy vision here solicited,
Under the shadow of her fair vast head,
The deep division of prodigious breasts,
The solemn slope of mighty limbs asleep? Ib vi

13 Sleep, and if life was bitter to thee, pardon,
If sweet, give thanks, thou hast no more to live,
And to give thanks is good, and to forgive Ib xvii

14 For thee O now a silent soul, my brother,
Take at my hands this garland and farewell
Thim is the leaf, and chill the wintry smell,
And chill the solemn earth a fatal mother,
With sadder than the Niobeon womb
And in the hollow of her breasts a tomb Ib xviii

15 There lies not any troublous thing before,
Nor sight nor sound to war against thee more,
For whom all winds are quiet as the sun,
All waters as the shore Ib

26 But sweet as the rind was the core is,
We are fain of thee still, we are fain,
O sanguine and subtle Dolores,
Our Lady of Pain Ib xiii

27 The delight that consumes the desire,
The desire that outruns the delight Ib xiv

- 1 For the crown of our life as it closes
Is darkness, the fruit thereof dust;
No thorns go as deep as a rose's,
And love is more cruel than lust.
Time turns the old days to derision,
Our loves into corpses or wives;
And marriage and death and division
Make barren our lives. Dolores, xx
- 2 Ringed round with a flame of fair faces,
And splendid with swords. Ib. xxx
- 3 What ailed us, O gods, to desert you
For creeds that refuse and restrain?
Come down and redeem us from virtue,
Our Lady of Pain. Ib. xxxv
- 4 On thy bosom though many a kiss be,
There are none such as knew it of old.
Was it Alciphron once or Arisbe,
Male ringlets or feminine gold,
That thy lips met with under the statue,
Whence a look shot out sharp after thieves
From the eyes of the garden-god at you
Across the fig-leaves? Ib. xxxviii
- 5 Old poets outsing and outlove us,
And Catullus makes mouths at our speech. Ib. xliii
- 6 Where are they, Cotytto or Venus,
Astarte or Ashtaroth, where?
Do their hands as we touch come between us?
Is the breath of them hot in thy hair?
From their lips have thy lips taken fever,
With the blood of their bodies grown red?
Hast thou left upon earth a believer
If these men are dead? Ib. lii
- 7 O daughter of Death and Priapus,
Our Lady of Pain. Ib. liii
- 8 I shall remember while the light lives yet
And in the night time I shall not forget. Erotion
- 9 There was a poor poet named Clough,
Whom his friends all united to puff,
But the public, though dull,
Had not such a skull
As belonged to believers in Clough.

- 13 In a coign of the cliff between lowland and highland,
At the sea-down's edge between windward and lee,
Walled round with rocks as an inland island,
The ghost of a garden fronts the sea.
A Forsaken Garden
- 14 The fields fall southward, abrupt and broken,
To the low last edge of the long lone land.
If a step should sound or a word be spoken,
Would a ghost not rise at the strange guest's hand?
So long have the grey bare walls lain guestless,
Through branches and briars if a man make way,
He shall find no life but the sea-wind's, restless
Night and day. Ib.
- 15 Heart handfast in heart as they stood, 'Look thither,' Did he whisper? 'look forth from the flowers to the sea;
For the foam-flowers endure when the rose-blossoms
wither
And men that love lightly may die—but we?'
And the same wind sang and the same waves
whitened,
And or ever the garden's last petals were shed,
In the lips that had whispered, the eyes that had lightened,
Love was dead. A Forsaken Garden
- 16 Stretched out on the spoils that his own hand spread.
As a god self-slain on his own strange altar,
Death lies dead. Ib.

- 24 Then star nor sun shall waken,
Nor any change of light:
Nor sound of waters shaken,
Nor any sound or sight:
Nor wintry leaves nor vernal,
Nor days nor things diurnal;
Only the sleep eternal
In an eternal night. Ib.

And I were lord in May Ib
- 31 If you were queen of pleasure,
And I were king of pain Ib
- 32 But you would have felt my soul in a kiss
And known that once if I loved you well,
And I would have given my soul for this
To burn for ever in burning hell Les Noyades
- 33 Ask nothing more of me, sweet,
All I can give you I give
Heart of my heart, were it more,
More would be laid at your feet
Love that should help you to live,
Song that should spur you to soar The Oblation

- 1 I turn to thee as some green afternoon
Turns toward sunset, and is loth to die;
Ah God, ah God, that day should be so soon!
In the Orchard
- 2 For a day and a night Love sang to us, played with us,
Folded us round from the dark and the light;
And our hearts were fulfilled with the music he made
with us,
Made with our hands and our lips while he stayed
with us,
Stayed in mid passage his pinions from flight
For a day and a night. At Parting
- 3 The world has no such flowers in any land,
And no such pearl in any gulf the sea,
As any babe on any mother's knee. Pelagius
- 4 I have lived long enough, having seen one thing, that love hath an end;
Goddess and maiden and queen, be near me now and befriend. Hymn to Proserpine
- 5 Yea, is not even Apollo, with hair and harpstring of gold,
A bitter God to follow, a beautiful God to behold?
I am sick of singing: the bays burn deep and chafe:
I am fain
To rest a little from praise and grievous pleasure and pain. Ib.
- 6 Wilt thou yet take all, Galilean? but these thou shalt not take,
The laurel, the palms and the paeon, the breasts of
the nymphs in the brake;
Breasts more soft than a dove's, that tremble with tenderer breath;
And all the wings of the Loves, and all the joy before death. Ib.
- 7 For no man under the sky lives twice, outliving his
day. Ib.
- 8 Thou hast conquered, O pale Galilean; the world has grown grey from Thy breath;
We have drunken of things Lethean, and fed on the fullness of death.
Laurel is green for a season, and love is sweet for a day;
But love grows bitter with treason, and laurel outlives not May. Ib.
- 9 For the old faiths loosen and fall, the new years ruin and rend. Ib.
- 10 O ghastly glories of saints, dead limbs of gibbeted Gods! Ib.
- 11 Impelled of invisible tides, and fulfilled of unspeak-able things. Ib.
- 12 All ye as a wind shall go by, as a fire shall ye pass and
be past;
Ye are Gods, and behold, ye shall die, and the waves be upon you at last. Ib.
- 13 Though the feet of thine high priests tread where thy lords and our forefathers trod,
Though these that were Gods are dead, and thou being dead art a God,
Though before thee the throned Cytherean be fallen,
and hidden her head,
Yet thy kingdom shall pass, Galilean, thy dead shall go down to thee dead. Ib.
- 14 As the deep dim soul of a star. Ib.
- 15 A little soul for a little bears up this corpse which is
man. Hymn to Proserpine
- 16 Love alone, with yearning
Heart for astrolabe,
Takes the star's height, burning
O'er the babe. A Rhyme
- 17 Say, was not this thy Passion, to foreknow
In death's worst hour the works of Christian men?
On the Russian Persecution of the Jews
- 18 In the heart is the prey for gods,
Who crucify hearts, not hands. Satia te Sanguine
- 19 Good hap to the fresh fierce weather,
The quiver and beat of the sea!
While three men hold together,
The kingdoms are less by three.
A Song in Time of Order 1852
- 20 They have tied the world in a tether,
They have bought over God with a fee. Ib.
- 21 When the devil's riddle is mastered
And the galley-bench creaks with a Pope,
We shall see Buonaparte the bastard
Kick heels with his throat in a rope. Ib.
- 22 Had you loved me once, as you have not loved;
Had the chance been with us that has not been.
The Triumph of Time
- 23 I have put my days and dreams out of mind,
Days that are over, dreams that are done. Ib.
- 24 The strong sea-daisies feast on the sun. Ib.
- 25 Who swims in sight of the great third wave
That never a swimmer shall cross or climb. Ib.
- 26 A broken blossom, a ruined rhyme. Ib.
- 27 I had wrung life dry for your lips to drink,
Broken it up for your daily bread. Ib.
- 28 Content you;
The gate is strait; I shall not be there. Ib.
- 29 I will go back to the great sweet mother,
Mother and lover of men, the sea.
I will go down to her, I and no other,
Close with her, kiss her and mix her with me. Ib.
- 30 I shall sleep, and move with the moving ships,
Change as the winds change, veer in the tide. Ib.
- 31 There lived a singer in France of old
By the tideless dolorous midland sea.
In a land of sand and ruin and gold
There shone one woman, and none but she. Ib.
- 32 In heaven,
If I cry to you then, will you hear or know? Ib.
- 33 One the last flower of Catholic love, that grows
Amid bare thorns their only thornless rose.

12 Quoth tongue of neither maid nor wife
To heart of neither wife nor maid—
Lead we not here a jolly life
Betwixt the shine and shade?

Quoth heart of neither maid nor wife
To tongue of neither wife nor maid—
Thou wagg'st, but I am worn with strife,
And feel like flowers that fade.

- 43 Ah God, for a man with heart, head, hand,
Like some of the simple great ones gone
For ever and ever by,
One still strong man in a blatant land,
Whatever they call him, what care I,
Aristocrat, democrat, autocrat—one
Who can rule and dare not lie.

- And ah for a man to arise in me,
That the man I am may cease to be!

- 9 Come into the garden, Maud,
For the black bat, night, has flown;
Come into the garden, Maud,
I am here at the gate alone;
And the woodbine spices are wafted abroad,
And the musk of the rose is blown
- 10 For a breeze of morning moves,
And the planet of Love is on high,
Beginning to faint in the light that she loves
On a bed of daffodil sky. Ib. xxii. i-ii
- 11 All night have the roses heard
The flute, violin, bassoon.
All night has the casement jessamine stirr'd
To the dancers dancing in tune,
Till a silence fell with the waking bird,
And a hush with the setting moon. Ib. iii
- 12 Whenever a Mareh-wind sighs
He sets the jewel-print of your feet
In violets blue as your eyes. Ib. v. ii
- 13 The slender acacia would not shake
One long milk-bloom on the tree;
The white ske-blossom fell into the lake
As the pimpernel dozed on the lea;
But the rose was awake all night for your sake,
Knowing your promise to me;
The lilies and roses were all awake,
They sigh'd for the dawn and thee. Ib. viii
- 14 Queen rose of the rosebud garden of girls. Ib. ix
- 15 There has fallen a splendid tear
From the passion-flower at the gate.
She is coming, my dove, my dear;
She is coming, my life, my fate;
The red rose cries, 'She is near, she is near;
And the white rose weeps, 'She is late!'
The larkspur listens, 'I hear, I hear;
And the lily whispers, 'I wait.'
She is coming, my own, my sweet;
Were it ever so airy a tread,
My heart would hear her and beat,
Were it earth in an earthy bed,
My dust would hear her and beat,
Had I lain for a century dead,
Would start and tremble under her feet,
And blossom in purple and red.

- 16 The Christless code,
That must have life for a blow. Ib. Pt. II. t. i
- 17 O that 'twere possible
After long grief and pain
To find the arms of my true love
Round me once again! Ib. iv. i
- 18 Ah Christ, that it were possible
For one short hour to see
The souls we loved, that they might tell us
What and where they be Ib. iii
- 19 But the churchmen fain would kill their church,
As the churches have kill'd their Christ. Ib. v. ii
- 20 O me, why have they not buried me deep enough?
Is it kind to have made me a grave so rough,
Me, that was never a quiet sleeper? Ib. xi
- 21 Bury me, bury me
Deeper, ever so little deeper. Ib.
- 22 My life has crept so long on a broken wing
Thro' cells of madness, haunts of horror and fear,
That I come to be grateful at last for a little thing Ib. Pt. III. vi. i
- 23 When the face of night is fair on the dewy downs,
And the shining daffodil dies. Ib.
- 24 The blood-red blossom of war with a heart of fire. Ib. iv
- 25 It is better to fight for the good, than to rail at the ill;
I have felt with my native land, I am one with my kind,
I embrace the purpose of God, and the doom assign'd. Ib. v
- 26 You must wake and call me early, call me early,
mother dear;
To-morrow 'ill be the happiest time of all the glad
New-year;
Of all the glad New-year, mother, the maddest
merriest day,
For I'm to be Queen o' the May, mother, I'm to be Queen o' the May. The May Queen
- 27 It seem'd so hard at first, mother, to leave the blessed sun,
And now it seems as hard to stay, and yet His will be done!
But still I think it can't be long before I find release;
And that good man, the clergyman, has told me
words of peace. Ib. Conclusion

- 1 All in the wild March-morning I heard the angels
call;
It was when the moon was setting, and the dark was over all;
The trees began to whisper, and the wind began to roll,
And in the wild March-morning I heard them call my soul. The May Queen. Conclusion

- 29 There lies a vale in Ida, lovelier
Than all the valleys of Ionian hills. Ænone, l. 1
- 30 O mother Ida, many-fountain'd Ida. Ib. l. 22
- 31 Dear mother Ida, harken ere I die.
It was the deep midnoon: one silvery cloud
Had lost his way between the piney sides
Of this long glen. Then to the bower they came,
Naked they came to that smooth-swarded bower,
And at their feet the crocus brake like fire,
Violet, amaracus, and asphodel,
Lotos and lilies. Ib. l. 89

The love of love. The Poet
- 41 And Freedom rear'd in that august sunrise
Her beautiful bold brow. Ib.
- 42 Vex not thou the poet's mind
With thy shallow wit;
Vex not thou the poet's mind;
For thou canst not fathom it.
Clear and bright it should be ever,
Flowing like a crystal river;
Bright as light, and clear as wind. The Poet's Mind
- 43 Dark-brow'd sophist, come not anear:
All the place is holy ground. Ib.

- 1 And he sat him down in a lonely place,
And chanted a melody loud and sweet,
That made the wild swan pause in her cloud,
And the lark drop down at his feet The Poet's Song

- 9 As thro' the land at eve we went,
And pluck'd the ripen'd ears,
We fell out, my wife and I,
O we fell out I know not why,
And kiss'd again with tears
And blessings on the falling out
That all the more endears,
When we fall out with those we love
And kiss again with tears! Ib II Intro Song

- 15 O hark, O hear! how thin and clear,
And thinner, clearer farther going!
O sweet and far from el' and fear
The horns of El'land faintly blowing! Ib
- 16 O love, they die in yon rich sky,
They faint on hill or field or river—
Our echoes roll from soul to soul,
And grow for ever and for ever
The Princess, IV Intro Song
- 17 Tears, idle tears, I know not what they mean,
Tears from the depth of some divine despair
Rise in the heart, and gather to the eyes,
In looking on the happy Autumn fields,
And thinking of the days that are no more Ib I 21
- 18 So sad, so fresh, the days that are no more Ib I 30
- 19 Ah, sad and strange as in dark summer dawns
The earliest pipe of half-awaken'd birds
To dying ears, when unto dying eyes
The casement slowly grows a glimmering square;
So sad, so strange, the days that are no more
Dear as remembered kisses after death,
And sweet as those by hopeless fancy feign'd
On lips that are for others deep as love,
Deep as first love, and wild with all regret,
O Death in Life, the days that are no more Ib I 31
- 20 O Swallow, Swallow, flying, flying South,
Fly to her, and fall upon her gilded eaves,
And tell her, tell her, what I tell to thee
O tell her, Swallow, thou that knowest each,
That bright and fierce and fickle is the South,
And dark and true and tender is the North Ib I 75
- 21 O tell her, Swallow, that thy brood is flown
Say to her, I do but wanton in the South,
But in the North long since my nest is made
O tell her brief is life but love is long
And brief the sun of summer in the North,
And brief the moon of beauty in the South
O Swallow, flying from the golden woods,
Fly to her, and pipe and woo her, and make her mine,
And tell her, tell her, that I follow thee Ib I 90
- 22 Thy voice is heard thro' rolling drums,
That beat to battle where he stands,
Thy face across his fancy comes,
And gives the battle to his hands
A moment, while the trumpets blow,
He sees his brood about thy knee,
The next, like fire he meets the foe
And strikes him dead for thine and thee Ib I 552
- 23 Man is the hunter, woman is his game Ib V, I 147
- 24 Man for the field and woman for the hearth
Man for the sword and for the needle she
Man with the head and woman with the heart
Man to command and woman to obey,
All else confusion Ib I 427

Upon the woman Ib I 205

- 1 Ask me no more: the moon may draw the sea;
The cloud may stoop from heaven and take the shape
With fold to fold, of mountain or of cape;
But O too fond, when have I answer'd thee?
Ask me no more.
Ask me no more: what answer should I give?
I love not hollow cheek or faded eye:
Yet, O my friend, I will not have thee die!
Ask me no more, lest I should bid thee live;
Ask me no more.
Ask me no more: thy fate and mine are seal'd:
I strove against the stream and all in vain:
Let the great river take me to the main:
No more, dear love, for at a touch I yield;
Ask me no more.
The Princess, vii. Introd. Song
- 2 Now sleeps the crimson petal, now the white;
Nor waves the cypress in the palace walk;
Nor winks the gold fin in the porphyry font:
The fire-fly wakens: waken thou with me.
Now droops the milk-white peacock like a ghost,
And like a ghost she glimmers on to me.
Now lies the Earth all Danaë to the stars,
And all thy heart lies open unto me.
Now slides the silent meteor on, and leaves
A shining furrow, as thy thoughts in me.
Now folds the lily all her sweetness up,
And slips into the bosom of the lake:
So fold thyself, my dearest, thou, and slip
Into my bosom and be lost in me. Ib. l. 161
- 3 Come down, O maid, from yonder mountain height:
What pleasure lives in height? Ib. l. 177
- 4 For Love is of the valley, come thou down
And find him; by the happy threshold, he,
Or hand in hand with Plenty in the maize,
Or red with spirted purple of the vats,
Or foxlike in the vine; nor cares to walk
With Death and Morning on the silver horns. Ib. l. 184
- 5 Sweet is every sound,
Sweeter thy voice, but every sound is sweet;
Myriads of rivulets hurrying thro' the lawn,
The moan of doves in immemorial elms,
And murmuring of innumerable bees. Ib. l. 203

- 16 At Flores in the Azores Sir Richard Grenville lay,
And a pinnace, like a fluttered bird, came flying from far away:
'Spanish ships of war at sea! we have sighted fifty-three!' The Revenge, i
- 17 Then sware Lord Thomas Howard: "Fore God I am
no coward;
But I cannot meet them here, for my ships are out of gear,
And the half my men are sick. I must fly, but follow quick.
We are six ships of the line; can we fight with fifty-three?" Ib.
- 18 Then spake Sir Richard Grenville: 'I know you are
no coward;
You fly them for a moment to fight with them again.
But I've ninety men and more that are lying sick ashore.
I should count myself the coward if I left them, my Lord Howard,
To these Inquisition dogs and the devildoms of Spain.' Ib. ii
- 19 So Lord Howard past away with five ships of war
that day,
Till he melted like a cloud in the silent summer
heaven;
But Sir Richard bore in hand all his sick men from the land
Very carefully and slow,
Men of Bideford in Devon,
And we laid them on the ballast down below;
For we brought them all aboard,
And they blest him in their pain, that they were not left to Spain,
To the thumbscrew and the stake, for the glory of the Lord. Ib. iii
- 20 'Shall we fight or shall we fly?
Good Sir Richard, tell us now,
For to fight is but to die!
There'll be little of us left by the time this sun be set.'
And Sir Richard said again: 'We be all good English men.
Let us bang these dogs of Seville, the children of the devil,
For I never turn'd my back upon Don or devil yet.'
Ib. iv
- 21 And the sun went down, and the stars came out far over the summer sea,
But never a moment ceased the fight of the one and the fifty-three.
Ship after ship, the whole night long, their high-built galleons came,
Ship after ship, the whole night long, with her battle-
thunder and flame;

- 12 Werther had a love for Charlotte
Such as words could never utter;
Would you know how first he met her?
She was cutting bread and butter.
Charlotte was a married lady,
And a moral man was Werther,
And for all the wealth of Indies,
Would do nothing for to hurt her.

So he sighed and pined and ogled,
And his passion boiled and bubbled,
Till he blew his silly brains out
And no more was by it troubled.

Charlotte, having seen his body
Borne before her on a shutter,
Like a well-conducted person,
Went on cutting bread and butter.

'Naught shelters thee, who wilt not shelter Me.' Ib.
- 20 I sought no more that after which I strayed
In face of man or maid;
But still within the little children's eyes
Seems something, something that replies,
They at least are for me, surely for me!
I turned me to them very wistfully;
But just as their young eyes grew sudden fair
With dawning answers there,
Their angel plucked them from me by the hair. Ib.

Epilogue to 'A Judgment in Heaven'

1 O world invisible, we view thee,
O world intangible, we touch thee,
O world unknowable, we know thee,
Inapprehensible, we clutch thee!

Does the fish soar to find the ocean,
The eagle plunge to find the air—
That we ask of the stars in motion
If they have rumour of thee there?

Not where the wheeling systems darken,
And our benumbed conceiving soars!—
The drift of pinions, would we hearken,
Beats at our own clay-shuttered doors.

The angels keep their ancient places;—
Turn but a stone, and start a wing!
'Tis ye, 'tis your estrangèd faces,
That miss the many-splendoured thing.

But (when so sad thou canst not sadder)
Cry;—and upon thy so sore loss
Shall shine the traffic of Jacob's ladder
Pitched betwixt Heaven and Charing Cross.

Yea, in the night, my Soul, my daughter,
Cry,—clinging Heaven by the hems;
And lo, Christ walking on the water
Not of Gennesareth, but Thames!

The Kingdom of God

2 It is little I repair to the matches of the Southron
folk,

Though my own red roses there may blow;
It is little I repair to the matches of the Southron
folk,

Though the red roses crest the caps I know.
For the field is full of shades as I near the shadowy coast,

And a ghostly batsman plays to the bowling of a ghost,
And I look through my tears on a soundless-clapping host

As the run-stealers flicker to and fro,

To and fro:—

O my Hornby and my Barlow long ago! At Lord's

3 Secret was the garden,

5 Where is the land of Luthany,
And where the region Elenore?
I do faint therefor.

When to the new eyes of thee
All things by immortal power,
Near or far,
Hiddenly
To each other linked are,
That thou canst not stir a flower
Without troubling of a star. Ib.

6 Lo, in the sanctuaried East,
Day, a dedicated priest
In all his robes pontifical exprest,
Lifteth slowly, lifteth sweetly,
From out its Orient tabernacle drawn,
Yon orbèd sacrament confest
Which sprinkles benediction through the dawn.
Orient Ode

7 Ah! let the sweet birds of the Lord
With earth's waters make accord;

Teach how the crucifix may be
Carven from the laurel-tree,
Fruit of the Hesperides
Burnish take on Eden-trees,
The Muses' sacred grove be wet
With the red dew of Olivet,
And Sappho lay her burning brows
In white Cecilia's lap of snows!

To a Poet Breaking Silence

8 Summer set lip to earth's bosom bare,
And left the flushed print in a poppy there. The Poppy

9 The sleep-flower sways in the wheat its head,
Heavy with dreams, as that with bread:
The goodly grain and the sun-flushed sleeper
The reaper reaps, and Time the reaper.

I hang 'mid men my needless head,
And my fruit is dreams, as theirs is bread:
The goodly men and the sun-hazed sleeper
Time shall reap, but after the reaper
The world shall glean of me, me the sleeper. Ib.

10 I had endured through watches of the dark
The abashless inquisition of each star. Sister Songs, i

11 The innocent moon, which nothing does but shine,
Moves all the labouring surges of the world. Ib.

12 What heart could have thought you?—

Past our devisal
(O filigree petal!)
Fashioned so purely,
Fragilely, surely,
From what Paradisal
Imagineless metal,
Too costly for cost? To a Snowflake

13 His hammer of wind,
And His graver of frost. Ib.

She only talks about her hair. The Way of a Maid

THOMAS TRATHERNE

1637?-1674

- 13 You never enjoy the world aught, till the sea itself floweth in your veins, till you are clothed with the heavens, and crowned with the stars, and perceive yourself to be the sole heir of the whole world, and more than so, because men are in it who are every one sole heirs as well as you. Till you can sing and rejoice and delight in God, as misers do in gold, and kings in sceptres, you never enjoy the world.
Centuries of Meditations Cent. 1, § 29
- 14 The corn was orient and immortal wheat, which never should be reaped, nor was ever sown. I thought it had stood from everlasting to everlasting
1b Cent. III, § 3
- 15 The Men! O what venerable and reverend creatures did the aged seem! Immortal Cherubims! And young men glittering and sparkling Angels, and maids strange seraphic pieces of life and beauty! Boys and girls tumbling in the street, and playing were moving jewels. I knew not that they were born or should die, but all things abided eternally as they were in their proper places

- 1 Our royal master saw, with heedful eyes,
The wants of his two universities:
Troops he to Oxford sent, as knowing why
That learned body wanted loyalty:
But books to Cambridge gave, as well discerning
That that right loyal body wanted learning.

At Even Ere the Sun Was Set

EDWARD SMITH UFFORD

1851-1929

- 33 Throw out the life line across the dark way,
There is a brother whom someone should save,
Throw out the life line, throw out the life line
Someone is sinking to-day Revivalist Hymn (1884)

MIGUEL DE UNAMUNO

1864-1937

- 1 Fe que no duda es fe muerta.
Faith which does not doubt is dead faith.
La Agonía del Cristianismo, p. 34
- 2 Cúrate de la afección de preocuparte cómo aparezcas a los demás. Cuidate sólo . . . de la idea que de ti Dios tenga.
Cure yourself of the inclination to bother about how you look to other people. Be concerned only . . . with the idea God has of you.

Reply to a question whether the public should be consulted about luxury trains. A. W. Cole's Letter, New York Times, 25 August 1918.

BARTOLOMEO VANZETTI

1888-1927

- 13 I found myself compelled to fight back from my eyes the tears, and quench my heart trobling to my throat to not weep before him. But Sacco's name will live in the hearts of the people, when your name, your laws, institutions, and your false god are but a dim remomoring of a cursed past in which man was wolf to the man.

Last speech to the Massachusetts court, which was trying him and Nicolo Sacco on charges of murder and robbery. Both were self-confessed anarchists and labour agitators. Both were convicted, and were executed 23 Aug. 1927

CHARLES JOHN VAUGHAN

1816-1897

- 14 Must you go? Can't you stay?
Remark with which he broke up awkward breakfast parties of schoolboys who were too shy to go. Story retold with the words transposed, 'Can't you go? Must you stay?' G. W. E. Russell's Collections and Recollections, ch. 24

HENRY VAUGHAN

1622-1695

- 15 Man is the shuttle, to whose winding quest
And passage through these looms
God order'd motion, but ordain'd no rest.
Silex Scintillans. Man.
- 16 Father of lights! what sunny seed,
What glance of day hast Thou confin'd
Into this bird? To all the breed
This busy ray Thou hast assign'd;
Their magnetism works all night,
And dreams of Paradise and light.
Ib. Cock-Crowing
- 17 I cannot reach it; and my striving eye
Dazzles at it, as at eternity. Ib. Childhood
- 18 Through that pure virgin shrine,
That sacred veil drawn o'er Thy glorious noon,
That men might look and live, as glow-worms shine,
And face the moon;
Wise Nicodemus saw such light
As made him know his God by night.
Ib. The Night, l. 1
- 19 Most blest believer he!
Who in that land of darkness and blind eyes
Thy long expected healing wings could see
When Thou didst rise!
And, what can never more be done,
Did at midnight speak with the Sun! Ib. l. 7
- 20 Dear Night! this world's defeat;
The stop to busy fools; care's check and curb;
The day of spirits; my soul's calm retreat
Which none disturb!
Christ's progress, and His prayer-time;
The hours to which high Heaven doth chime.
Ib. l. 25
- 21 There is in God—some say—
A deep, but dazzling darkness; as men here
Say it is late and dusky, because they See not all clear.
O for that Night! where I in Him
Might live invisible and dim! Ib. l. 49

- 1 My soul, there is a country
Far beyond the stars,
Where stands a winged sentry
All skilful in the wars
There, above noise and danger,
Sweet Peace is crown'd with smiles,
And One born in a manger
Commands the beauteous files

Silex Scintillans Peace

- 2 If thou canst get but thither,
There grows the flower of Peace,
The Rose that cannot wither,
Thy fortress, and thy ease
Leave then thy foolish ranges,
For none can thee secure,
But One, who never changes,
Thy God, thy life, thy cure

Ib

- 3 Happy those early days, when I
Shin'd in my angel infancy
Before I understood this place
Appointed for my second race,
Or taught my soul to fancy aught
But a white, celestial thought,
When yet I had not walked above
A mile or two from my first love,
And looking back—at that short space—
Could see a glimpse of His bright face

Ib The Retreat, l 1

- 4 And in those weaker glories spy
Some shadows of eternity

Ib l 13

- 5 But felt through all this fleshly dress
Bright shoots of everlastingness

Ib l 19

- 6 O how I long to travel back,
And tread again that ancient track!
That I might once more reach that plain,
Where first I left my glorious train
From whence th' enlighten'd spirit sees
The shady City of palm trees

Ib l 21

- 7 Some men a forward motion love,
But I by backward steps would move,
And when this dust falls to the urn,
In that state I came, return

Ib l 29

- 8 They are all gone into the world of light,
And I alone sit lingering here,
Their very memory is fair and bright,
And my sad thoughts doth clear

Ib They Are All Gone

- 9 I see them walking in an air of glory
Whose light doth trample on my days
My days, which are at best but dull and hoary,
Mere glimmering and decays

Ib

- 10 Dear, beauteous death! the jewel of the just,
Shining nowhere but in the dark
What mysteries do lie beyond thy dust,
Could man outlook that mark!

Ib

- 11 He that hath found some fledg'd bird's nest, may know
At first sight, if the bird be flown,
But what fair well or grove he sings in now,
That is to him unknown

Ib

- 12 And yet, as angels in some brighter dreams
Call to the soul when man doth sleep,
So some strange thoughts transcend our wonted themes,
And into glory peep

Ib

- 13 I saw Eternity the other night,
Like a great ring of pure and endless light,
All calm, as it was bright,
And round beneath it, Time in hours, days, years,
Driv'n by the spheres
Like a vast shadow mov'd, in which the world
And all her train were hurld

ALFRED DE VIGNY

1797-1863

- 1 J'aime la majesté des souffrances humaines.
I love the majesty of human suffering.
La Maison du Berger
- 2 Seul le silence est grand; tout le reste est faiblesse...
Fais énergiquement ta longue et lourde tâche...
Puis, après, comme moi, souffre et meurs sans parler.
Silence alone is great; all else is feebleness...
Perform with all your heart your long and heavy task...
Then as do I, say naught, but suffer and die.
La Mort du Loup

VIRGIL

70-19 B.C.

- 5 Arma virumque cano, Troiae qui primus ab oris
Italiam fato profugus Laviniae venit
Litora—multum ille et terris iactatus et alto
Vi superum, saevae memorem Iunonis ob iram.
Arms I sing, and the man, who first from the shores of Troy came, Fate-exiled, to Italy and her Lavinian strand—much buffeted he on flood and field by constraint of Heaven and fell Juno's unslumbering ire. Aeneid, i. 1. Trans. by Jackson
- 6 Quo numine laeso.
Wherein was her godhead affronted. Ib. 8
- 7 Tantaene animis caelestibus irae?
Can heavenly spirits cherish resentment so dire?
Ib. 11
- 8 Necdum etiam causae irarum saevique dolores
Exciderant animo; manet alta mente repostum
Iudicium Paridis spretaeque iniuria formae.
Nor yet had the causes of her wrath, nor her hot resentment, faded from her soul. Deep-written in her heart the judgement of Paris remained, and the outrage to her slighted beauty. Ib. 25
- 9 Tanta molis erat Romanam condere gentem.
So vast was the struggle to found the Roman state.
Ib. 33
- 10 Apparent rari nantes in gurgite vasto.
Here and there in the wastes of ocean a swimmer was seen. Ib. 118
- 11 Furor arma ministrat.
Fury ministers arms. Ib. 150
- 12 Fidus quae tela gerebat Achates.
Loyal Achates bore the weapons. Aeneid, i. 188
- 13 O passi graviores, dabit deus his quoque finem.
Friends, that have endured yet heavier blows,
God will grant an ending even to this. Ib. 199
- 14 Forsan et haec olim meminisse iuvabit.
The day may dawn when this plight shall be sweet to remember. Ib. 203
- 15 Durate, et vosmet rebus servate secundis.
Then endure for a while, and live for a happier
day! Ib. 207
- 16 Dux femina facti.
A woman the head of their emprise. Ib. 364
- 17 Vera incessu patuit dea.
The goddess indubitable was revealed in her step.
Ib. 405
- 18 'En Priamus. Sunt hic etiam sua praemia laudi;
Sunt lacrimae rerum et mentem mortalia tangunt.
Solve metus; feret haec aliquam tibi fama salutem.'
Sic ait atque animum pictura pascit inani.
'Lo, here is Priam! Even here, virtue hath her rewards, and mortality her tears: even here, the woes of man touch the heart of man! Dispel thy fears; this fame of ours is herald to some salvation.' He said, and sated his soul with the barren portraiture. Ib. 461
- 19 Impar congressus Achilli.
Fronted Achilles with unequal arm. Ib. 475
- 20 Mens sibi conscia recti.
A mind conscious of the right. Ib. 604
- 21 In freta dum fluvii current, dum montibus umbrae
Lustrabunt convexa, polus dum sidera pascet,
Semper honos nomenque tuum laudesque manebunt.
While the rivers shall run to ocean, while the shadows shall move in the mountain valleys, while the sky shall feed the stars, always shall thy honour, and thy name, and thy glory abide. Ib. 607
- 22 Non ignara mali miseris succurrere disco.
Not unschooled in woe do I learn to succour unhappiness! Ib. 630
- 23 Conticuere omnes intentique ora tenebant.
Every tongue was still, every face turned rapt upon him. Ib. ii. 1
- 24 Infandum, regina, iubes renovare dolorem.
Too deep for words, O queen, lies the sorrow thou bidst me renew. Ib. 3
- 25 Quaeque ipse miserrima vidi
Et quorum pars magna fui.
All the deeds of woe mine eyes have beheld, and those whereof I was no small part. Ib. 5
- 26 Et iam nox umida caelo
Praecipitat suadentque cadentia sidera somnos.
And now dewy Night falls precipitate from heaven,
and the setting stars counsel sleep! Ib. 8
- 27 Equo ne credite, Teucri.
Quidquid id est, timeo Danaos et dona ferentis.
Men of Troy, trust not the horse! Be it what it may, I fear the Danaans, though their hands proffer gifts. Ib. 48

- 1 In utrumque paratus,
Seu versare dolos seu certae occumbere morti Nerved to either event, whether to spin his toils, or to fall under death inevitable Aeneid, II 61
- 2 Crimine ab uno
Disce omnes
From a single crime know the nation Ib 65
- 3 Horresco referens
I shudder at the word Ib 204
- 4 Tacitae per amica silentia lunae
Through the friendly silence of the mute moon
Ib 255
- 5 Tempus erat quo prima quies mortalibus aegris
Incipit et dono divum gratissima serpit
It was the hour when the first sleep of suffering mortality begins, and, by the grace of Heaven steals on its sweetest errand of mercy Ib 268
- 6 Quantum mutatus ab illo
Hectore qui redit exuvias indutus Achilli
How was he changed from that Hector, who wended homeward, clad in the spoils of Achilles
Ib 274
- 7 Iam proximus ardet
Ucalegon
Already neighbour Ucalegon burns Ib 311
- 8 Fumus Troes, fuit Ilium et ingens
Gloria Teucorum
Trojans we are no more, Ilium is no more, and the great glory of the Teucrians is departed! Ib 325
- 9 Una salus victis nullam sperare salutem
There is but one safety to the vanquished—to hope not safety! Ib 354
- 10 Dis alter visum
Heaven's thought was otherwise Ib 428
- 11 Non tali auxilio nec defensoribus istis
Tempus eget
The hour calls not for such succour, nor such defenders Ib 521
- 12 Sequiturque patrem non passibus aequis
Follows his father with unmatched step Ib 724
- 13 Quid non mortalia pectora cogis
Auri sacra fames!
O cursed lust of gold to what canst thou not compel the heart of man! Ib III 56
- 14 Monstrum horrendum, informe, ingens, cui lumen
ademptum
A monster fearful and hideous, vast and eyeless
Ib 658
- 15 Agnosco vetens vestigia flammae
I feel again a spark of that ancient flame
Ib IV 23
- 16 Vinsque adquirit eundo
At every step she [Fame] gathers strength Ib 175
- 17 Sese interea .
Temptaturum aditus et quae mollissima fandi
Tempora
Himself meanwhile . . . would assay to find access and watch what hour might be the smoothest
for his tale. Ib 291

- 18 Quis fallere possit amantem?
Who shall deceive a lover's thought?
Aeneid, IV. 296
- 19 Nec me meminisse pigebit Elissae
Dum memor ipse mei, dum spiritus hos regit artus Nor ever shall the thought of Elissa be bitter to me while yet I have remembrance of myself and the breath governs these limbs Ib 335
- 20 Varium et mutabile semper
Femina
A fickle thing and changeful is woman always!
Ib 569
- 21 Exoniare aliquis nostris ex ossibus ultor
Arise thou avenger to come, out of my ashes
Ib 625
- 22 Hos successus alit possunt, quia posse videntur
To those success was good, and the semblance of power gave power indeed Ib V 231
- 23 Facilis descensus Averni
Noctes atque dies patet atri ianua Ditis,
Sed revocare gradum superasque evadere ad auras,
Hoc opus, hic labor est
Light is the descent to Avernus! Night and day the portals of gloomy Dis stand wide but to recall thy step and issue to the upper air—there is the toil and there the task! Ib VI 126
- 24 Primo avulso non deficit alter
Aureus, et simili frondescit virga metallo
When the first is rent away a second, golden no less, succeeds, and the bough blossoms with ore
as precious Ib 143
- 25 Procul, o procul este, profani
Hence, O hence, ye that are uninitiated Ib 258
- 26 Nunc animis opus, Aeneas, nunc pectore firmo
Now is the hour, Aeneas, for the dauntless spirit
—now for the stout heart Ib 261
- 27 Vestibulum ante ipsum primis in faucibus Orci
Luctus et ultrices posuere cubilia Curae,
Pallentesque habitant Morbi tristisque Senectus,
Et Metus et malesuada Fames ac turpis Egestas Hard before the portal, in the opening jaws of Hell, Grief and avenging Cares have made their couch, and with them dwell woe, Disease and sorrowful Age, and Fear, and Hunger, temptress to Sin, and loathly Want Ib 273
- 28 Tendebantque manus ripae ulterioris amore
Their hands outstretched in yearning for the farther shore Ib 314
- 29 Inventas aut qui vitam excoluere per artis,
Quisque sui memores alios fecere merendo
Or who ennobled life by arts discovered, with all whose service to their kind won them remembrance among men Ib 663
- 30 Spiritus intus alit, totamque infusa per artus
Mens agitat molem et magno se corpore miscet
An indwelling spirit sustains, and a mind fused throughout the limbs sways the whole mass and mingles with the giant frame Ib 726
- 31 Igneus est ollis vigor et caelestis origo
Seminibus
To these seeds a flame like vigour pertains and an origin celestial Ib 730

1 Tu regere imperio populos, Romane, memento
(Hae tibi erunt artes), pacisque imponere morem,
Parcere subiectis et debellare superbos.

Roman, be this thy care—these thine arts—to bear dominion over the nations and to impose the law of peace, to spare the humbled and to war down
the proud! Aeneid, vi. 851

2 Sunt geminae Somni portae, quarum altera fertur
Cornea, qua veris facilis datur exitus umbris,
Altera candenti perfecta nitens elephanto,
Sed falsa ad caelum mittunt insomnia manes.

There are two gates of Sleep:—of horn, fame tells,
the one, through which the spirits of truth find an easy passage; the other, wrought smooth-gleaming with sheen of ivory, but false the visions that the nether powers speed therefrom to the heaven above. Ib. 893

3 Geniumque loci . . .

precatur.

Implored the Genius of the place. Ib. vii. 136

4 Flectere si nequeo superos, Acheronta movebo.

And if Heaven be inflexible, Hell shall be unleashed! Ib. 312

5 O mihi praeteritos referat si Iuppiter annos.

O, would Jupiter restore me the years that are fled!
Ib. viii. 560

6 Quadripedante putrem sonitu quatit ungula campum.

The sound of galloping hooves shook the crumbling plain. Ib. 596

7 Me, me, adsum qui feci, in me convertite ferrum.

On me,—here I stand who did the deed,—on me turn your steel. Ib. ix. 427

8 Dum domus Aeneae Capitoli immobile saxum

Accolet imperiumque pater Romanus habebit.

So long as the house of Aeneas shall dwell by the Capitol's unmoved rock and the Father of Rome bear sceptre! Ib. 448

9 Macte nova virtute, puer, sic itur ad astra.

Good speed to thy youthful valour, child! So shalt thou scale the stars! Ib. 641

10 Audentis Fortuna iuvat.

Fortune is ally to the brave. Ib. x. 284

11 Experto credite.

Credit one who has proved. Ib. xi. 283

12 Audiit et voti Phoebus succedere partem

Mente dedit, partem volucris dispersit in auras.

Phoebus heard, and in thought vouchsafed that half his vow should prosper: half he scattered to the fleet winds. Ib. 794

13 Di me terrent et Iuppiter hostis.

The gods dismay me, and Jove my foe! Ib. xii. 895

14 Tityre, tu patulae recubans sub tegmine fagi

Silvestrem tenui musam meditaris avena.

Tityrus, thou liest canopied beneath thy spreading beech and wooing the silvan Muse on thy slender
oat. Eclogue, i. 1. Trans. by Jackson

15 Formosam resonare doces Amaryllida silvas.

Thou teachest the responsive woods to call
Amaryllis fair! Ib. 5

16 O Meliboe, deus nobis haec otia fecit.

O Meliboeus, it was a god gave us this peace.
Eclogue, i. 6

17 Non equidem invideo, miror magis.

As for me I grudge thee not—rather I marvel!
Ib. 11

18 Sic parvis componere magna solebam

Verum haec tantum alias inter caput extulit urbes

Quantum lenta solent inter viburna cupressi.

I only measured great by small but, above all other cities, this so far exalts her head as the cypress above the lissom osiers! Ib. 23

19 Et penitus toto divisos orbe Britannos.

Or where the Briton dwells utterly estranged from all the world! Ib. 66

20 Formosum pastor Corydon ardebat Alexim.

Shepherd Corydon was all aflame for fair Alexis.
Ib. ii. 1

21 O formose puer, nimium ne crede colori!

Sweet boy, trust not over much to thy hue!
Ib. 17

22 Quem fugis, a, demens? Habitarunt di quoque silvas.

Ah, madman, whom dost thou flee? Even gods have dwelt in woods. Ib. 60

23 Trahit sua quemque voluptas.

Each draws to his best-loved. Ib. 65

24 Nunc frondent silvae, nunc formosissimus annus.

Now the woods are green, and the year is loveliest. Ib. iii. 57

25 Ab Iove principium musae: Iovis omnia plena.

From Jove my lay begins: Jove filleth all. Ib. 60

26 Malo me Galatea petit, lasciva puella,

Et fugit ad salices et se cupit ante videri.

Galatea, wayward girl, pelts me with apples, then runs behind the willows—and hopes I saw her first! Ib. 64

27 Latet anguis in herba.

A snake lurks in the grass! Ib. 93

28 Non nostrum inter vos tantas componere lites.

Not ours to decide such high dispute! Ib. 108

29 Claudite iam rivos, pueri; sat prata biberunt.

Swains, close now the springs. The meadows have drunk enough! Ib. 111

30 Sicelides Musae, paulo maiora canamus!

Non omnis arbusta iuvant humilisque myrica.

Si canimus silvas, silvae sint consule dignae.

Ultima Cumaei venit iam carminis aetas;

Magnus ab integro saeculorum nascitur ordo.

Iam redit et virgo, redeunt Saturnia regna

Iam nova progenies caelo demittitur alto.

Sicilian Muses, let us raise a somewhat loftier strain. Not all do orchards and the lowly tamarisk delight. If the woodland be our theme, let our woods be worthy of a consul's ear! The last age, heralded in Cumean song, is come, and the great march of the centuries, begins anew. Now the Virgin returns: now Saturn is king again, and a new and better race descends from on high.

Ib. iv. 1

- 1 Incipe, parve puer, risu cognoscere matrem
Begin, baby boy, to know thy mother with a smile
Eclogue, iv 60
- 2 Incipe, parve puer qui non risere parenti,
Nec deus hunc mensa, dea nec dignata cubili est Begin, baby boy! Him who had never a smile for a parent, no god honours with his board, no goddess with her bed! Ib 62
- 3 Arcades ambo,
Et cantare pares et respondere parati
Both Arcadians, both ready to sing in even contest, both ready to make reply! Ib vii 4
- 4 Saepebus in nostros parvam te rosida mala
(Dux ego vester eram) vidi cum matre legentem
Alter ab undecimo tum me iam acceperat annus,
I am fragilis poteram a terra contingere ramos
Ut vidi, ut pene, ut me malus abstulit error!
Within our orchard a wall I saw thee—for I was there to point the way—a little maid gathering dewy apples with my mother! Eleven years I had numbered and the twelfth already claimed me, from the ground already I could reach the frail boughs Ah, how I saw! How I fell! How that fatal blindness swept me away! Ib viii 37
- 5 Nunc scio quid sit Amor
Now do I know what Love is! Ib 43
- 6 Non omni possumus omnes
All power is not to all Ib 63
- 7 Et me fecere poetam
Pierides, sunt et mihi carmina me quoque dicunt
Vatem pastores, sed non ego credulus illis
Nam neque adhuc Varro videor nec dicere Cinna
Digna sed argutos inter strepere anser olores
Me, too, the Pierian sisters have made a singer, I too, have songs as, and the shepherds dub me poet, but I trust them not! For as yet, methinks, my strains befit not a Varro nor a Cinna, but,
gooselike, I cackle amid quiring swans! Ib ix 32
- 8 Omnia vincit Amor et nos cedamus Amori
Love is lord of all yield we, too, to Love! Ib x 69

Scilicet, atque Ossae frondosum involvere Olympum
In sooth . . . to pile Ossa on Pelion and roll leaf-crowned Olympus on Ossa Ib 281
- 13 Miscueruntque herbas et non innoxia verba
Mingled herbs and charms of bale Ib ii 129
- 14 Salve, magna parens frugum, Saturnia tellus,
Magna vireum.
Hail, Saturn's land, great mother of the harvest,
great mother of men! Ib 173
- 15 O fortunatos nimium, sua si bona norint,
Agricolae Quibus ipsa procul discordibus armis
Fundit humo facilem victum iustissimae tellus
Ah blest beyond all bliss the husbandmen, did they but know their happiness! On whom far from the clash of arms, the most just Earth showers from her bosom a toilless sustenance
Georgics, ii 458
- 16 Felix qui potuit rerum cognoscere causas
Happy he, who has availed to read the causes of things Ib 490
- 17 Streptitumque Acherontis avari
The roaring of the hungry stream of Death Ib 492
- 18 Fortunatus et ille deos qui novit agrestis
And happy he, who has knowledge of the wood and gods Ib 493
- 19 Temptanda via est, qua me quoque possim
Tollere humo victorque virum volitare per ora
I must assay a path, whereby I may raise me from earth and flit conqueror through the mouths of men! Ib iii 8
- 20 Optima quaeque dies misens mortalibus aevi
Prima fugit subeunt morbi tristisque senectus
Et labor, et durae rapit inclementia mortis
It is ever the brightest day of life that is first to bid adieu to our hapless mortality disease and gloomy old steal upon us, and anon suffering, and the ruthless tyranny of Death, sweep us away. Ib 66
- 21 Sed fugit interea, fugit inreparabile tempus
Meanwhile, Time is flying—flying, never to return
Ib 284
- 22 Hi motus animorum atque haec certamina tanta
Pulvis exigui iactu compressa quiescent
Yet all this tumult of soul and all this savagery of conflict may be quelled and laid to rest by the scattering of a little dust Ib iv 86
- 23 Agmine facto
Ignavum fucos pecus a praesepebus arcent
They form in array and cast out the drones and their idle bands from the homestead Ib 167
- 24 Si parva licet componere magnis.
If it be meet to measure small by great Ib 176
- 25 At genus immortale manet, multosque per annos
Stat fortuna domus, et avi numerantur avorum
Yet the race abides immortal, the star of their house sets not through many years, and grand-sire's grandsire is numbered in the roll Ib 208
- 26 Victorque volentis
Per populos dat iura viamque adfectat Olympo Assigning in victorious march, lay s to the willing nations, and assaying on earth the path to Heaven! Ib 561
- 27 Sic vos non vobis mellificatis apes
Sic vos non vobis nidificatis aves
Sic vos non vobis vellera fertis oves
So you bees make your honey, not for yourselves
So you birds make nests, not for yourselves
So you sheep bear fleeces, not for yourselves

- 1 Dans ce pays-ci il est bon de tuer de temps en temps un amiral pour encourager les autres.
In this country [England] it is thought well to kill an admiral from time to time to encourage the others.
Candide, ch. 23
- 2 Tout est pour le mieux dans le meilleur des mondes possibles.
All is for the best in the best of possible worlds.
Ib. 30
- 3 Cela est bien dit, répondit Candide, mais il faut cultiver notre jardin.
'That is well said,' replied Candide, 'but we must cultivate our garden.' (We must attend to our own affairs.)
Ib.
- 4 Ils ne se servent de la pensée que pour autoriser leurs injustices, et n'emploient les paroles que pour déguiser leurs pensées.
[Men] use thought only to justify their wrongdoings, and speech only to conceal their thoughts.

- 1 That which her slender waist confin'd
Shall now my joyful temples bind,
No monarch but would give his crown
His arms might do what this has done
It was my heaven's extremest sphere,
The pale which held that lovely deer
My joy, my grief, my hope, my love,
Did all within this circle move

A narrow compass! and yet there
Dwelt all that's good, and all that's fair
Gave me but what this riband bound,
Take all the rest the sun goes round On a Girdle

- 10 As no man is born an artist, so no man is born an angler. Ib.
- 11 I shall stay him no longer than to wish him a rainy evening to read this following discourse; and that if he be an honest angler, the east wind may never blow when he goes a-fishing. Ib.
- 12 I am, Sir, a Brother of the Angle. Ib. pt. i, ch. 1
- 13 It [angling] deserves commendations; . . . it is an art, and an art worthy the knowledge and practice of a wise man. Ib.
- 14 Angling is somewhat like poetry, men are to be born so. Ib.
- 15 Sir Henry Wotton . . . was also a most dear lover, and a frequent practiser of the art of angling; of which he would say, 'it was an employment for his idle time, which was then not idly spent . . . a rest to his mind, a cheerer of his spirits, a diverter of sadness, a calmer of unquiet thoughts, a moderator of passions, a procurer of contentedness; and that it begat habits of peace and patience in those that professed and practised it.' Ib.

- 16 I remember that a wise friend of mine did usually say, 'that which is everybody's business is nobody's business.' Compleat Angler, pt. i, ch. 2

- 21 A good, honest, wholesome, hungry breakfast. Ib.
- 22 No man can lose what he never had. Ib.
- 23 Thus use your frog. . . . Put your hook, I mean the arming-wire, through his mouth, and out at his gills; and then with a fine needle and silk sew the upper part of his leg, with only one stitch, to the arming-wire of your hook; or tie the frog's leg, above the upper joint, to the armed-wire; and, in so doing, use him as though you loved him. Ib. ch. 8
- 24 This dish of meat is too good for any but anglers, or very honest men. Ib.
- 25 I love any discourse of rivers, and fish and fishing. Ib. ch. 18
- 26 Look to your health; and if you have it, praise God, and value it next to a good conscience; for health is the second blessing that we mortals are capable of; a blessing that money cannot buy. Ib. ch. 21
- 27 Let the blessing of St. Peter's Master be . . . upon all that are lovers of virtue; and dare trust in His providence; and be quiet; and go a-Angling. Ib.
- 28 But God, who is able to prevail, wrestled with him, as the Angel did with Jacob, and marked him; marked him for his own. Life of Donne

And everlasting pains;
There sinners must with devils dwell
In darkness, fire, and chains.
Ib. xi. Heaven and Hell
- 23 But liars we can never trust,
Though they should speak the thing that's true;
And he that does one fault at first,
And lies to hide it, makes it two.
Ib. xv. Against Lying
- 24 Let dogs delight to bark and bite,
For God hath made them so;
Let bears and lions growl and fight,
For 'tis their nature too.
Ib. xvi. Against Quarrelling
- 25 But, children, you should never let
Such angry passions rise;
Your little hands were never made
To tear each other's eyes. Ib.
- 26 Whatever brawls disturb the street,
There should be peace at home.
Ib. xvii. Love between Brothers and Sisters
- 27 Birds in their little nests agree
And 'tis a shameful sight,
When children of one family
Fall out, and chide, and fight. Ib.
- 28 How doth the little busy bee
Improve each shining hour,
And gather honey all the day
From every opening flower!
Ib. xx. Against Idleness and Mischief
- 29 In works of labour, or of skill,
I would be busy too;
For Satan finds some mischief still
For idle hands to do. Ib.
- 30 One sickly sheep infects the flock,
And poisons all the rest.
Ib. xxi. Against Evil Company
- 31 Let me be dress'd fine as I will,
Flies, worms, and flowers, exceed me still.
Ib. xxii. Against Pride in Clothes
- 32 I have been there, and still would go;
'Tis like a little Heaven below.

- 1 There is always room at the top.
When advised not to become a lawyer as the profession was overcrowded
- 2 The gentleman has not seen how to reply to this, otherwise than by supposing me to have advanced the doctrine that a national debt is a national blessing.
Second Speech in the Senate on Foot's Resolution, 26 Jan. 1830
- 3 The people's government, made for the people, made by the people, and answerable to the people. Ib.
- 4 He [Alexander Hamilton] smote the rock of the national resources, and abundant streams of revenue gushed forth. He touched the dead corpse of the Public Credit, and it sprang upon its feet.
Speech at a Public Dinner at New York, 10 March 1831
- 5 On this question of principle, while actual suffering was yet afar off, they [the Colonies] raised their flag against a power, to which, for purposes of foreign conquest and subjugation, Rome, in the height of her glory, is not to be compared; a power which has dotted over the surface of the whole globe with her possessions and military posts, whose morning drum-beat, following the sun, and keeping company with the hours, circles the earth with one continuous and unbroken strain of the martial airs of England.
Speech in the Senate on the President's Protest, 7 May 1834
- 6 Thank God, I—I also—am an American!
Speech on the Completion of Bunker Hill Monument, 17 June 1843
- 7 The Law: It has honoured us, may we honour it. Ib.

- 4 'Christ, the Lord, is risen to-day,'
 Sons of men and angels say,
 Raise your joys and triumphs high,
 Sing, ye heavens, and earth reply.
Hymns and Sacred Poems (1739). Christ, the Lord, is Risen To-day
- 5 Jesu, Lover of my soul,
 Let me to Thy Bosom fly,
 While the nearer waters roll,
 While the tempest still is high;
 Hide me, O my Saviour, hide,
 Till the storm of life is past;
 Safe into the haven guide,
 O receive my soul at last.
Ib. (1740), Jesu, Lover of My Soul
- 6 Other refuge have I none;
 Hangs my helpless soul on Thee. Ib.
- 7 Cover my defenceless head
 With the shadow of Thy wing. Ib.
- 8 Thou of Life the Fountain art;
 Freely let me take of Thee;
 Spring Thou up within my heart,
 Rise to all eternity. Ib.
- 9 Gentle Jesus, meek and mild,
 Look upon a little child;
 Pity my simplicity,
 Suffer me to come to thee.
Ib. (1742), Gentle Jesus, Meek and Mild
- 10 Soldiers of Christ, arise,
 And put your armour on.
Ib. (1749), Soldiers of Christ, Arise
- 11 Lift up your heart, lift up your voice;
 Rejoice, again I say, rejoice.
Hymns for Our Lord's Resurrection (1746):
Rejoice, the Lord is King
- 12 Hark! the herald-angels sing
 Glory to the new-born King:
 Peace on earth, and mercy mild,
 God and sinners reconciled.
Ib. Christmas Hymn: Hark! the Herald Angels Sing. First two lines altered by George Whitefield in 1753 from Wesley's original
 Hark, how all the welkin rings,
 'Glory to the King of kings'.
- 13 Lo! He comes with clouds descending.
Hymns of Intercession for all Mankind (1758):
Lo! He Comes with Clouds. New Version of John Cennick's 'Lo! He cometh, countless trumpets', in Collection of Sacred Hymns, 1752
- 14 Those who set at naught and sold Him,
 Pierced and nail'd Him to the Tree,
 Deeply wailing,
 Shall the true Messiah see. Ib.

- 15 Let saints on earth in concert sing.
Funeral Hymns (1759): Let saints on earth.
 Altered by F. H. Murray in his Hymnal for Use in the English Church (1852), from 'Let all the saints terrestrial sing'

- 16 I look upon all the world as my parish.
Journal, 11 June 1739
- 17 Once in seven years I burn all my sermons; for it is a shame if I cannot write better sermons now than I did seven years ago. Ib. 1 Sept. 1778
- 18 Though I am always in haste, I am never in a hurry.
Select Letters (1837). Letter to a member of the Society. 10 Dec. 1777
- 19 Do all the good you can,
 By all the means you can,
 In all the ways you can,
 In all the places you can,
 At all the times you can,
 To all the people you can,
 As long as ever you can.
Letters (1915). Rule of Conduct
- 20 Let it be observed, that slovenliness is no part of religion; that neither this, nor any text of Scripture, condemns neatness of apparel. Certainly this is a duty, not a sin. 'Cleanliness is, indeed, next to godliness.'
Sermons, No. xciii. On Dress

REV. SAMUEL WESLEY

1662-1735

- 21 Style is the dress of thought; a modest dress,
 Neat, but not gaudy, will true critics please.

- 21 Silent and amazed even when a little boy,
I remember I heard the preacher every Sunday put
God in his statements,
As contending against some being or influence
A Child's Amaze
22 Give me the splendid silent sun with all his beams full dazling! Give Me the Splendid Silent Sun 23 I dream'd in a dream I saw a city invincible to the attacks of the whole of the rest of the earth,
I dream'd that was the new city of Friends
I Dream'd in a Dream
24 The institution of the dear love of comrades
I Hear it rest Charged against Me
25 Joy, shipmate, joy!
(Pleas'd to my soul at death I cry,
Our life is closed, our life begins,
The long, long anchorage we leave,
The ship is clear at last, she heaps!
She swiftly courses from the shore,
Joy, shipmate, joy Joy, Shipmate, Joy
26 Me imperturb, standing at ease in Nature
Me Imperturb
27 O Captain! my Captain! our fearful trip is done,
The ship has weather'd every rack, the prize we sought is won,
The port is near, the bells I hear, the people all exulting O Captain! My Captain!
28 The ship is anchor'd safe and sound, its voyage closed and done
I from fearful trip the victor ship comes in with object won,

- Exult O shores, and ring O bells! But I with mournful tread
Walk the deck my Captain lies, Fallen cold and dead.
O Captain! My Captain! iii
- 1 Out of the cradle endlessly rocking,
Out of the mocking-bird's throat, the musical shuttle,
A reminiscence sing.
Out of the Cradle endlessly Rocking
- 2 O we can wait no longer,
We too take ship O soul,
Joyous we too launch out on trackless seas,
Fearless for unknown shores on waves of ecstasy to sail,
Amid the wafting winds (thou pressing me to thee,
I thee to me, O soul,) Passage to India, 8
Caroling free, singing our song of God,
Chanting our chant of pleasant exploration.
- 3 O my brave soul!
O farther, farther, sail!
O daring joy, but safe; are they not all the seas of God?
O farther, farther, farther sail! Ib. 9
- 4 Come my tan-faced children,
Follow well in order, get your weapons ready,
Have you your pistols? have you your sharp-edged axes?
Pioneers! O pioneers! Pioneers! O Pioneers!
- 5 Beautiful that war and all its deeds of carnage must in time be utterly lost,
That the hands of the sisters Death and Night incessantly softly wash again, and ever again, this soil'd world;
For my enemy is dead, a man as divine as myself is dead,
I look where he lies white-faced and still in the coffin
—I draw near,
Bend down and touch lightly with my lips the white face in the coffin. Reconciliation
- 6 Camerado, this is no book,
Who touches this touches a man. So Long!
- 7 Where the populace rise at once against the never-ending audacity of elected persons.
Song of the Broad Axe, 5, l. 12
- 8 Where women walk in public processions in the streets the same as the men,
Where they enter the public assembly and take places
the same as the men;
Where the city of the faithfulest friends stands,
Where the city of the cleanliness of the sexes stands,
Where the city of the healthiest fathers stands,
Where the city of the best-bodied mothers stands,
There the great city stands. Ib. l. 20

Song of Myself, 1
- 10 I loafe and invite my soul. Ib.
- 11 Urge and urge and urge,
Always the procreant urge of the world. Ib. 3
- 12 A child said What is the grass? fetching it to one with full hands;
Or I guess it is the handkerchief of the Lord,
A scented gift and remembrancer designedly dropt,
- Bearing the owner's name someway in the corners, that we may see and remark, and say Whose?
- And now it seems to me the beautiful uncut hair of

- 15 I also say it is good to fall, battles are lost in the same spirit in which they are won. Ib. 18
- 16 I am he that walks with the tender and growing night,
I call to the earth and sea half-held by the night.
Press close bare-bosom'd night—press close magnetic nourishing night!
Night of south winds—night of the large few stars!
Still nodding night—mad naked summer night. Ib. 21

Smile, for your lover comes. Ib.
- 19 I believe a leaf of grass is no less than the journey-
work of the stars,
And the pismire is equally perfect, and a grain of sand, and the egg of the wren,
And the tree toad is a chef-d'oeuvre for the highest,
And the running blackberry would adorn the parlors of heaven. Ib. 31
- 20 I think I could turn and live with animals, they are so placid and self-contain'd,
I stand and look at them long and long.
They do not sweat and whine about their condition,
They do not lie awake in the dark and weep for their sins,
They do not make me sick discussing their duty to God,
Not one is dissatisfied, not one is demented with the
mania of owning things,
Not one kneels to another, nor to his kind that lived
thousands of years ago,
Not one is respectable or unhappy over the whole earth. Ib. 32
- 21 Behold, I do not give lectures or a little charity,
When I give I give myself. Ib. 39
- 22 My rendezvous is appointed, it is certain,
The Lord will be there and wait till I come on perfect
terms,
The great Camerado, the lover true for whom I pine will be there. Ib. 44
- 23 I have said that the soul is not more than the body,
And I have said that the body is not more than the soul,
And nothing, not God, is greater to one than one's self is. Ib. 47
- 24 In the faces of men and women I see God, and in my own face in the glass,
I find letters from God dropt in the street, and every one is sign'd by God's name,
And I leave them where they are, for I know that wheresoe'er I go,
Others will punctually come for ever and ever. Ib.

- 1 Do I contradict myself?
Very well then I contradict myself,
(I am large, I contain multitudes)
Song of Myself, 50
- 2 I sound my barbaric yawp over the roofs of the world
Ib 51
- 3 Afoot and light hearted I take to the open road,
Healthy, free the world before me,
The long brown path before me leading wherever I

Song of the Open Road, 1, 1 1
- 4 The earth, that is sufficient,
I do not want the constellations any nearer,
I know they are very well where they are,
I know they suffice for those who belong to them
Ib 1 8
- 5 I am larger, better than I thought,
I did not know I held so much goodness Ib 5, 1 1
- 6 I will put in my poems that with you is heroism upon land and sea
And I will report all heroism from an American point of view
Starting from Paumanok, 6
- 7 This dust was once the man
Gentle, plain, just and resolute, under whose cautious hand,
Against the foulest crime in history known in any land or age,
Was saved the Union of these States
This Dust was Once the Man
- 8 When lilacs last in the dooryard bloom'd,
And the great star early droop'd in the western sky in the night,
I mourn'd, and yet shall mourn with ever-returning spring
When Lilacs Last in the Dooryard Bloom'd, 1
- 9 Come lovely and soothing death,
Undulate round the world serenely arriving, arriving,
In the day, in the night, to all, to each,
Sooner or later delicate death
Prais'd be the fathomless universe,
For life and joy, and for objects and knowledge curious
And for love, sweet love—but praise! praise! praise!
I or the sure entwining arms of cool enfolding death

- 1 He did not wear his scarlet coat,
For blood and wine are red,
And blood and wine were on his hands
When they found him with the dead.
The Ballad of Reading Gaol (1898), pt. 1. i
- 2 I never saw a man who looked
With such a wistful eye
Upon that little tent of blue
Which prisoners call the sky. Ib. iii
- 3 When a voice behind me whispered low,
'That fellow's got to swing,' Ib. iv
- 4 Yet each man kills the thing he loves,
By each let this be heard,
Some do it with a bitter look,
Some with a flattering word.
The coward does it with a kiss,
The brave man with a sword! Ib. vii
- 5 It is sweet to dance to violins
When Love and Life are fair:
To dance to flutes, to dance to lutes
Is delicate and rare:
But it is not sweet with nimble feet
To dance upon the air! Ib. II. ix
- 6 Like two doomed ships that pass in storm
We had crossed each other's way:
But we made no sign, we said no word,
We had no word to say. Ib. xii
- 7 The Governor was strong upon
The Regulations Act:
The Doctor said that Death was but
A scientific fact:
And twice a day the Chaplain called,
And left a little tract. Ib. III. iii
- 8 And once, or twice, to throw the dice
Is a gentlemanly game,
But he does not win who plays with Sin
In the secret House of Shame. Ib. xxiii
- 9 Something was dead in each of us,
And what was dead was Hope. Ib. xxxi
- 10 And the wild regrets, and the bloody sweats,
None knew so well as I:
For he who lives more lives than one
More deaths than one must die. Ib. xxxvii
- 11 I know not whether Laws be right,
Or whether Laws be wrong;
All that we know who lie in gaol
Is that the wall is strong;
And that each day is like a year,
A year whose days are long. Ib. v. i
- 12 How else but through a broken heart
May Lord Christ enter in? Ib. xiv
- 13 Surely there was a time I might have trod
The sunlit heights, and from life's dissonance
Struck one clear chord to reach the ears of God.
Hélas! (Lines prefixed to his Poems, Paris edition, 1903)
- 14 And yet, and yet,
These Christs that die upon the barricades,
God knows it I am with them, in some ways.

The Decay of Lying (1891), p. 43
- 18 Really, if the lower orders don't set us a good example,
what on earth is the use of them?
The Importance of Being Earnest (1895), Act 1
- 19 It is very vulgar to talk like a dentist when one isn't a dentist. It produces a false impression. Ib.
- 20 Truth is never pure, and rarely simple. Ib.
- 21 In married life three is company and two none. Ib.
- 22 I have invented an invaluable permanent invalid called Bunbury, in order that I may be able to go down into the country whenever I choose. Ib.
- 23 To lose one parent, Mr. Worthing, may be regarded as a misfortune; to lose both looks like carelessness. Ib.
- 24 All women become like their mothers. That is their tragedy. No man does. That's his. Ib.
- 25 The good ended happily, and the bad unhappily.
That is what Fiction means. [Miss Prism on her novel.]
Ib. Act II
- 26 The chapter on the Fall of the Rupee you may omit.
It is somewhat too sensational. Ib.
- 27 Charity, dear Miss Prism, charity! None of us are perfect. I myself am peculiarly susceptible to draughts. Ib.
- 28 On an occasion of this kind it becomes more than a moral duty to speak one's mind. It becomes a pleasure. Ib.

He used poetry as a medium for writing in prose.
The Critic as Artist. Part 1. Intentions
- 31 A little sincerity is a dangerous thing, and a great deal of it is absolutely fatal. Ib. 2
- 32 Ah! don't say that you agree with me. When people agree with me I always feel that I must be wrong. Ib.
- 33 As long as war is regarded as wicked, it will always have its fascination. When it is looked upon as vulgar, it will cease to be popular. Ib.
- 34 There is no sin except stupidity. Ib.
- 35 I couldn't help it. I can resist everything except temptation. Lady Windermere's Fan (1891), Act I
- 36 Many a woman has a past, but I am told that she has
at least a dozen, and that they all fit. Ib.
- 37 We are all in the gutter, but some of us are looking at the stars. Ib. Act III
- 38 There is nothing in the whole world so unbecoming to a woman as a Nonconformist conscience. Ib.

Books are well written or badly written
Picture of Dorian Gray (1891), preface
- 4 The moral life of man forms part of the subject-matter of the artist but the morality of art consists in the perfect use of an imperfect medium Ib
- 5 There is only one thing in the world worse than being talked about, and that is not being talked about Ib ch 1
- 6 A man cannot be too careful in the choice of his enemies Ib
- 7 The only way to get rid of a temptation is to yield to it Ib ch 2
- 8 A cigarette is the perfect type of a perfect pleasure.
It is exquisite, and it leaves one unsatisfied. What more can one want? Ib ch 6
- 9 It is better to be beautiful than to be good. But it is better to be good than to be ugly Ib ch 17
- 10 Anybody can be good in the country Ib ch 19
- 11 As for the virtuous poor one can pity them of course,
but one cannot possibly admire them

- 14 The youth of America is their oldest tradition. It has been going on now for three hundred years Ib
- 15 The English country gentleman galloping after a fox
—the unspeakable in full pursuit of the unspeakable
Ib
- 16 One should never trust a woman who tells one her real age. A woman who would tell one that, would tell one anything Ib

The touch of earthly years.
No motion has she now, no force;
She neither hears nor sees;
Rolled round in earth's diurnal course,
With rocks, and stones, and trees.
A Slumber did My Spirit Seal
- 7 Action is transitory,—a step, a blow,
The motion of a muscle, this way or that—
'Tis done, and in the after-vacancy
We wonder at ourselves like men betrayed:
Suffering is permanent, obscure and dark,
And shares the nature of infinity.

WORDSWORTH

- 1 My soul
Once more made trial of her strength, nor lacked Æolian visitations. The Prelude, bk. i, l. 94
- 2 Feels immediately some hollow thought
Hang like an interdict upon her hopes. Ib. l. 259
- 3 Unprofitably travelling towards the grave. Ib. l. 267
- 4 Made one long bathing of a summer's day. Ib. l. 290
- 5 Fair seed-time had my soul, and I grew up
Fostered alike by beauty and by fear. Ib. l. 301
- 6 When the deed was done
I heard among the solitary hills
Low breathings coming after me, and sounds
Of undistinguishable motion, steps
Almost as silent as the turf they trod. Ib. l. 321
- 7 Though mean
Our object and inglorious, yet the end
Was not ignoble. Ib. l. 328
- 8 With what strange utterance did the loud dry wind
Blow through my ear! the sky seemed not a sky
Of earth—and with what motion moved the clouds!
Ib. l. 337
- 9 Dust as we are, the immortal spirit grows
Like harmony in music; there is a dark
Inscrutable workmanship that reconciles
Discordant elements, makes them cling together
In one society. Ib. l. 340
- 10 The grim shape
Towered up between me and the stars, and still,
For so it seemed, with purpose of its own
And measured motion like a living thing,
Strode after me. Ib. l. 382
- 11 Unknown modes of being. Ib. l. 393
- 12 Huge and mighty forms that do not live
Like living men, moved slowly through the mind
By day, and were a trouble to my dreams. Ib. l. 398
- 13 Not with the mean and vulgar works of man,
But with high objects, with enduring things. Ib. l. 408
- 14 Strife too humble to be named in verse. Ib. l. 513
- 15 The self-sufficing power of Solitude. Ib. bk. ii, l. 77
- 16 A prop
To our infirmity. Ib. l. 214
- 17 Thence did I drink the visionary power;
And deem not profitless those fleeting moods
Of shadowy exultation. Ib. l. 311
- 18 The soul,
Remembering how she felt, but what she felt
Remembering not, retains an obscure sense
Of possible sublimity. Ib. l. 315
- 19 Where the statue stood
Of Newton, with his prism and silent face,
The marble index of a mind for ever
Voyaging through strange seas of thought alone.
Ib. bk. iii, l. 61
- 20 Sweet Spenser, moving through his clouded heaven
With the moon's beauty and the moon's soft pace,
I called him Brother, Englishman, and Friend!
Ib. l. 280
- 21 Here and there
Slight shocks of young love-liking interspersed.
Ib. bk. iv, l. 316
- 22 Bond unknown to me
Was given, that I should be, else sinning greatly,
A dedicated spirit. The Prelude, bk. iv, l. 335
- 23 A day
Spent in a round of strenuous idleness. Ib. l. 377
- 24 That uncertain heaven, received
Into the bosom of the steady lake. Ib. bk. v, l. 387
- 25 Visionary power
Attends the motions of the viewless winds,
Embodied in the mystery of words. Ib. l. 595
- 26 Present themselves as objects recognized,
In flashes, and with glory not their own. Ib. l. 604
- 27 Whether we be young or old,
Our destiny, our being's heart and home,
Is with infinitude, and only there;
With hope it is, hope that can never die,
Effort, and expectation, and desire,
And something evermore about to be.
Ib. bk. vi, l. 603
- 28 We were brothers all
In honour, as in one community,
Scholars and gentlemen. Ib. bk. ix, l. 227
- 29 In the People was my trust,
And in the virtues which mine eyes had seen.
Ib. bk. x, l. 11
- 30 Not in Utopia—subterranean fields,—
Or some secreted island, Heaven knows where!
But in the very world, which is the world
Of all of us,—the place where, in the end
We find our happiness, or not at all! Ib. l. 140
- 31 The dupe of folly, or the slave of crime. Ib. l. 320
- 32 There is
One great society alone on earth:
The noble living and the noble dead. Ib. l. 393
- 33 A sensitive being, a creative soul. Ib. bk. xii, l. 207
- 34 Oh! mystery of man, from what a depth
Proceed thy honours. I am lost, but see
In simple childhood something of the base
On which thy greatness stands. Ib. l. 272
- 35 Animate an hour of vacant ease. Ib. l. 335
- 36 Sorrow, that is not sorrow, but delight;
And miserable love, that is not pain
To hear of, for the glory that redounds
Therefrom to human kind, and what we are.
Ib. bk. xiii, l. 246
- 37 Imagination, which, in truth,
Is but another name for absolute power
And clearest insight, amplitude of mind,
And Reason in her most exalted mood.
Ib. bk. xiv, l. 190
- 38 Prophets of Nature, we to them will speak
A lasting inspiration, sanctified
By reason, blest by faith: what we have loved,
Others will love, and we will teach them how;
Instruct them how the mind of man becomes
A thousand times more beautiful than the earth
On which he dwells, above this frame of things (Which, 'mid all revolution in the hopes
And fears of men, doth still remain unchanged)
In beauty exalted, as it is itself
Of quality and fabric more divine. Ib. l. 444

- 1 A voice so thrilling ne'er was heard
In spring-time from the Cuckoo-bird,
Breaking the silence of the seas
Among the farthest Hebrides. The Solitary Reaper

Perhaps the plaintive numbers flow
For old, unhappy, far-off things,
And battles long ago. Ib.

Lines Written in Early Spring
- 8 And much it grieved my heart to think
What man has made of man. Ib.

What man has made of man? Ib.
- 11 Strange fits of passion I have known.
Strange Fits of Passion
- 12 What fond and wayward thoughts will slide
Into a Lover's head!
'O mercy!' to myself I cried,
'If Lucy should be dead!' Ib.
- 13 Two Voices are there; one is of the sea,
One of the mountains; each a mighty Voice,
In both from age to age thou didst rejoice,
They were thy chosen music, Liberty!
National Independence and Liberty, xii. Thought of a Briton on the Subjugation of Switzerland: Two Voices are There
- 14 Up! up! my friend, and quit your books;
Or surely you'll grow double:
Up! up! my friend, and clear your looks;
Why all this toil and trouble? The Tables Turned
- 15 Books! 'tis a dull and endless strife:
Come, hear the woodland linnet,
How sweet his music! on my life,
There's more of wisdom in it.
And hark! how blithe the throstle sings!
He, too, is no mean preacher:
Come forth into the light of things,
Let Nature be your teacher. Ib.
- 16 Spontaneous wisdom breathed by health,
Truth breathed by cheerfulness.
One impulse from a vernal wood
May teach you more of man,
Of moral evil and of good,
Than all the sages can.
Sweet is the lore which Nature brings;
Our meddling intellect
Misshapes the beauteous forms of things:—
We murder to dissect.
- Enough of science and of art;
Close up these barren leaves;
Come forth, and bring with you a heart
That watches and receives. The Tables Turned
- 17 Every gift of noble origin
Is breathed upon by Hope's perpetual breath.

'Tis three feet long, and two feet wide.
The Thorn, iii [early reading]
- 21 Then nature said, 'A lovelier flower
On earth was never sown;
This child I to myself will take;
She shall be mine, and I will make
A lady of my own.' Three Years She Grew
- 22 The stars of midnight shall be dear
To her; and she shall lean her ear
In many a secret place
Where rivulets dance their wayward round,
And beauty born of murmuring sound
Shall pass into her face. Ib.
- 23 Sensations sweet,
Felt in the blood, and felt along the heart.
*Lines composed a few miles above Tintern Abbey,
l. 27*
- 24 That best portion of a good man's life,
His little, nameless, unremembered acts
Of kindness and of love. Ib. l. 33
- 25 That blessed mood,
In which the burthen of the mystery,
In which the heavy and the weary weight
Of all this unintelligible world,
Is lightened:—that serene and blessed mood,
In which the affections gently lead us on,—
Until, the breath of this corporeal frame
And even the motion of our human blood
Almost suspended, we are laid asleep
In body, and become a living soul:
While with an eye made quiet by the power
Of harmony, and the deep power of joy,
We see into the life of things. Ib. l. 37
- 26 For nature then
(The coarser pleasures of my boyish days,
And their glad animal movements all gone by)
To me was all in all.—I cannot paint
What then I was. The sounding cataract
Haunted me like a passion: the tall rock,
The mountain, and the deep and gloomy wood,
Their colours and their forms, were then to me
An appetite; a feeling and a love,
That had no need of a remoter charm,
By thought supplied, nor any interest
Unborrowed from the eye. Ib. l. 72

WORDSWORTH—WYNTOUN'S CHRONICLE

- 1 Thou, while thy babes around thee cling,
Shalt show us how divine a thing
A woman may be made. To a Young Lady
- 2 But an old age, serene and bright,
And lovely as a Lapland night,
Shall lead thee to thy grave. Ib.
- 3 Poetry is the breath and finer spirit of all knowledge;
it is the impassioned expression which is in the countenance of all science. Lyrical Ballads, preface
- 4 Poetry is the spontaneous overflow of powerful feel-

Never Give All the Heart

25 Why, what could she have done, being what she is?
Was there another Troy for her to burn?

No Second Troy

26 To shake their wicked sides at youth
Restraining reckless middle-age?
On hearing that the Students of our new University have joined the Agitation against Immoral Literature

27 Was it for this the wild geese spread
The grey wing upon every tide,
For this that all that blood was shed,
For this Edward Fitzgerald died
And Robert Emmet and Wolfe Tone,
All that delirium of the brave?
Romantic Ireland a dead and gone,
It's with O Leary in the grave

- 1 For the good are always the merry,
Save by an evil chance,
And the merry love the fiddle,
And the merry love to dance. The Fiddler of Dooney
- 2 When I play on my fiddle in Dooney
Folk dance like a wave of the sea. Ib.
- 3 One that is ever kind said yesterday
'Your well-beloved's hair has threads of grey,
And little shadows come about her eyes.'
The Folly of Being Comforted
- 4 Time can but make her beauty over again:
Because of that great nobleness of hers.
The fire that stirs about her, when she stirs,
Burns but more clearly. O she had not these ways
When all the wild summer was in her gaze. Ib.
- 5 O heart! O heart! if she'd but turn her head,
You'd know the folly of being comforted. Ib.
- 6 The little fox murmured,
'O what of the world's bane?'
The sun was laughing sweetly,
The moon plucked at my rein;
But the little red fox murmured,
'O do not pluck at his rein,
He is riding to the townland
That is the world's bane.' The Happy Townland
- 7 The host is riding from Knocknarea
And over the grave of Clooth-na-Bare;
Caoilte tossing his burning hair,
And Niamh calling Away, come away.
The Hosting of the Sidhe
- 8 Who holds the world between His bill and made us strong or weak
Is an undying moorfowl, and He lives beyond the sky.
The rains are from His dripping wings, the moonbeams from His eye. The Indian upon God
- 9 Who made the world and ruleth it, He hangeth on a stalk,
For I am in His image made, and all this tinkling tide
Is but a sliding drop of rain between His petals wide.
Ib.
- 10 The Stamper of the Skies,
He is a gentle roebuck; for how else, I pray, could He Conceive a thing so sad and soft, a gentle thing like me? Ib.
- 11 Who made the grass and made the worms and made my feathers gay,
He is a monstrous peacock, and He waveth all the night
His languid tail above us, lit with myriad spots of light. Ib.
- 12 I will arise and go now, and go to Innisfree,
And a small cabin build there, of clay and wattles made:
Nine bean-rows will I have there, a hive for the honey-bee,
And live alone in the bee-loud glade.
And I shall have some peace there, for peace comes dropping slow,
Dropping from the veils of the morning to where the cricket sings;
There midnight's all a-glimmer, and noon a purple
glow,
And evening full of the linnet's wings.
- I will arise and go now, for always night and day
I hear lake water lapping with low sounds by the shore;
While I stand on the roadway, or on the pavements gray
I hear it in the deep heart's core.
The Lake Isle of Innisfree
- 13 The wind blows out of the gates of the day,
The wind blows over the lonely of heart,
And the lonely of heart is withered away.
The Land of Heart's Desire
- 14 The land of faery,
Where nobody gets old and godly and grave,
Where nobody gets old and crafty and wise,
Where nobody gets old and bitter of tongue. Ib.
- 15 Of a land where even the old are fair,
And even the wise are merry of tongue. Ib.
- 16 Land of Heart's Desire,
Where beauty has no ebb, decay no flood,
But joy is wisdom, Time an endless song. Ib.
- 17 All things uncomely and broken, all things worn out and old,
The cry of a child by the roadway, the creak of a lumbering cart,
The heavy steps of the ploughman, splashing the wintry mould,
Are wronging your image that blossoms a rose in the deeps of my heart.
The wrong of unshapely things is a wrong too great to be told;
I hunger to build them anew and sit on a green knoll apart,
With the earth and the sky and the water, re-made,
like a casket of gold;
For my dreams of your image that blossoms a rose in
the deeps of my heart.
The Lover Tells of the Rose in his Heart
- 18 When I was a boy with never a crack in my heart.
The Meditation of the Old Fisherman
- 19 I heard the old, old men say,
'All that's beautiful drifts away
Like the waters.'
The Old Men Admiring Themselves in the Water
- 20 A pity beyond all telling
Is hid in the heart of love. The Pity of Love
- 21 Rose of all Roses, Rose of all the World!
The Rose of Battle
- 22 Who dreamed that beauty passes like a dream?
For these red lips, with all their mournful pride,
Mournful that no new wonder may betide,
Troy passed away in one high funeral gleam,
And Úsna's children died.
We and the labouring world are passing by:
Amid men's souls, that waver and give place
Like the pale waters in their wintry race,
Under the passing stars, foam of the sky,
Lives on this lonely face.
Bow down, archangels, in your dim abode;
Before you were, or any hearts to beat,
Weary and kind one linger'd by His seat;
He made the world to be a grassy road
Before her wandering feet. The Rose of the World
- 23 Far off, most secret, and inviolate Rose,
Enfold me in my hour of hours. The Secret Rose

- 1 A woman of so shining loveliness
That men threshed corn at midnight by a tress
The Secret Rose
- 2 When shall the stars be blown about the sky,
Like the sparks blown out of a smithy, and die?
Surely thine hour has come, thy great wind blows,
Far-off, most secret, and inviolate Rose? Ib
- 3 It is love that I am seeking for,
But of a beautiful, unheard-of kind
'That is not in the world' The Shadowy Waters
- 4 Do you not know
How great a wrong it is to let one's thought
Wander a moment when one is in love? Ib
- 5 Bend lower, O king, that I may crown you with it.
O flower of the branch, O bird among the leaves,
O silver fish that my two hands have taken
Out of the running stream, O morning star,
Trembling in the blue heavens like a white fawn
Upon the misty border of the wood,
Bend lower, that I may cover you with my hair,
I or we will gaze upon this world no longer. Ib
- 6 And pluck till time and times are done
The silver apples of the moon
'The golden apples of the sun'
The Song of Wandering Aengus
- 7 The brawling of a sparrow in the eaves,
The brilliant moon and all the milky sky,
And all that famous harmony of leaves,
Had blotted out man's image and his cry
A girl arose that had red mournful lips
And seemed the greatness of the world in tears,
Doomed like Odysseus and the labouring ships
And proud as Priam murdered with his peers,
Arose, and on the instant clamorous eaves,
A climbing moon upon an empty sky,
And all that lamentation of the leaves,
Could but compose man's image and his cry
The Sorrows of Love
- 8 And the loud chaunting of the unquiet leaves
Are shaken with earth's old and weary cry
The Sorrows of Love (1893 version)
- 9 Come away, O human child!
To the waters and the wild
With a faery, hand in hand,
For the world's more full of weeping than you can understand The Stolen Child
- 10 Nor know that what disturbs our blood
Is but its longing for the tomb The Wheel
- 11 I would that we were, my beloved, white birds on the foam of the sea! The White Birds
- 12 But was there ever god that praised his fleas?
*To a Poet, who would have me praise certain bad
Poets, imitators of his and mine*
- 13 I know what wages beauty gives,
How I and a life her servant lives,
Yet praise the winters gone
'There is not a fool can call me friend,
And I may dine at journey's end
With Lauder and with Donne' To a Young Beauty
- 14 Know, that I would account you be True brother of a company
That sang to sweeten Ireland's wrong,
Balad and story, rain and song,

- Nor be I any less of them,
Because the red-rose-bordered hem
Of her, whose history began
Before God made the angelic clan,
Trails all about the written page
To Ireland in the Coming Times
- 15 For the elemental creatures go
About my table to and fro Ib
- 16 Ah, faeries, dancing under the moon,
A Druid land, a Druid tune! Ib
- 17 Red Rose, Proud Rose, sad Rose of all my days!
To the Rose upon the Rood of Time
- 18 Eternal beauty wandering on her way. Ib
- 19 All changed, changed utterly
A terrible beauty is born Under Saturn
- 20 Dwell in the house of the Fenians, be they in flames or at feast The Wanderings of Ossin, bk. III
- 21 When you are old and gray and full of sleep,
And nodding by the fire, take down this book,
And slowly read, and dream of the soft look
Your eyes had once, and of their shadows deep;
How many loved your moments of glad grace,
And loved your beauty with love false or true,
But one man loved the pilgrim soul in you,
And loved the sorrows of your changing face
And bending down beside the glowing bars,
Murmur, a little sadly, how Love fled
And paced upon the mountains overhead
And hid his face amid a crowd of old
When you are Old

- 6:13, 125:15, 250:14 A detailed history of this song, which has appeared in many versions, is given in Percy A. Scholes, God Save the Queen! (1954).
- 7:18 A more precise source is given at 254:2.
- 73:14 For an earlier history of this rhyme see The Oxford Dictionary of Nursery Rhymes (1951).
- 210:5 An earlier source for these words is given at 10:20.
- 277:19 This occurs in Boswell's Life, vol. ii, p. 13. 15 February 1766:
So far is it from being true that men are naturally equal, that no two people can be half an hour together, but one shall acquire an evident superiority over the other.
- 420:24 These lines are quoted by Scott. They form the burden of an old song to which Burns wrote additional verses.

INDEX

NOTE

THE index references show the page number followed by the numerical position of the quotation on the page (e.g. 163:15 = the fifteenth quotation on page 163).

The order of the index both in the keywords and in the entries under the keywords is strictly alphabetical.

To save space the keyword is replaced by its initial letter in the individual entries.

Foreign quotations have been included in the general alphabetical scheme and for greater clarity are printed in italic in this index. A separate Greek index follows the general one.

Irregular spellings (such as occur in Dickens, Artemus Ward, &c.), early English words, and dialect words are indexed under their normal modern equivalents except where there is no exact equivalent. Some words are given in both their original and their normal forms.

The definite and indefinite article have been dropped from the beginnings of most entries, and the alphabetical order is therefore decided by more significant words: thus—under 'Face'—'a garden in her face' and 'the garden of your face' follow each other instead of being separated by over a hundred other 'face' entries.

as the d. on its hinges 562:3
at my d. the Hundredth Psalm 121:13 back at mine hostess' d. 447:23 bar the d. 30:22
beside a human d. 577:18
came out by the same D. 206:10, 11
d. flew open, in he ran 250:4
d. stood open at our feast 148:17
D. to which I found no key 206:16, 17 drive an angel from your d. 76:16 either in d. or out 571:9
ev'ry d. is shut but..mercy's d. 161:17
fix'd for ever at the d. 541:23 for the whining of a d. 186:32 handle of the big front d. 221:15 his hand by the hole of the d. 52:10
I am the d. 63:36
is the wind in that d.? 328:6
it stands at the d. 128:13
keep the d. of my lips 400:13
keep you standing at that d. 410:3 knocking at Preferment's d. 18:7 knocking on the moonlit d. 171:13
let the d. be lock'd 437:39
made my sin their d. 185:24 make a beaten path to his d. 201:22 make a d...for thy mouth 57:4 my wee small d. 172:3

Door (cont.)
no d. can keep them out 243:24
nor so wide as a church d. 478:14 on the wrong side of the d. 140:16
open d. for all nations' trade 43:11 outside the fast-closed d. 264:12
pass'd the d. of Darkness through 206:27

Feeling (cont.)

high mountains are a f. 113:47
 hour of thinking, f., loving 573:21
 I feel a f. 407:12
 index of a f. mind 165:15
 lost pulse of f. 15:6
 love's f. is more soft 455:22
 Man of F. 326:25
 no f. of his business 437:9
 one f. too falsely disdained 499:3
 petrifies the f. 105:19
 sensible to f. as to sight 457:20 than from any want of f. 519:2 that Kruschen f. 10:3
 wholly devoid of good f. 312:20
 Feelings: f. by which the heroic kings governed 28:27
 f., wrung with compunction 312:16
 [Furies] f. are strong 182:10

g where glory waits	356
g where you are wanted	203
g with him twain	57
g ye into all the world	61
he must g, he must kiss	232
how you do g it	85
I can g no longer	365
I can't remember how they g	110
I could never g back again	353
if I g not away	63
I find I g down	357
I g, and it is done	438
I g from you to Him	21
I g on for ever	518
I g to the Father	63
I know, where er I g	478
I'll g no further	330
I scarce can g or creep	136
I discern g enough	177
I'll go and g now	352
I will not let thee g	81
last did g	312
let them g	408
let us g hence, my songs	268
like Wind I g	106
must you g?	531
neither g nor hang	72
neither will I let larsel g	43
never g from my heart	73
not sit nor stand but g	95
not p' assurance as they come	244
but g	244
not to g anywhere but to	514
obliged to g at certain hour	273
o God a name let it g	475
one to come and one to g	131
reasons for bachelors to g out	106
still would g	581
sweetest love I do not go	186
ten thousand g about of it	520
will I send bid them g	345
those who g about doing good	766
though I must g	186
Thursday's child has far to g	368
thus far shalt thou g	373
I'm stays, tr g	183
to g hence unwilling	349
unto Caesar shalt thou g	65
we'll g no more a roving	110
we must g	206
west of thee I must g	205
we will g into the house of the Lord	309
we will g with you alone	246
we will w't g again	141
what a Rum G everything is	504
where er I g they shout Hallelu	408
who will g for us?	53
with thee to g	347
Goad us on to sin	53
Goads God g them on	534
words of the wine are at g	51
Goal final g of ill	532
fre winged to its g	411
g stands up	163
grave is not its g	317
one far as g	203
staggering on to her g	26
stands up to keep the g	105
till you g be won	227
Goals muddled oafs at the g	297
Goat Liama sort of teecy fairy g	71
lust of the g	87
luxurious mountain g	445
with huffs g of	83
with their g freedom	310
Goatish huff g devotion	454
Goats better than sheep or g	531
Goatwaller and all his g	445
drink the blood of g	395
g and monkey!	474
promote g	215
refuge for the wild g	303
thy hair is as a flock of g	31
Gooble unwill g it you	407
Goobler thy navel is like a round g	31
upon a parcel of g	441:
Gooblets my fear g	41
Gooblets my fear g of the sun	41
scout of feet there a diamond	431

Hate (cont.)

h. for arts 385:29
 h. him as I do hell-pains 469:34
 h. of those ye guard 303:26
 h. that which we often fear 423:31
 h. the traitor 168:4
 h. your neighbour 325:18
 haughty Juno's unrelenting h. 194:29
 I h. a fool 175:33
 I h. all Boets and Bainters 216:10
 I h. him for he is a Christian 465:17
 I h. the crowd 369:7
 I h. the French 226:29
 I have seen much to h. here 359:7 immortal h. 344:14
 in love, or in h. 514:24
 let them also that h. him flee 396:4
 love and desire and h. 187:11 love what I h. 95:20
 make brothers and sisters h.
 each other 269:33
 men h. one another so damnably 355:19 murder, h., virtue, and sin 528:2 must h. and death return? 495:27
 need not be to h. 113:46
 no h. lost between us 358:17
 nor love thy life, nor h. 349:25 not in our power to love or h. 350:13 rough did I in h. 475:54
 owe no man h. 427:27
 principally I h...that animal called Man 519:32
 reason to h. and to despise myself 239:22
 roughness breedeth h. 26:26
 scarcely h. anyone...we know 240:11 smile to those who h. 118:15
 sourest and most deadly h. 475:5 sprung from my only h. 477:11
 they who h. me may see it those fellows h. us 507:18 to the blind Horn's h. 298:28 traitor h. 170:20
 vain pomp...I h. ye 446:24
 ye profane; I h. ye all 158:24
 Hated: brute I h. so 90:22
 death have we h. 359:13
 h., as their age increases 515:24
 h. by fools 521:25
 h. not learning worse 351:17
 he h. a fool and he h. a rogue 276:18
 Horace, whom I h. so 114:11
 I have ever h. all nations 519:32 loved well because he h. 95:48 not having h...the world enough or being h. 297:10
 she might have h. 92:35
 to be h. needs but to be seen 383:27

something that doth I	576 17
Sorrow, wilt thou I, with me	532 41
taught us how to I	547 22
teach him how to I	387 11
teaching nations how to I	583 22
teach us how to I	164 32
Tell me whom you I with	130 12
they do I in the air	182 19
they I as long as one please	156 6
they tune, I I	105 13
those immortal dead who I again	305 34
those who I call life	497 11, 405 10
those who wake and I	495 18
thou hast no more to I	522 13
thus let me I, unseen, unknown	326 27
to itself it only I and die	457 23
to I and act	573 27
to I, and die for thee	247 4
to I to Christ	65 15
to I to like love	222 5
to I like Godus	117 22
to I more nearly as we pray	291 8
to I with thee, and be thy love	403 8
too beautiful to I	177 8
too smart to I	500 7
to see me cease to I	19 5
tri d to I without him	583 12
turn and I with animals	567 20
we I, and learn	351 3
we I law to ourselves	140 14
we I I, and pray and sing	454 20
we may I, without poetry	337 41
we that I, to please must please to I	379 1
we will not I, if life be all	120 25
what thou liv'st I well	349 25
where England it finished not with to I	339 7
where I shall I by sight	99 40
whereunder we I and die	207 3
whether thou I to die	81 24
while we I, to I	354 31
who dies if I England I I	205 20
without him I no life	349 16
without Thee I cannot I	291 10
would I / under Niagara	137 27
would you I, for ever	181 25
wounded man I behind me	411 25
writes too much and I too long	163 19
your names, I on the lips	81 21
you shall I by fame	509 7
Lived had at thou but I a warman	418 3
be I to learn	212 1
be I while we be'vered	79 9
I had I a blessed time	453 24
I have formerly I, by hearsay	99 40
I have I in such d'shonour	423 23
I have I, long enough	456 36, 523 4
I have I today	253 17, 194 20
I I a Pharoah	65 22
I shall have I, a little while	293 21
I in his eye	91 3
I in London and Tung-koo	270 18
I, in social intercourse with him	272 7
I in the love of a lady	222 25
I with blades so long	136 25
my former fortunes wherein I I,	423 25
never loved never I	815 8
no man hath I better than I	313 12
poorly (poor man) I I	209 1
so they I, and so they died	401 29
that it, at all	250 11
therefore I, with them	372 27
they I together	569 3
thou shalt I me thy eye on	140 21
what's the I, a true lover	313 16

I'll never I. thee more 355:18
I I. a lass 370:5
I I. a lassie 310:12
I I. all beauteous things 81:9
I I. all that thou lovest 498:12
I I. but you alone 31:15
I I. her so sincerely 125:18
I I. her till I die 10:20
I I. him not 210:5
I I. it, I I. it 560:33
I I. L. 156:21
I I. L. 408:16
I I. my L. and my L. loves me 150:18
I I. not hollow cheek 539:1

Love (cont.)

I I. Robertson, and I won't talk of his book 271:25
I I. thee, all unlovely 163:25
I I. thee beyond measure 570:30
I I. thee in prose 401:21
I I. thee still 112:12, 162:43
I I. thee to the depth 88:24
I I. thee true 286:33
I I. thee, whatever thou art 356:16
I I. thee with a L. I seemed to lose 88:24
I I. the languid patience 152:19
I I. them all 335:19
I I. to give pain 156:4
I I. to hear the story 339:8
I I. with all my heart 515:21
in all her outward parts L. 158:1
I never had but one true I. 32:16
I never was in I. 290:5
in every gesture dignity and I. 348:36
in likeness of my I. 81:10 in I. alone we hate..companions 559:6 in I. and charity with your neighbours 390:34
in I. and holy passion 574:8
in I., and in debt, and in drink 82:24 in I. and worship blends itself 493:6 in I., or had not dined 384:23 in I. with his fetters 27:44
in I. with night 478:20
in I. with one princess or another 512:21 in I. with the grave 263:28 in I. with the productions of time 77:12
in our will to I. or not 348:12
in Thy I. look down 512:15
invincible I. of reading 216:18
I shall be past making I. 401:25
is not I. a Hercules? 455:22
I think my I. as rare 488:14
it is the I. of the people 101:13
it strikes where it doth I. 473:11
I will I. Thee 244:25
I would I. infinitely 94:15
joy of I. is too short 328:9
keep a corner in the thing I I. 471:40 kill thee, and I. thee after 473:11 kind souls..I. you 374:22
King of L. my Shepherd is 29:12
kiss your I. again 296:16 know me well, and I. me 177:35 know the world, not I. her 587:12 labour of I. 68:35
lack of I. from I. made manifest 90:44
laggard in I. 418:17

learn to I. 510:14
lease of my true I. control 488:2
leave me, O L. 502:5
leave to come unto my I. 509:14 lecture, L., in I.'s philosophy 185:30 left the ancient I. 75:18
leisure for I. or hope 253:26
Lesbia let us live and I. 123:19
let one's thought wander ..in I. 586:4
let's contend no more, L. 97:23
let the warm L. in 288:9
let thy I. be younger 483:4
let thy I. in kisses rain 494:7
let us I., deare L., like as we ought 509:5
let us I. nohly, and live 184:7
let us I. our occupations 174:8 lies my young I. 336:7
life I I. 515:27
light of I.'s bestowing 335:10
like to I. three more 517:18 lips of those who I. you 81:21
little duty and less I. 445:25 little emptiness of I. 84:17
little in our I. 483:10 little I. and good company 203:16
little words of I. 128:1
live with me and be my I. 184:8, 330:17 live with thee, and be thy I. 405:8 long I. doth so 478:9
lost the world for I. 193:14

lost to L. and Truth 105 1, 296 25
 a bright particular star 423 2
 all al be no season known 256 20
 all except an American 274 7 alone with yearning heart 523 16 alters not 458 7
 an abject intercourse 226 34 and a cottage 254 6
 and a space for delight 322 7 and desire and hate 167 11
 and do what you will 22 7
 and fame to nothingness 259 6 and I were well acquainted 222 13 and murder will out 354 35
 and zave their souls 89 33 and scandal 204 21
 and thought, and joy 551 6
 a woman for singing 452 23
 bade me welcome 244 21
 be controll'd by advice 214 14
 betwixt us two 258 10
 built on beauty 184 13
 but her, and I for ever 104 10
 but her for ever 104 25
 but only her 214 25
 craves to be a pleasure 40 3 closed what he begat 336 35 converted 456 33
 could teach a monarch 220 10
 devoid of art 215 11
 differs from gold and clay 493 11
 dies on both her lips 452 40 doth to her eyes repair 458 21 endures no lie 580 21
 false or true 580 21
 first learned in a lady's eyes 455 22 first gave the first 494 21 for any lady 377 2
 for pl iosophy 289 33
 friendship elianry 481 21 friendship cowardice 328 2 from I 477 25
 gilds the scene 500 31
 goes toward I 477 25
 grows bitter with treason 515 8 had he found in huts 573 14 had he done thus to thee? 234 2 hath friends in the garrison 225 1
 he bore to learning 458 25
 he laugh'd to scorn 411 16
 her body from her soul 391 6 him as myself 550 2
 him, or leave him alone! 74 2 in a golden bowl 256 39
 in a palace 356 39
 indeed who quake to say they 501 20
 in desolation masked 492 2
 in her sunny eyes 158 4
 in my bosom 231 30
 is a boy 110 43
 is a circle 246 12
 is a growing or full constant 185 32 is a sickness full of woes 163 7 is a sweet a compact 451 26
